WATCH PUBLIC WEATHERVANE ON PROHIBITION

Leaders Try to Read Voters' Reaction.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—Is the tide turning against national prohibition?

There is no question more widely discussed than this, particularly in connection with the approaching congressional election, the candidates in which are now being nominated, and the presidential election of 1932, potential candidates in which are beginning to appear on the horizon.

The anti-prohibitionists have been encouraged by numerous straws which they think show moisture laden political winds blowing from the arid west and south as well as the wet east. The prohibition partisans profess no fear that the country is weakening with regard to the "noble experiment" and predict that a congress as dry as the present one will be returned in the autumn.

Cheered by Digest Poll.

What heartened the wets more than any other single circumstance was the outcome of the Literary Digest poll. In this poll the opinions of 4,806,464 persons were recorded, 1,464,098, or 30.46 per cent, favoring "the continuance and strict enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law," 1,399,314, or 29.11 per cent, favoring "modification of the Volstead law to permit light wines and beers, and 1,943,052, or 40.43 per cent, favoring "repeal of the prohibition amendment."

The wets greeted this result as conclusive evidence that less than one-third of the American people are in favor of bone dry prohibition. With the people in this state of mind, contend the anti-prohibitionists, it is only a question of time before the law will be changed in the direction of a less rigorous regulation of personal habits.

Drys' Conclusions Vary.

The reaction of the drys was varied. Some of them found comfort in the indication that only two-fifths of the people want the organic prohibition law wiped out and triumphantly proclaimed the conclusion that the eighteenth amendment is in the constitution to stay. Other drys attacked the poll as misrepresentative of the opinion of the country. To which the wets retorted that such was the assertion of the Democrats in 1924 and 1928 prior to the presidential elections, the outcome of which was forecast by Digest polls with 100 per cent accuracy.

Numerous political developments reflect the extent to which dissatisfaction with national prohibition is manifesting itself. Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico, entered the contest for the Republican nomination for senator from New Jersey on a platform advocating modification of the prohibition law and eventual repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Thereupon the wets hailed him as a possible national leader of their cause and began to envisage him as an opponent of Mr. Hoover for the Republican nomination for President in 1932, with prohibition as the issue.

Watch Morrow-Fort Race.

The dry rejoinder to the Morrow declaration was the entrance of Congressman Franklin Fort in the New Jersey contest. Inasmuch as Mr. Fort is secretary of the Republican national committee and a close friend of the President, a good many politicians professed to see in his candidacy a project to nip the Morrow presidential boom in the bud in the interest of Mr. Hoover.

Mr. Fort sought to forestall this interpretation by asserting in his announcement that his two opponents, Morrow and Joseph Frelinghuysen, are just as close to the White House as he is.

The wets found much satisfaction in the 250,000 votes for the wet ticket out of 1,500,000 cast in the Republican senatorial primary in Pennsylvania, while the drys were no less jubilant over the nomination of Gifford Pinchot for governor over one opponent who was a wet and another who straddled the question.

The Republican convention in Washington exploded a political bombshell by adopting a platform advocating modification of the prohibition law over the protest of Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], ardent bone dry author of the "five and ten" law. Jones soon announced that he would vote to submit the prohibition question to a national referendum if his state by referendum should so instruct him. Senator Thomas J. Walsh [Dem.,

ALL INDIA JOINS REVOLT TO SHED BRITISH YOKE

Racial, Religious Hates Cast Aside.

The Day in India

Charles Dailey, Tribune correspondent, reveals all India rising in revolt to break British yoke after extensive tour of the interior.

Fifteen thousand break through police cordon at Wadala, near Bombay, to raid salt plant. Over 100 are hurt.

British troops kill seven and wound nine in Peshawar riots caused by accidental shooting of two children.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BOMBAY, May 31.—[Delayed by censor.]—THE TRIBUNE correspondent has just completed a tour of the provinces of the interior of India, including larger cities like Benares, Lucknow, Cawnpore, Allahabad, Agra, and Delhi. Everywhere he found intense sympathy with the Gandhi movement with the processions in most places flying the white, red and green tricolor of the Indiana Nationalists. Massmeetings with impassioned speeches are being held. With the Indian press suppressed, news events are obtainable only through the British press where such exists.

The tour convinces THE TRIBUNE correspondent that the movement is beyond question of national scope, with the raids on the salt plants of the Bombay presidency merely an expression of one phase of the situation.

Two Revolt Features.

Two points stand out clearly besides nationalism; First, a tendency for the removal of the caste system and untouchability, and second, the entire movement is on seemingly democratic lines. Although the Moslems comprise one-fifth of the population, the fear to a certain extent is that they will be oppressed by the Brahmin majority. Yet it is found that at great Moslem mass meetings they are crying for a Nationalist victory, though most Moslems prefer dominion status, which some of the Mohammedans believe Gandhi will accept as a compromise.

Twenty thousand Moslems met at Delhi at the time I was there, the meeting lasting until 2 o'clock in the morning. Resolutions were adopted urging all Moslems to join in the struggle for freedom. At Agra last Tuesday, both the Moslems and Hindus jointly attended a mammoth meeting at which Pandit Nehru, acting president of the national congress, spoke.

Suppression Is Condemned.

At the conclusion of his speech resolutions were made condemning suppression of the popular voice and urging self government.

At Lahore, V. J. Patel, resigned speaker of the legislative assembly, and now generalissimo of the freedom campaign, said in a speech, which many thousand cheered:

"We wish to give the government warning that if the people's faith in non-violence disappears in view of the government's attitude, it will be an evil day, not only for India, but for England also. The situation calls for a nation wide boycott of British products."

The number of the "red shirts" in the northwestern province, originally 700, rose in a fortnight after wholesale arrests to 25,000. Many fear the bloody Peshawar riots are only a forerunner of other clashes in India.

Two for Each One Jailed.

On the 36 hour journey from Delhi to Bombay I encountered many incidents testifying to the wide scope of the movement. The most noteworthy was the manner in which those arrested in Bombay presidency are being supplanted two to one by volunteers from central India.

At nearly every station volunteers came aboard to proceed to the presidency to replace arrested volunteers. These were escorted to the train by banners following the tri-color. For the most part these volunteers represented mature business men, who have left their shops to subordinates in order to take up the Nationalist campaign. Enlarged photographs of Gandhi were carried in each procession.

The arriving crowds included several companies of Girl Scouts, 11 to 15 years of age, wearing khaki shorts, who boarded the train at several stations, all alighting at Baroda, to replace those arrested at the Dharsana salt works.

Another striking feature was the boarding at one station of 80 high

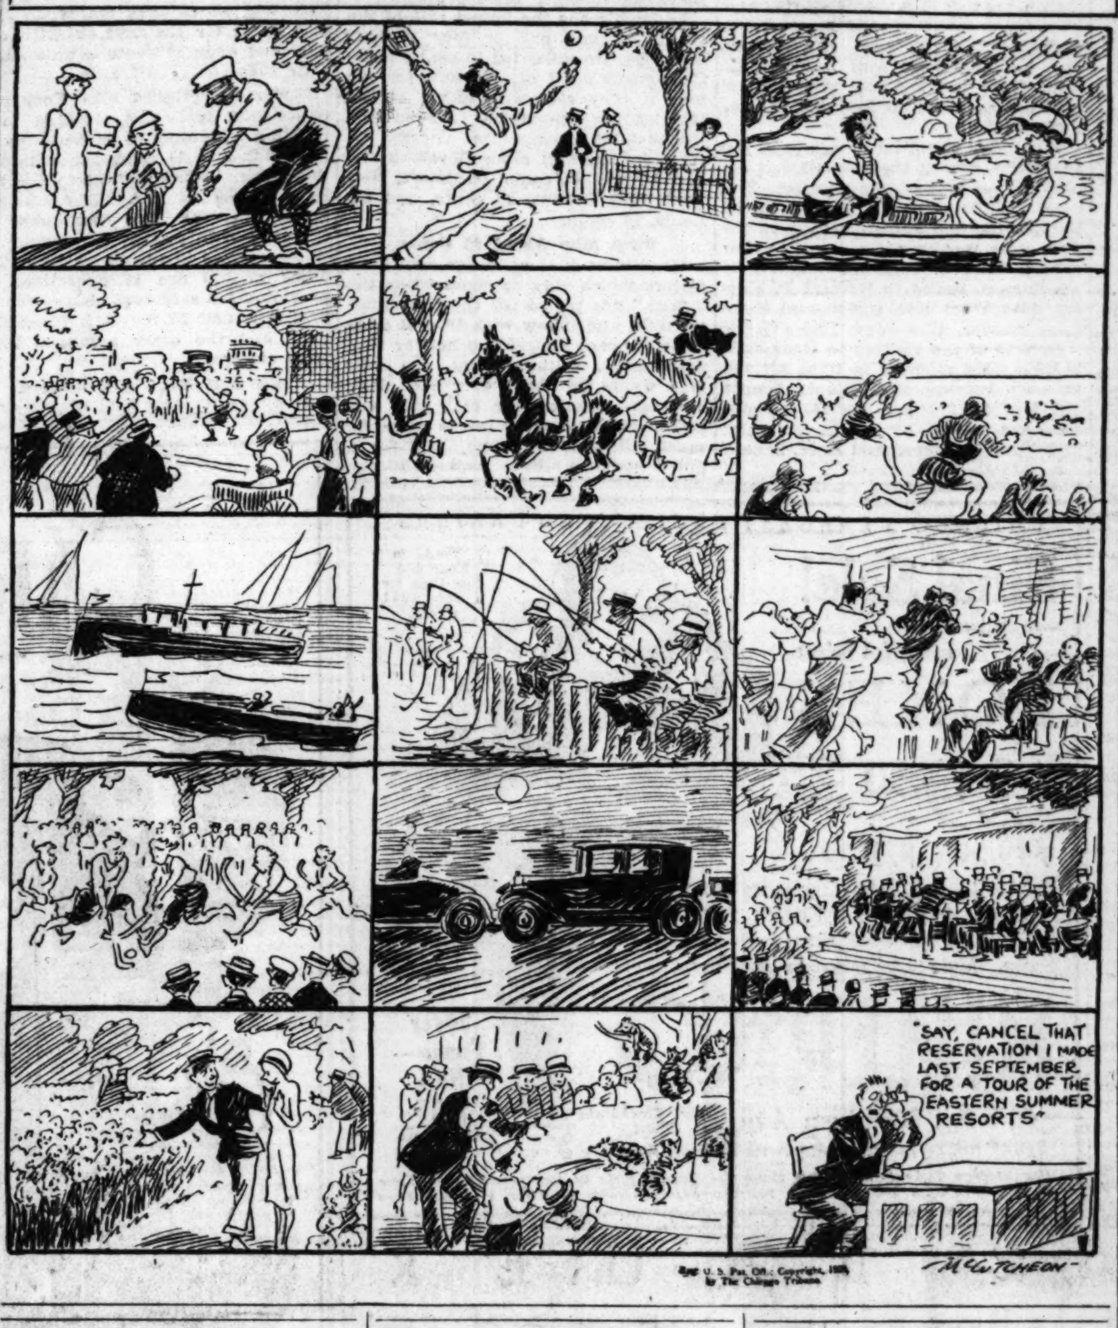
LINCOLN PARK A SUMMER RESORT



Woman Dies, Youth Saved in Lake Struggle

Two persons—a young widow and a youth—were drowned and three young men were rescued in boating accidents yesterday. The victims were Mrs. May Bronze, 35 years old, 4722 Beacon street, and Elmer Tholotowski, 16 years old, 1305 South 61st avenue, Cicero.

Mrs. Bronze was strolling along Edgewater beach at Bryn Mawr and was offered a boat ride by Charles J. O'Connell, 24 years old, 4518 North Sacramento avenue. Mrs. Bronze accepted. O'Connell, in a swimming suit, rowed the boat out nearly a mile from shore. There the waves were somewhat choppy and the craft capsized.

Both Go Down.

A strong swimmer, O'Connell clung to the gunwale of the boat with his right hand, supporting Mrs. Bronze with the other. Becoming panicky, she locked her arms around his neck and, O'Connell failing to break her grip, both went down.

O'Connell came to the surface, gasping and almost exhausted. He was sinking again when the speedboat Windilla, came alongside. His rescuers, Arno Tremann, 1315 Howard street, and Edward Blinks, 7455 Greenview avenue, pulled O'Connell into their boat.

Mrs. Bronze's body was floating 100 feet away. They lifted her into the boat and, on the run to shore, tried resuscitation. An inhalator squad of the fire department was called. Oxygen was applied for an hour without result.

Tries for Shore, Dies.

Young Tholotowski and his cousins, Frank and Richard Troester, 18 and 21 years old, had gone to spend the week-end at the Troester cottage at Round Lake, 15 miles west of Waukegan. They were in a canoe in the middle of the lake when the craft capsized.

The Troester brothers, who live at 617 Ferdinand street, Forest Park, clung to the overturned craft until help came. Tholotowski, a strong swimmer, struck out for shore but apparently was seized with cramps. Two planes from the Round Lake airport joined in the vain search for his body.

Evanston Boy, 11, Killed on First Visit to a Farm

Eleven year old John Christenson of 2229 Kane avenue, Evanston, enjoying his first visit to a farm, was riding a harrow yesterday at Emil Nick's place, near Niles. His feet became caught in a wheel and he was hurled to the ground. The machine passed over him, crushing his body. He died six hours later in the Belmont hospital.

RICH CHICAGOAN SLAIN, WIFE SHOT BY A CARETAKER

Henry V. Krug, 37 years old, a wealthy Chicago coal dealer residing at 7205 Crandon avenue, was shot and killed and his wife was wounded seriously yesterday by a caretaker at the Krug summer home at Three Oaks, Mich. The caretaker, Jacob Pill, 37 years old, then ran into the woods nearby and killed himself with a shotgun.

Mr. Krug and his wife had gone to Three Oaks for the week-end. They became involved in a dispute with Pill at noon yesterday.

According to reports, Pill, in the heat of the argument, rushed into the house and snatched up the shotgun. He then ran out upon the porch, fired pointblank at Mrs. Krug and next shot and killed Krug. Mrs. Krug was brought to a Chicago hospital. Mr. Krug was associated in business with two brothers.

CANADA SHUTS OFF U. S. LIQUOR FLOW OFFICIALLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., June 1.—With notifications issued to all Canadian customs officers that the liquor export ban is now in effect, the Canadian government last night officially cut off all liquor exports to the United States.

The law became effective when the governor general signed the bill just prior to the dissolution of the Canadian parliament. The measure passed parliament with negligible opposition in the session just closed.

So far the Canadian customs officers are served only with notification that there are to be no more clearances. Departmental regulations governing procedure in the case of attempted law evasions are in course of preparation and will follow immediately.

HAWK'S 560 MILE CHASE OF PIGEON ENDS ABOARD SHIP

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—A 560 mile race over the sea between a carrier pigeon and a hawk terminated when the pigeon fell exhausted on the boat deck of the Cunarder Caronia. The hawk circled and landed a few seconds later alongside its intended victim. Several sailors were pecked viciously by the hawk when they attempted to lift the pigeon from the deck.

Bandits Rob Theater Owner of Cash; Display Shotgun

Two men, one with a sawed off shotgun, last night robbed Harry W. Willard, proprietor of a movie theater at 4937 West Chicago avenue, of $600, the day's receipts, as he was counting the money in the cashier's booth.

60,000 Hear Britten Assail Volstead Rule

Chicagoans of German descent gathered yesterday in a colorful pageant at Soldiers' field to celebrate the bicentennial of Baron von Steuben, revolutionary war hero, and the seventh annual German day. Sixty thousand Americans cheered as their Teutonic heritages of love of music, learning, health and freedom were extolled and thundered applause when they were lauded for their stout refusal to indorse the prohibition law.

Representative Fred A. Britten, chairman of the Illinois delegation in congress, made the plea for beer as the sun beat down on the audience.

Demands Dry Repeal.

"The American spirit," he said, "after ten years of costly failure, has become aroused to the hypocrisy, lawlessness, and impossibility of the eighteenth amendment. The amendment must be repealed, and if necessary another substituted that will permit local option where you and I may have our beer and wines, while those communities which desire to continue under strict prohibition may do so to their hearts' content.

"It is pleasing to note that among those now publicly agreeing to follow the wishes of their constituents are such outstanding drys as Senator Jones, the author of the Jones 5 and 10 law, the most un-American piece of legislation in the history of the United States; Senator Walsh of Montana and Senator Sheppard of Texas, the guardian angel of prohibition.

See Handwriting on Wall.

"One year ago these men could not have been induced to encourage the cause of temperance as against prohibition. Today they see the handwriting on the wall and are willing to admit that perhaps the intolerant and fanatical leaders of prohibition have gone too far. The Volstead law is the creature of fanatics; the Jones law is vicious and heartless and like its contemporary state law of 'life for a pint' has no place in this glorious country of ours."

A message from President Hoover was read which praised citizens of German descent for their contributions in education, music, literature and strength of character from colonial days to the present time. Otis F. Glenn, United States senator, and Dr. J. W. Kobalter, president of the German day committee, also spoke.

Burglar Bends Iron Window Bars; Gets $70 in Drug Store

Bending apart iron bars protecting a rear window, then smashing the pane, a burglar early yesterday morning entered the Todd drug store at 3101 Diversey avenue and took $70 from a room used by Sewell Todd, proprietor, to sleep in.

First Ballot Is Rabbit as Magicians Vote

A tall silk hat sat squarely in the center of a green baize covered table yesterday in the convention room of the Society of American Magicians. The masters of legerdemain had cast their ballots for the organization officers for the coming year and were awaiting the canvass of ballots.

The manner of voting might have been considered unusual in most societies. Each voter was required to remove his coat, roll up his sleeves, and mark his ballot with the same pencil on an especially prepared piece of paper cut into 350 pieces, all numbered. The voter was required to take a solemn cabalistic oath not to tamper with the emblematic ballot box.

First Ballot Is Rabbit.

Theo. Hardeen, retiring president, reached for the first ballot. He drew out a rabbit. A second time his hand went into the hat and he pulled out a lighted candle. In rapid succession he produced a pair of handcuffs, a glass of water, a Japanese lantern, a canary, a petunia in a flower pot, six yards of red ribbon, a string of threaded needles, and a stein of beer. The audience was in turmoil.

"Stop the count," John Mulholland shouted. "I can read the ballots. The vote is unanimous in favor of James C. Wobensmith of Philadelphia for president; Eugene Laurant of Chicago and C. Elliott Smith of Detroit for vice presidents; Royal L. Vilas of New Haven for secretary, Harry Rouclere of New York for treasurer, and Leo Rullman for editor of M. U. M."

Ballot Box Disappears.

A defeated candidate shouted for a recount. When the motion was carried after a rising vote, the ballot box had disappeared. So had the treasurer's report. Treasurer Rouclere moaned the loss because for the first time in the history of the society the books had balanced. He was forced to sit down amid a chorus of boos reminding him that he had formerly been a juggler.

The two day convention closed yesterday with a carnival and a performance of magic. Guests at the carnival were given $1,000,000 in stage money to try their luck at the shell game and three card Monte, the old army games, in the hand of magicians. The carnival ended with all of the stage money in the society tills. The carnival included all of the sideshow features of the gay '90s.

ANDREW RIKER, PIONEER AUTO BUILDER, DIES

Fairfield, Conn., June 1.—(AP)—Andrew Lawrence Riker, 61, pioneer automobile designer and builder, died here today following a heart attack.

In 1884 he designed and built his first automobile, an electric tricycle. In 1888 the Riker Electric company, of which he was president, developed and introduced the first commercial toothed electric armature.

As an official of the Locomobile company he introduced the sliding gear transmission, steel frame, and the four cylinder vertical motor with high tension ignition.

In 1904 he designed a special ninety horse power racing car for Dr. Arnold E. Thomas of Chicago, which competed in the Vanderbilt cup race. Four years later another Locomobile designed by him broke all records in the Vanderbilt race by averaging 64½ miles an hour.

In 1900 he was awarded a medal by the French government for his part in the growth of motor car science. He was an organizer and served three terms as president of the Society of Automobile Engineers.

GEO. DRUGGAN AND LAWYER'S WIFE WOUNDED

Machine Guns Rake Fox Lake Hotel.

Summer resort beer with its rich profits was regarded yesterday as the cause of the early morning machine gunning at a small Fox Lake hotel in which three Chicago gangsters were slain, another was shot, and the wife of a Chicago attorney was dangerously wounded. Fox Lake is 50 miles northwest of Chicago on the western edge of Lake county.

The shooting of the five persons is the latest of a series of week-end killings in roadhouses beyond the city limits of Chicago. The police declare that high beer profits in resorts in Cook and surrounding counties have shifted the battleground of the bootleggers from cities to country.

Information from Lake county last night was that beer dealers in the lake region of northern Illinois were resisting the invasion of their territory by Chicago beer gangsters. In that resistance the authorities said they were able to perceive the background of the shooting. The victims were:

THE DEAD.

Sam Pellar, 20th ward election terrorist of the "Valley" district, who was formerly affiliated with the O'Banion-Weiss-Drucci gang of the north side but of late had been associated with the Alphonse Capone gang.

Michael Quirk, member of the Klondike O'Donnell gang and active in teamsters' union affairs. He was twice charged with murder.

Joseph Bertsche, safe blower and notorious crook with a police record of 30 years, who since his release from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., had been a member of the Druggan-Lake gang.

THE WOUNDED.

George Druggan, brother of Terry Druggan, who with Frank Lake made millions in the beer business, had numerous court appearances and two imprisonments. Terry Druggan and Lake are now listed among the "28 public enemies." Surgeons said George Druggan had a 50-50 chance to live.

Mrs. Vivian Ponic McGinnis, 18 North Lorel avenue, wife of Attorney Arthur McGinnis and daughter of Attorney Vincent Ponic, whose divorced wife is running a summer resort cottage in the town of Fox Lake. Mrs. McGinnis was shot four times in the abdomen.

Five Shot Down at Table.

The shooting occurred at 1:40 o'clock yesterday morning as the Druggan party sat on the enclosed porch of a little hotel alongside Pistakee lake as they were eating, drinking and making merry. Within a few seconds a hundred bullets crashed through the panes of glass enclosing the porch and struck down five of the merry makers, all but one of those at the table.

There was no warning, no opportunity to flee or fight back. No one was able to see the slayers, who were clothed in the darkness of the night, as they emptied machine guns and automatic pistols. The assassins' excited escape was heard, but none of them was seen except as shadows and no one was able to—or did—say who they were.

Beer Invasion Reported.

There were stories that Druggan was in Lake county promoting or forcing the sale of his beer to resort owners. There were stories that Pellar was boosting Capone beer. Bertsche was supposed to have been lending his known abilities as a hard gunman to Druggan, and Quirk was reported to have just dropped in with two couples who had gone upstairs immediately.

Mrs. McGinnis, with her husband, was visiting at her mother's resort, which is near the Manning hotel, where the shooting occurred. The hotel is operated by James L. Manning, a Fox Lake alderman, who two years ago tended bar at Mrs. Ponic's saloon on the west side of Chicago. McGinnis had retired for the night, he told the police, and his wife went over to Manning's place with the Druggan party for a sandwich and a glass of beer.

An investigation disclosed that recently both Mrs. Ponic and Ald. Manning had changed beer dealers, putting in the Druggan beer in preference to "local beer" in which the Bugs Moran gang—hibernating in the resort country—had taken a partnerly interest.

"It would be strange if the countryside beer interests had taken it upon themselves to machine gun representatives of the toughest of Chicago's gangs out of their domain," Chief of Detectives Stege commented.

"Ordinarily it would be bad medicine for them to invite a war with the Capone-O'Donnell and Druggan-Lake outfits, but the Moran and Aiello hoodlums have been up in Fox Lake long enough to start any kind of a war."

Sergts. Frank Donohue and Charles Reynolds of the Cook county coroner's office, who were sent to Lake county when State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Waukegan asked Coroner Bundesen for assistance, said they learned that for years many of the resort owners of Lake county had their brew provided for them by Ray Pregenzer.

The sergeants also learned of another beer purveyor of that district named L. J. Lutz and they recalled that a recent investigation disclosed that a number of machine guns had been shipped from Chicago to a man of that name somewhere in Wisconsin.

Druggan Looks Over Situation.

George Druggan had telephoned to Manning on Thursday asking him to reserve four or five rooms for the holidays. But Druggan did not reach the hotel until Saturday morning. Then he said he would not want the rooms, but would pay for them anyway.

The authorities understood that Druggan had gone to the lake region to see that all was well for his beer deliveries upon the opening of the summer resort season on Memorial day. Druggan had been all over the county and had found conditions so favorable, the investigators learned, that he and his lieutenants decided on an evening of relaxation and sampling of their own product at the establishment of Ald. Manning.

"They came in about 9 o'clock in the evening," Manning told State's Attorney Smith. "I left the place before midnight and went to bed and they were still there. The first I knew of the shooting was when my wife woke me after it was all over. We sleep in a cottage at the rear of the hotel."

The Bartender's Story.

There was no one to tell Prosecutor Smith the nature of the round table talk between beers—whether Pellar and Druggan were meeting as friends or rivals, but the bartender, Louis Capella, said all was merriment at the table.

"They were having a good time all evening, Druggan, Bertsche, Pellar, Mrs. McGinnis, and another man whose name I don't know," said Capella. "He was a well dressed and good looking man.

"When they came in the door Druggan's uncle, Robert Long, was sick and he went upstairs to bed. A man called Lefty went with him and kept putting cold towels on Long's head. Both of them were upstairs when the shooting started but I think the well dressed man was downstairs.

"Quirk came in with two couples. All of them said hello to all the folks at Druggan's table and then the two men and two women went upstairs. I don't know any of their names. The shooting came five minutes after the arrival of the Quirk party."

Bartender Capella said he was at his place of duty all evening when he wasn't waiting on the party out on the porch. Shortly before the shooting he started sweeping around the Druggan table as an intimation that he thought it time for them to go but they didn't take the hint. Capella said he dropped down behind the bar when the heard the first shot, which he thought was a firecracker, and he didn't see what happened till the shooting subsided.

Sees Wounded Men Run.

"When it was quiet I looked out and I saw some of the injured people running," Capella said. "Quirk was coming toward the bar when he dropped over dead. Pellar ran upstairs to the kitchen before he fell dead. Bertsche ran up the other stairs into one of the bedrooms, where he fell.

"Druggan ran to room No. 3, where his uncle, Long, was. Mrs. McGinnis was on the floor beside the table. I went to her and started to help her up but she screamed at me to go away. Then I went to the telephone and called the village marshall, Joseph D. Riggs."

"I saw the killers leaving," said Mrs. Manning, wife of the proprietor. "I looked out the window after I heard the shooting and I heard one man shouting at the others, 'Come on, come on, hurry up and let's get out of here.' There were five of them running to the machine, which was parked on the road with a man at the wheel and the engine going. In a second they were out of sight."

Wounded Brought to Chicago.

It was assumed by the police that Long, "Lefty," and the well dressed man brought Druggan and Mrs. McGinnis to Chicago, a two and a half hour drive. About 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning Dr. Adolph Kraft, 1613 Jackson boulevard, was called on the telephone.

"Go right over to the University hospital," his caller directed. "There'll be an emergency case for you there in twenty minutes."

Dr. Kraft went to the hospital, of which he is a staff member, but it was not until 3:30 o'clock that his patients arrived. Dr. Karl Meyer, chief of the County hospital staff, was there, too. He had treated Terry Druggan for stomach ulcers, and he was called by Terry to go to the hospital and operate on George, he said.

A teamster named Maloney or Mahoney and said to be an employé of Willie Druggan, another of the brothers, gave more than a quart of blood for a transfusion which was undertaken in an effort to save Druggan's life. There were a dozen teamsters at the hospital offering blood. Dr. Meyer said Druggan's right kidney was shot to pieces, and he had lost considerable blood on the long ride.

Ald. Frank Konkowski of tht 31st ward appeared at the hospital and voluteeered to give blood for Mrs. McGinnis. He is a friend of Attorney McGinnis, the husband, he said.

Druggan Refuses to Talk.

Neither Druggan nor Mrs. McGinnis gave the Chicago police any inkling of the cause of the shooting or the identity of the slayers. Mrs. McGinnis begged to be let alone, saying she was in great pain. Her husband said he had no information.

Attorney Ponic, father of the wounded woman, said his daughter had been in bad company since her mother divorced him a few years ago when she was running a saloon in the Valley district of the west side. Two years ago Mrs. Ponic started the Fox Lake resort to which unsavory characters of the west side flocked and the daughter, who occasionally went there to help her, was thrown into contact with undesirable people, Ponic said.

Frank Morrison, an associate of the Druggans, was at the hospital, but denied having been on the trip from Fox lake. Willie Druggan also called at the hospital and fainted, falling on the floor and breaking his nose. Other callers came in cars the licenses of which were issued to Edward P. Keyers, 1413 West 18th street, and Catherine Lawlor, 4900 West End avenue.

Several of the visitors to Druggan's bedside were reported to have arrived in cars bearing the Illinois license numbers 854,510 and 828,983. Those cars are owned by F. B. Maloney, 3228 Harrison street, and A. M. Schaffner, 3105 Harrison street.

FIND THIRD VICTIM OF GANG SHOOTING IN WASHINGTON SQUARE

A third victim of the Washington square shooting at Clark and Locust streets early yesterday was discovered several hours later when Samuel Monistero, 38 years old, 1365 Mohawk street, applied for attention at the Columbus hospital. He had a bullet wound in the abdomen which physicians said might prove fatal. Joseph Ferrari, 934 Townsend street, was reported in serious condition at the Henrotin hospital with four bullet wounds in his body. Tony Tornatore, 503 West Oak street, is also in the hospital with a bullet wound in the arm.

When questioned by the police Monistero, who is known as "Moonshine Sam," admitted being shot with Ferrari and Tornatore, but would tell nothing else. The police learned that the three men had been shot shortly after they left a poolroom at 857 North Clark street. Their assailants, believed to have been three men, fled on foot.

LOCAL CAB RATE IS HIGHEST OF 10 MAJOR CITIES

Louisville Taxi Charge Is Lowest.

On the basis of one mile's travel, Chicago's taxi fares are higher than those operative for a majority of cab companies in ten major American cities according to an analysis made yesterday. In Boston, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Los Angeles, Baltimore, New York, Detroit, St. Louis and Louisville cheaper rates prevail.

Louisville has the lowest rate of the group. There, one or four persons may ride two miles for 25 cents, while Chicagoans must pay 45 cents for one mile if they ride with either of the two leading companies. Boston and Philadelphia companies charge 40 cents for the first mile; Cleveland and Los Angeles, 35 cents; Baltimore, New York, and Detroit, 30 cents, and St. Louis, 20 cents.

First Mile About 45 Cents.

Since most of the Chicago cabs have meters which ring 25 cents when the "flags" are pulled for the first quarter mile, and follow with 10 cent additions for each succeeding half or two-fifth miles, arithmetically, the mile rate would be about 40 cents. But, although a passenger may ride one and one-quarter miles for 45 cents, he must still pay the same tariff for a mile's carriage. Both leading Chicago companies describe their first mile rate as "about 45 cents."

The 25 cent two mile Louisville rate is followed, at the expiration of the "flag" distance, by a charge of 10 cents for each additional quarter mile. In the following table of comparative rates the first figure given after each city represents the amount "rungup" on the majority of taxi meters for the first quarter or first half mile when the flag is pulled at the beginning of the trip. Succeeding columns show the progressive charges for additional quarter or half miles, for the first mile, and for additional miles after the first.

Chicago	.25	...	...	.10	.45	.20
St. Louis	...	.10	...	.10	.20	.20
Detroit	.15	...	.05	...	.30	.20
New York	.15	...	.05	...	.30	.20
Baltimore	.15	...	.05	...	.30	.20
Los Angeles	.15	...	...	.10	.35	.20
Cleveland	...	.25	...	.10	.35	.20
Philadelphia	...	...	...	...	.40	.30
Boston	...	...	...	...	.40	.30

In a number of the cities, "double rates" prevail; that is, another company undercuts the above price or charges a higher tariff, the figures show. Thus, in St. Louis, a company operating small cars starts its flags at 5 cents for the first one-fifth of a mile and adds 10 cents additional for each succeeding half mile.

Under the present New York ordinance taxi fares are required to be within a maximum of 40 cents for the first mile and 30 cents for each mile thereafter. Police statistics show that some 14,000 of the 18,200-odd cabs plying in the five boroughs are equipped with meters registering the charges given in the above table. Two other meters are in operation, one providing for a 35 cent charge for the first mile and 25 for each succeeding mile, and the other arranged for a 30-20 charge.

Set Flat Rate in Baltimore.

Baltimore reports said that a newly organized company is charging a flat rate of 35 cents for anywhere in the city proper, and the concern is credited with a considerable business. A small company in Los Angeles is using a 5 cent flag pull for the first quarter mile and 10 cents each half mile thereafter and this, too, was reported to be a successful venture.

In Philadelphia, the two principal companies are operated by the same parent concern, the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company. One company charges 40 cents for the first mile and 30 cents for each succeeding mile, while the other operates on a 50-30 basis. A recent attempt to obtain a permit to operate smaller cabs at lower rates was balked by the public service commission, and an appeal from this ruling will be taken, it was announced.

Cab patrons in Boston who ride less than one mile pay 15 cents for the first quarter mile and 5 cents for each ensuing fifth of a mile that is under the full mile distance. Independent taxis operate there on a fluctuating scale, it was reported, with the organized companies making incessant war upon them.

FOUR MOTORISTS KILLED IN TWO AUTO COLLISIONS

Children Run Down in Street; 1 Dead.

Holiday automobile accidents caused the deaths of seven persons residing in the Chicago metropolitan area yesterday. Five of the deaths occurred in Cook county, increasing the county's motor fatality toll for the year to 366. Four men were killed in two collisions and several persons were injured in other crashes on the crowded highways. A little girl was fatally injured by a motorist who plowed into a group of children and two young women were killed while returning from holiday trips.

Three Children Struck.

The young girl victim was Sophie Bielans, 11 years old, living at 145th and Division streets in Dixmoor. Speeding in a sedan which the police asserted had defective brakes, George Biekowski of East Chicago Heights ran down Sophie and a younger sister and brother last night at 145th street and Western avenue. Sophie died of her injuries in a Blue Island hospital. Her sister, Adeline, 9 years old, and her brother, Joseph, 6, were also injured, Adeline perhaps fatally. The Blue Island police arrested Biekowski.

Two Melrose Park residents were killed in a collision at 22d and Haddon avenues in Melrose Park. They were Howard Groom, 30 years old, 1810 West Lake street, and William Howard, 26 years old, 137 North 16th avenue.

The other driver, John Farr, 34 years old, 152 North 23d avenue, Melrose Park, abandoned his car and fled. He was arrested later at his home. The police said he had been drinking.

Cars Overturn in Crash.

Joseph Hahn, 20 years old, 6440 Woodlawn avenue, and Homer Hall, 39 years old, a Negro, of 11316 South Aberdeen street, were killed when the car in which they were riding collided and overturned at 95th street and Western avenue. Charles McCarthy, 22 years old, 300 West 31st street, who was riding with Hahn, was hurled through the windshield. He was taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital in a serious condition. Four other men, passengers in the two machines, escaped with less serious injuries.

Motoring back to Chicago from St. Louis with friends, Miss Nellie Danek, 22 years old, 2810 North Spaulding avenue, was killed when the car in which she was riding overturned on a curve near Farmersville, Ill. The driver, Murray Finn, 4844 West Washington street, his two daughters, and Miss Mary Fleischman, roommate of Miss Danek, escaped with cuts and bruises.

Another Chicago girl, Miss Marie Allen, 22 years old, 3824 South Union street, was killed when the car driven by John Carney, 942 West 35th street, overturned on the highway north of Cedar Lake, Ind. Carney, who was only slightly hurt, was locked up at the Lake county jail, Hammond, deputy sheriffs averring he was intoxicated.

Many Others Are Injured.

At Sheridan road and Bryn Mawr avenue a hit and run driver ran over Peter Jacobchuck, 60 years old, a janitor living at 8 West Delaware place. The victim suffered a fractured leg and a possible skull fracture.

Mrs. Gertrude Neahl, 30 years old, 1526 West Congress street, was painfully hurt when her husband, Frank, drove their car into two parked machines at Ashland avenue and Polk street. Neahl, who abandoned his wife and the car, was later arrested at his home and found to be intoxicated, police said.

When her escort's car struck a police squad car, Miss Anna Waldman, 25 years old, 717 Barry avenue, was painfully injured. The accident occurred in front of 2447 North Halsted street and the squadmen arrested Miss Waldman's companion, John L. Harding, a salesman of 100 North Hamlin avenue. A pint of whisky was found in Harding's car.

Woman and Baby Hurt.

Mrs. Gutrin Peterson, 25 years old, and her 1 year old daughter, Marion, were painfully injured when their automobile was struck by another at Long and Belmont avenues. Christ Jensen, a friend of Mrs. Peterson and her husband, Christ Peterson, 3522 McLean avenue, who was driving, was also hurt. Vito Carvanaro, 22 years old, 1009 West Ohio stret, driver of the other automobile, was arrested for assault with an automobile, disregarding a stop light, and driving past a street car discharging passengers.

Melvin Arndt, 11 years old, 1843 North Harding avenue, was seriously injured by a car driven by Allen Blonquist, 27 years old, 5948 South Lincoln street, at Crawford and Wabansia avenues.

Michael Kelly, 21 years old, 3023 Walnut street, was seriously injured when he was run down by a hit and run driver at California and Armitage avenues.

Fifty happy school boys and girls from Dearborn, Mich., comprising the Dearborn High orchestra, reached Chicago at noon yesterday from Omaha, where they carried off first honors in the national championship contests Saturday night. The national trophy signifying their victory in class B at the competition was transported with great care to the Bismarck hotel, where the group was entertained at luncheon. The orchestra members spent the rest of the day viewing the sights of Chicago and will leave for home today.

THOUSANDS SEE ZEPPELIN IN ITS LAKEHURST PORT

Lakehurst, N. J., June 1.—[Special.]—Sixty thousand persons visited the Graf Zeppelin here today as she lay snugly in her big hangar, completely refueled and about ready to take off on a return flight to Friedrichshafen, Germany, tomorrow night. Using all types of conveyances, the throng poured into Lakehurst, overran the big field surrounding the hangar, and under watchful eyes of a detachment of 130 marines observed the airship at fairly close range.

Highways in the neighborhood of Lakehurst were choked with traffic.

The Graf took 780,000 cubic feet of fuel gas, mixed hydrogen and pyrofax. Civilian workmen continued work on the Zeppelin, replacing four broken struts of the after-motor gondola. The pure hydrogen gas in the Graf's cells will be replenished tomorrow and long before 10 p. m., the hour set for her departure, it is expected that her lifting power will be satisfactory.

CAUGHT IN BURGLARY ATTEMPT.

Policeman Joseph Dornbrech of the Albany Park station happened along yesterday as Frederick M. Dolan, 44 years old, 5826 South Fairfield avenue, was jimmying a window in a restaurant at 5546 North Kedzie avenue. Dolan will explain it to the judge this morning in Felony court.

SHOT TO DEATH ON 'RIDE'; BODY FOUND IN ALLEY

Shot in the head and side, the body of an unidentified man about 32 years old was found early this morning in the alley at the rear of 483 West Grand avenue. The victim apparently had been taken for a "ride" and tossed in the alley by his slayers, the police said. Another theory was that he had been slain in a beer flat brawl.

The dead man's nose was broken, an indication that he had been beaten by his assailants before they killed him. An old rag rug was wrapped closely about the upper part of his body and secured by a leather belt which might have been the means by which he was carried into the alley.

The body was found by Emil Johnson, 6602 South Lowe avenue, a watchman for the Central watch service. Johnson said the barking of his dog led him to the spot.

AIR TRIP SHOWS CAUSE OF JAMS ON HIGHWAYS

Idling Drivers, Overtaxed Corners Blamed.

BY HAL FOUST.

Chicago motorists yesterday heeded published warnings of congestion during the hours before dusk at the close of the holiday week-end. Cars began to pour into the city shortly after noon and the parade continued until late into the night, but the blockades of late afternoon were not as bad as on ordinary good weather Sundays.

As viewed from an airplane yesterday, Chicago's weakest automobile entrance is from Indiana, from whence a large portion of the world's fair visitors will come in 1933. A string of automobiles three miles long could be seen from the air creeping on the Lincoln highway toward the bottleneck at Dyer, Ind. Cars were bumper to bumper for a distance of two miles over the narrow Dunes highway approaching Miller, Ind., notwithstanding the fact that the new cutoff was opened around the acute angle turns in the Gary suburb.

Delays on North Shore.

To the north of Chicago, the intersection of Waukegan road and Dempster street caused unpleasant delays to thousands of families already late for their evening meals. This is the corner for which the county let a grade separation contract more than a year and a half ago, but the county's attorneys have failed to bring to a close condemnation proceedings for the right of way.

The intersections of North avenue and Lake street and of Roosevelt and Manheim roads appeared to be the worst bottle necks on the western entrance to the city, although the villages of Des Plaines and La Grange were packed with motorists who had no desire to linger there.

Air View of Highways.

From two thousand feet in the air, the highway system of Chicagoland could be seen as thin lines stretching in all directions from the city, carrying square edged specks that moved along these lines. The radial routes were crowded with these specks, but there was much pavement showing white and uncolored by motor oil as evidence of concrete that has been laid by public officials where it is little used by traffic.

The automobiles, that looked like specks on the radial routes, were in strings of eight or ten. An experienced motorist on an air observation of traffic could tell that road hogs driving twenty or thirty miles an hour were blocking the progress of automobiles whose passengers were anxious to get some place.

Loiterers in Center Lane.

Over the forty foot pavements the airplane gave a good view of how traffic is blocked by the failure of automobiles to keep to the right except when passing. Some loitering cars were in the center lanes and some in the outside lanes. The driver with a destination and a limited amount of time could be seen zig-zagging from one lane to another trying to get through.

But the main obstacles to reasonable progress on the highways, as witnessed from the air, are the intersections of busy pavements. Parades of automobiles could be seen, halted a mile or so from the corners, creeping toward the intersections a few feet at a time. These are the places that have long been advocated by traffic experts as sites for grade separations.

PRESIDENT PAUSES TO ATTEND CHURCH IN A SMALL TOWN

Washington, D. C., June 1.—(AP)—Riding nearly 300 miles in an automobile, President Hoover returned to the White House today from the lodge of Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia, in the mountains of Pennsylvania, and received informally the Infante Alfonso, cousin of the king of Spain.

Much of the long journey across Pennsylvania and Maryland, which brought to a close a week-end vacation begun immediately after the chief executive completed his Memorial day address at Gettysburg, was made through lanes of cheering crowds.

The ride was interrupted only twice—once for the President to worship at a small Methodist Episcopal church in Liverpool, Pa., and again at the home of Henry P. Fletcher, former ambassador to Italy, at Greencastle, where the party had lunch.

Armadillo Hunts a Home; Finds It at Lincoln Park

The armadillo population at the Lincoln park zoo was unexpectedly increased from one to two yesterday. The latest arrival was presented by Woodlawn police. Charles Brown, 6214 Indiana avenue, telephoned the station at 4 a. m. that "something" was trying to scratch its way into his home. Policeman James Towne hastened over. He found an armadillo nearly four feet long at the door of the Brown apartment. The animal, it is believed, escaped from a carnival.

Hartley, Ia., June 1.—(AP)—Lou Burley, 38, and Carl Letts, 40, were drowned near here today when their fishing boat was overturned in a heavy wind. A third, James Wright, 50, clung to the craft until rescued, but tonight had not regained consciousness, although physicians said he would recover.

POLICEMAN SHOT BY DAUGHTER IS NEAR DEATH

Quarrel Over Girl's Late Hours; She Is Held.

Dorothy Tully, 19 years old, a blonde stenographer, was held at the Hyde Park police station last night on a charge of attempted murder. She was charged with shooting and severely wounding her step-father when he reprimanded her for keeping late hours.

Police Sergt. Ray Grable, 40 years old, who has been detailed at the county treasurer's office, was the victim of a bullet fired from his own revolver by the girl. His condition was said to be serious at the Woodlawn hospital where he was taken. The shooting took place in the Grable home at 922 East 61st street early yesterday.

Girl Asks for Lawyer.

Miss Tully, who works in a law office, was a composed prisoner. After a first statement that the shooting was accidental, she refused to talk and calmly dictated orders for a lawyer who would provide a bond for her release. Because Grable was believed in danger of death, the police held the girl and said a murder charge would be placed against her if the sergeant died.

Miss Tully returned home shortly after 1 a. m. yesterday morning, according to the story told to the police, and her step-father was waiting for her. They renewed a previous quarrel concerning the late hours at which she returned home.

Also Quarrel Over Board Bill.

The two also quarreled because the girl had paid board money to her mother, Mrs. Hilda Grable, instead of to her step-father, the police were told.

Finally Miss Tully picked up Grable's revolver, which was lying on a dresser, and pointed it at her step-father. He ran from the room, slamming the door behind him, and the girl discharged the revolver, a bullet going through the door and entering Grable's back.

1,800 Made Jobless by London Newspaper Merger

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 1.—Nearly 1,800 newspaper men suddenly found themselves jobless today when a merger of the Daily News and the Daily Chronicle was confirmed after secret negotiations which only leaked out last night. The Chronicle will not appear tomorrow, while the News will come out under the title of the Daily News and Chronicle. The new sheet, which will have a circulation of about 1,600,000, will be the only remaining Liberal journal.

NEW TARIFF BILL IOWA'S ISSUE FOR TODAY'S PRIMARY

Governor Says It'll Cost State Millions.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., June 1.—[Special.]—The Hawley-Smoot tariff bill is still the bone of contention between Gov. John Hammill and Congressman L. J. Dickinson, leading candidates for the Republican nomination for United States senator at the dawn of tomorrow's primaries.

"Honest John" says President Hoover should veto the tariff bill, the governor declaring it would dip into the Iowa farmers' pocket to the tune of 40 million dollars a year.

"Hell Raising Dick" champions the tariff act, terming it "the Hoover tariff." Senator Dan F. Steck, Democrat, has no opposition in his party's primaries.

Both Camps Confident.

The final hours find both rival camps nervous but confident, while the voters appear to be somewhat languid and apathetic. The vote is not expected to exceed 400,000. The Dickinson men claim they will carry nine of the eleven congressional districts; all they concede to the governor are the First and Second in southeast Iowa. The Hammill men claim they will carry eight districts and a majority of the counties.

The politicians in general regard Dickinson as having the advantage. Frank J. Lund, Senator S. W. Brookhart's manager and a third candidate, says he will get strong support from farmers and labor.

William O. Payne, an editor, who is fourth candidate and is running on an anti-world court plank, says he hopes to poll votes enough to throw the nomination into convention, which would occur if no candidate gets 35 per cent of the vote. This is regarded as extremely remote.

Race for Governor, Too.

In the governorship struggle, Ed M. Smith, secretary of state, is estimated to have been creeping up steadily on Dan W. Turner, millionaire farmer-merchant who made one of the speeches for the corn belt farmers' plank in the battle of Kansas City. Smith has redoubled his attack upon a state income tax, which Turner advocates. A third candidate, Otto F. Lange, has specialized in a campaign against chain stores.

A week ago many of the local oracles regarded Turner as being more certain of winning for governor than Dickinson for senator. The same experts today were figuring Dick a better bet than Dan. The senatorship and governorship contests have been kept separate, but the natural political affinities have been Hammill and Smith; Dickinson and Turner.

ITALIAN ACE, OVER 65 HOURS IN AIR, SETS NEW RECORD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, June 1. — Commander Umberto Maddalena, famous Italian air ace, carried off the world endurance record for planes not refueling in the air on a closed circuit tonight, beating the previous record of 65 hours 26 minutes held by the German flyer Johann Risticz.

Despite his victory, Commander Maddalena at midnight was still flying in order, if possible, to exceed distance records also.

The Italian flyer took off early on Friday morning in a Marchetti Savoia 64. The closed circuit covers a triangular route, and the plane must land where it started for the record to be recognized. Commander Maddalena, who aided in the rescue of Gen. Nobile in the Arctic in 1928, is accompanied by Capt. Cecconi. He is planning a flight to New York by way of the Azores.

'WE'LL RULE OWN DESTINY,' FRANCE REPLIES TO DUCE

Tardieu Address Denies Naval Parity to Italy.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 1.—In an important speech outlining the government's domestic and foreign policy at Dijon today, Premier André Tardieu refrained from direct allusions to Premier Benito Mussolini's recent addresses, which the French press termed as bellicose. However, he asserted France's determination to reject any naval ratio giving equality to Italy as a sea power.

"The international organization of peace is effective only if it associates strong peoples capable of contributing as much to the common defense as formerly they could to their own," said M. Tardieu. "In the London conference France followed a policy of firmness, joining in all measures of general interest which were not of a nature to reduce tonnage necessary for her needs nor to increase the arithmetical injustice of rules of limitation adopted at Washington in 1922."

Holds Pessimistic View.

The premier did not express optimism over further pourparlers in Rome for a direct agreement.

Dealing with security, Premier Tardieu said:

"We established credit for $136,000,000 for the organization of our frontiers." He was referring to the decision to construct a ring of steel and concrete defenses against another invasion and the new network of military railroads in the north and east and on the Riviera announced yesterday.

The premier also said that France had practically reconstructed the vast reserve of munitions and war materials which were depleted by the military operations in the African Riff and Syria.

Will Maintain Strength.

"As before the world war," said M. Tardieu, "we wish peace through stability and organization, with the will to remain in all situation masters of our destiny if there should arise unexpected difficulties.

The premier asserted that the Young plan and The Hague accords give France ample safeguards for reparations, and that the international bond issue will be floated before the French troops evacuate the final zone of the Rhineland. In this connection he recalled that his political foes had predicted premature evacuation and loss of prestige through the sacrifices made at The Hague and London conferences.

"It is the contrary that has happened," he asserted. "France today is in a position which frees her both from the need to fear or to boast."

RED RIVER GOES OVER LEVEES AT LOUISIANA TOWN

Alexandria, La., June 1.—(AP)—The swollen Red river broke through its levee in the "island district" in two places between Alexandria and Boyce today and spread over 3,500 acres of farm land. Natives had moved out several days ago and no loss of humans or live stock was reported, but several dairy farms and growing corn and cotton were covered.

The levee went out despite all night labors of volunteer workers. Within an hour it spread to a two hundred foot opening. Another crevasse opened a quarter mile below.

Alexandria was not believed by engineers to be in danger of inundation, as the city is protected by strong high levees, but forces were at work to raise and strengthen the levee protecting Pineville, a town of about 5,500 across the river from Alexandria.

Taxi Driver Kills Self After Shooting His Boss

International Falls, Minn., June 1.—(AP)—Helmer Olen, 40, proprietor of a taxicab company here, was shot twice and seriously wounded early today by Ed Pronge, 38, taxi driver, who later shot and killed himself. Pronge accused Olen of being unduly attentive to Mrs. Pronge.

POPULATION HUB OF HOOSIER LAND SHIFTS TO NORTH

Hammond, Gary and East Chicago Lead.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.] — Complete preliminary census returns from the ten largest cities in Indiana today disclosed a sharp shifting of population density from the south and central portions toward the northwest section and in the direction of the Chicago metropolitan area.

Although Indianapolis and Fort Wayne, the two largest cities in the state in 1920, have held to their places, South Bend has pushed Evansville out of third place, while the sensational growths of Gary, Hammond and East Chicago have lifted each of them up one or two notches at the expense of cities in other parts of the state.

Hammond, with a population increase of 78 per cent in the last decade, led all the cities in Indiana from the standpoint of growth and jumped up to sixth place over Terre Haute, which sustained a 5.3 per cent loss, and Muncie, which gained 27.3 per cent. Gary, with a growth of 76 per cent, passed Terre Haute and became Indiana's fifth largest city.

Standing Compared.

The comparative standings of the first ten cities in 1920 and 1930 and their population figures as shown by supervisors' preliminary counts follow:

—Rank— 1920.	1930.	City.	—Population— 1920.	1930.
1	1	Indianapolis	314,194	362,527
2	2	Fort Wayne	86,549	115,121
4	3	South Bend	70,983	103,677
3	2	Evansville	85,264	98,963

5	7	Terre Haute	66,083	62,543
9	8	East Chicago	35,967	54,575
7	9	Muncie	36,524	46,517
10	10	Kokomo	30,067	32,820

Ranked according to percentage of growth during the last decade, the cities are: Hammond, 78.0; Gary, 76.0; East Chicago, 53.1; South Bend, 46.0; Fort Wayne, 33.1; Muncie, 27.3; Evansville, 16.0; Indianapolis, 15.3; Kokomo, 13.0, and Terre Haute, 5.3 loss.

Richmond Still Eleventh.

Richmond, failing by a margin of 260 inhabitants to nose Kokomo out of tenth place, remain in eleventh. Mishawaka, ranking thirteenth, had a growth of 88 per cent, bringing its population up to 28,581. New Albany, with a growth of 12.3, ranked twelfth, its new population being 28,825.

Other Indiana cities over 17,000 from which reports have been received, include Michigan City, 26,765, increase 38 per cent; Lafayette, 26,165, increase 16 per cent; Marion, 24,130, increase 2 per cent; Bloomington, 18,214, increase 57 per cent, and Vincennes, 17,532, increase 2.1 per cent.

Kingsford-Smith to Try Flight Over Pacific Again

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, June 1.—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith in an interview today stated that he intends another flight to Australia after conquering the Atlantic. He hopes to fly to Melbourne for his "greatest and best adventure"—his wedding.

15 DROWNED AS OIL TANKER CUTS STEAMER IN TWO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 1.—One man is dead and 14 are missing out of a crew of 18 on the Swedish steamer Inger, which was cut in two early this morning and sank immediately after being rammed by the Italian tanker Literno in the English channel near Beachy Head. The Literno succeeded in rescuing two of the crew and rescue boats, searching throughout the day, only succeeded in picking up one other sailor in an overturned boat and one corpse. All hope has been given up for the remainder of the crew. The Literno succeeded in limping into port.

STABBED TO DEATH BY WOMAN.

W. SIDE CENSUS GAIN ONLY THIRD OF SOUTH SIDE'S

May Lose Two Aldermen and Legislators.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The "Great West Side," which has led the other divisions of the city in population since 1860, appears by the present census to be going forward with brakes on.

The figures available indicate that the west side's growth in the last 10 years has been about one-third of that for the south side. Its percentage of growth is a little more than one-fifth of the south side and less than one-third of the north side.

Will Lose Alderman.

The west side now has 22 aldermen, the south side 19 and the north side nine. The final census figures are certain to trim one alderman from the west side and possibly two. The west side's loss will be the south side's gain—the north side keeping its present allotment. By the same token the west side will lose several state legislators if the state is redistricted on the basis of population, and the south side will gain.

Figures are available for 41 of the 50 wards. Of the missing wards four are on the south side and five on the west side. The north side is complete. These 41 wards in the 1930 census show a population of 2,711,392 as compared with 2,212,355 in 1920. This increase of 499,037 in the 41 wards is distributed by divisions of the city as follows, with comparisons and percentages:

Census—	North side.	West side.	South side.
1930	609,479	1,135,617	966,296
1920	470,920	1,047,546	693,889
Gain	138,559	88,071	272,407
Per cent.	29.4	8.4	39.1

Of the four south side missing wards the Twelfth is expected to show a decrease of 5,000 in population, and the Fifteenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth a boost of perhaps 85,000.

Three of the five west side missing wards will show a decrease. They are the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-seventh and the drop will probably be between 18,000 and 25,000. The other two west side wards, the Twenty-ninth and the Thirtieth, are expected to show an increase of possibly 40,000.

Gain of Only 100,000.

Therefore the west side's gain in the census may be forecast in excess of 100,000 and the south side's more than three times that amount, after a liberal allowance for an apparent error in the Thirteenth ward figures. This ward's population has been printed at 68,760. This seems high in view of the fact that only 10,544 residents are registered as voters. Of the wards on which census figures are available there is no other one of less than 13,000 voters which has as many as 40,000 residents, even wards having a large number of unnaturalized residents.

On the basis of registered voters the south side is more important now than the west side. Candidates at elections in the last four years have received more votes on the south side than on the west side, although the edge has been small. The following table shows the registered voters on each side of the city:

Division—	Voters.	Per cent.	No. of Aldermen.
North	262,152	19.40	9
West	540,877	40.04	22
South	547,667	40.55	19
Totals	1,350,696	99.99	50

It has been frequently claimed that the west side has more aliens than either of the other two divisions. To this is credited the relatively now ratio of voters to population on the west side. But that does not explain why the south side has grown much faster than the west side in the last decade. The northwest section of the city has made a remarkable growth. The west side as a whole has increased only a third as fast as the south side.

It is claimed by south side business organizations that that division of the city is growing much faster in industries than other divisions of the city. Of the suburbs the industrial cities as a whole show faster growth than the residential cities which had 20,000 residents or more 10 years ago. Gary shows a gain of 75.9 per cent, Hammond, 78 per cent, and Waukegan, 73.5 per cent; while Oak Park as a resident suburb shows 60 per cent and Evanston 66 per cent.

DANES PARADE TO MARK DAY OF INDEPENDENCE

Denmark's independence day was observed yesterday by 9,000 Chicagoans of Danish decent. The observance opened with a parade in northwest side streets, which was followed by a celebration in Riverview park.

The parade marched in Armitage avenue to Crawford avenue, then to North avenue, east to Western avenue, and north to the park. Forty-four Danish societies were represented. Although the Danish independence day falls on June 5, the local observance was held in conformity with a custom of 22 years on the Sunday nearest the anniversary.

Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, General Consul R. Bauman of Denmark, and Ald. Oscar Nelson spoke. The program included singing, folk dancing and athletic events.

MICHIGAN CROP OUTLOOK IS BEST SINCE THE WAR

Recent Rainfall Aids Growing Conditions.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Lansing, Mich., June 2.—[Special.]—Farmers in this vast shorelined deposit of natural wealth, being exploited as the nation's playground, are anticipating the greatest returns and from most diversified sources of any year since war times as warm spring weather and recent rains idealize growing conditions in the area south of a line drawn westward from Saginaw bay.

With but one-third of Michigan's land improved in farms, this state leads the Union in production of small fruits, gives the nation two-thirds of its white bean crop, leads in sales of cucumbers, is second in celery, third in strawberry and potato production, and is increasingly important in production of dairy and poultry products.

Dairying Proves Profitable.

Here is a physical plant representing an estimated value of a billion and three-quarters dollars, in every county of its domain so widely diversified in output that the state could be self-supporting with the possible exception of cotton, citrus fruits, and rubber, according to Prof. E. B. Hill, farm management specialist at Michigan State college.

While the basic middle west crops, corn, oats, hay—with which hogs, cattle, sheep, dairy herds and poultry flocks logically go—predominate in Michigan, they are quite evenly spread over the farmable land. Verne H. Church, official state and federal crop statistician here, places the annual cream checks at $69,500,000, with sales of dairy cattle and calves raising this to $96,495,000 cash income from dairying in Michigan.

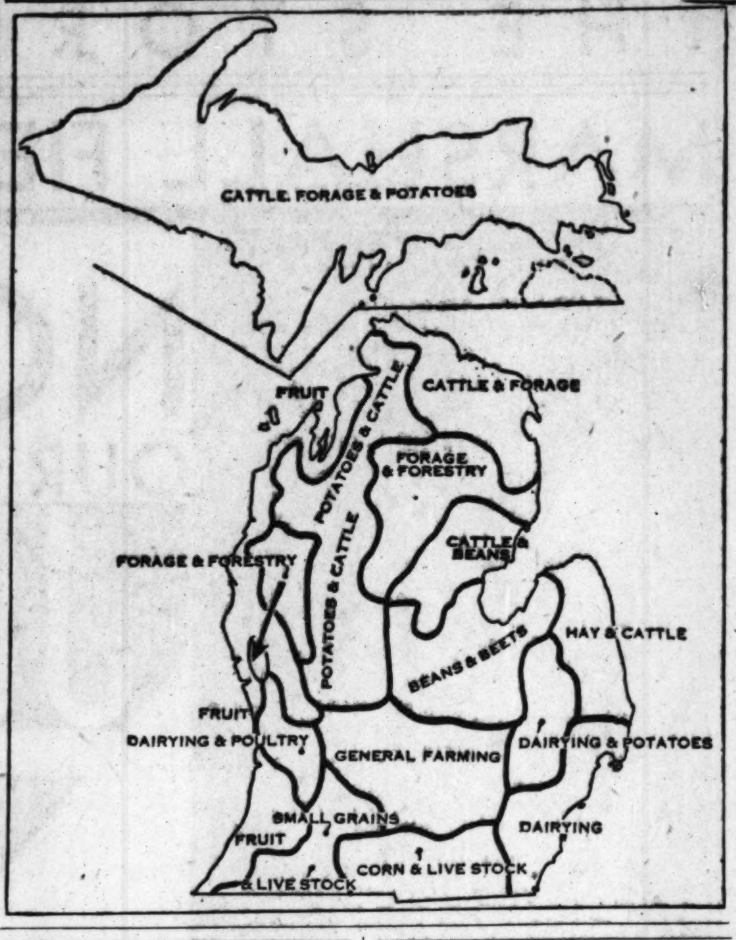
Sales of chickens and eggs total $33,500,000, the importance of chickens as source of cash income becoming increasingly important over egg sales. Other live stock products net $28,275,000, or a total of one-fourth billion cash income from all live stock and field crop sales annually.

Fruits, Berries Net $12,305,000.

Fruits and berries net Michigan farmers $12,305,000 and returns from 17 truck crops enter the ledger at $6,039,000. Beans alone, while seemingly a minor crop, bring in $23,000,000 in an average year. Between Indiana and Michigan the nation gets practically its entire peppermint crop, while Michigan is leading in chicory production.

Berrien county, nearest the Chicago market, suffered heavy loss last winter from frost, which completely killed the peach crop, worth over $2,000,000. Farmers are retrenching this, however, with heavy planting of cantaloupes and tomatoes.

CROPS IN MICHIGAN



2 Girls Burned to Death; Trapped in Wrecked Auto

Columbus, N. J., June 1.—[Special.]—Trapped in roaring flames, Louise Perlingino, 16, and Lena Sabatino, 22, both of Trenton, were burned to death when a car driven by Frank Palotta, also of Trenton, crashed into a glass gas tank outside a roadside service station near Grovesville last night. Gasoline sprayed from the broken tank and, striking the heated engine, burst into a blanket of flames which prevented would-be rescuers from reaching the imprisoned girls. Palotta, who was hurled through a window to the roadside, escaped uninjured. He was held on a technical charge of manslaughter pending investigation of the accident.

CROPS IN QUINCY AREA ARE BADLY IN NEED OF RAIN

Quincy, Ill., June 1.—[Special.]—Not in many years has the rainfall been so light during the months of March, April and May. Less than four inches of rain has fallen in these months in the Quincy area, while the average rainfall is about eleven inches.

Corn is actually dying for want of moisture. Oats are thin and short, and soy beans just being planted will have to have moisture if they mature any.

Farmers of northeast Missouri are facing the worst situation they have for many years.

Cold weather has caused cut and wire worms to work all over the Quincy area. Eggs are 15 cents, the lowest in fifteen years; farmers have quit feeding their hogs when they run out of feed because they claim it is about like trading dollars to feed ninety cent corn to ten cent hogs.

MOTHER AND HER FIVE CHILDREN PERISH IN FIRE

Washington, D. C., June 1.—(AP)—Mrs. William Moxley, 40, and her five children burned to death in their home at Glen Echo, Maryland, near Washington, early today as flames swept through the building and cut off escape.

William Moxley, father of the children, a one armed park policeman, said he leaped from a window and shouted to his wife to follow him. He heard a scream and then all was silent. Moxley suffered burns and contusions.

25 Hurt in Hospital Fire.

Central Islip, L. I., June 1.—[Special.]—Fire started this afternoon in the Viole home of the Central Islip State Hospital for the Insane, and before it was brought under control, approximately twenty-eight persons had been burned and injured, at least three seriously so. The building, used as a dormitory by nurses and attendants, was virtually destroyed. The damage was estimated at between $50,000 and $100,000.

Two Explosions Result.

The blaze was the fourth of suspicious nature at the Central Islip institution in the last two years. Firemen and state troopers this evening were investigating the start of the blaze, and the cause of two explosions that occurred after it had started.

Apparatus from the fire departments fifteen miles around were called. All available local police and state troopers were required to handle the large crowd of motorists that gathered.

INQUEST TODAY IN SUICIDE OF DR. H. J. GOSLEE

An inquest will be held today into the death of Dr. Hart J. Goslee, 59 years old, wealthy loop dentist and former president of the Chicago and Illinois State Dental societies, who was found dead in his office at 108 North State street late Saturday night. He apparently had taken poison Dr. Goslee called his wife, Mrs. Edith P. Goslee, at their home at 3755 Pine Grove avenue, and told her over the telephone: "I am going. Good-by." She hurried to his office and found the body. The dentist also left a note, saying: "I cannot stand the pain in my leg any longer and I will end it all." His leg was amputated a year ago after an automobile accident.

The Board of Trade Grill for Men

Kinsley's is gone, and for a generation much that Kinsley's represented has been missing in La Salle street.

Board of Trade men—pitched like E strings—have felt its absence. Financial men, heedless of their health, bite-snatchers by necessity rather than reason, have had need of it.

Missing in La Salle street has been a distinguished restaurant where men for one hour at noon would completely forget that an hour is composed of 60 clacking minutes and would take their time in easy stages, in long relaxed breaths, in a cool oasis of pressureless comfort.

Today, the Board of Trade Grill opens—equipped like a crack train. Designed by notable architects. Walls of pigskin bound with brass. Pillars of steel sheathed in subdued mirrors and mellow butternut. Illumination like light through water. The most impeccable cuisine in the middle west. Alert, silent service. And tall comfort in leather chairs by high walls.

The Grill is a large rectangular room a flight downstairs under the main lobby, accessible from two stone stairways as well as the main elevators.  Luncheon and dinner will be served.

The Sea-Glade Tea Room

Thanks to an all-provident Building Committee* for allotting this centrally located space to the restaurant facilities of the building, the Sea-Glade Tea Room adjoins the Board of Trade Grill directly across the hall from the main elevators.

For men and women who marvel—while they pant to keep pace with white-haired executives—this cool, open room with walls in five shades of horizon-holding blue, means a chance for rest, and for delicious food, and companionship.

The Sea-Glade Tea Room will serve breakfast, luncheon, tea and dinner.

A new DeMet's Fountain and Candy Store

On the east wall of the main lobby running through to La Salle Street, De Met's also opens today a new fountain and candy store with a dual function. Here grating, parched throats will find lubrication—gaping 4 o'clock stomachs be tided over until dinner. Here too, breakfasts, early and late, will be expertly served. Here also the thoughtful man will be abetted in his—we submit—essential function of pleasing someone with a box of candy.

LEE SIMS

Every Monday and Wednesday and Friday at 7:45 p.m. through WBBM, DeMet's presents Lee Sims and the "sweet voiced singer," Ilomay Bailey. If you enjoy original interpretations of interesting classical, popular, and modern music, you will like this program.

NEW YORK

A food expert came and said: "You're all wrong. Do you suppose that people in Chicago are different from people in New York? Why don't you give them the new dishes people are eating in New York?"

"Can you make them?" said the quiet man pleasantly.

"Of course I can."

"Go ahead," said the boss, and might have added, "that's what we brought you here for."

Here's fervently hoping that you like them.

A woman recently came and said: "You're asleep. Why not let people eat your coffee cake and so forth at home as well as in the stores? Why not put it right in the windows?"

"Good," said the quiet man, touching a button.

And that's how DeMet's began to sell pastries-to-take-home back in 1930—

An advertising man said: "Your window displays are awful. Why don't you put cards telling people what your candy sells for? Why don't you make it easy for them to decide?"

"We have done that before and will do it again if you think they like it," he was told.

"Of course they do. And why don't you make assortments and call them 'Treasure Trove' or 'Elegance,' or other names people can order by?"

TRIBUNE MOTOR VESSEL ARRIVES AT MILWAUKEE

Carries Cargo of China Clay from England.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 1.—[Special.]—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's motor ship Thorold, the first oil burning, Diesel engined ship of its type on the great lakes, came into Milwaukee harbor today on its maiden trip and docked in Kinnickinnic basin.

The ship was built at Hull, England, by the Earle's Shipbuilding and Engineering company, Ltd. It is owned by the Quebec and Ontario Transportation company, Ltd., a subsidiary of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and was constructed for the purpose of transporting newsprint paper from the mill of the Ontario Paper company, another TRIBUNE subsidiary at Thorold, Ont., to the Tribune company at Chicago.

Although built especially for Chicago use, Milwaukee gets the first sight on the great lakes of this new type of vessel. Milwaukee was its first port and Chicago will not see it for more than a month. Col. R. R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, and other executives of the company are expected to fly here tomorrow in the 'Arf Pint, the Sikorsky amphibion, for their first inspection.

The Thorold, named after its home port, is commanded by Capt. George Ferguson who brought it here from Montreal. Lindsay Vipond, chief engineer, has been with the Thorold from its christening. He helped bring it across the Atlantic and has not left it since he first went to Switzerland to oversee completion of the power machinery.

Cargo of China Clay.

Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Vipond and Miss Geraldine Vipond also are on the ship. The Thorold carries a crew of 19, including two cooks. The Thorold is expected to leave Milwaukee some time Wednesday for Fort William, Ont. It will not be seen at Chicago until it returns to Thorold for paper.

The Thorold is carrying china clay from Fowey, England. Part of the cargo was unloaded at Montreal, the remainder being for Milwaukee and Fort William on Lake Superior. The boat will unload the last of the china clay at Fort William and probably take on a load of grain for Buffalo, after which the Thorold will be at Thorold for its first load of paper for Chicago about June 10.

The ship is of the newest and best design for the purpose of carrying paper. It has a specially broad beam and capacious hold and the sides are built up above what ordinarily would be deck level to allow it to carry enough rolls of paper to provide weight to sink the ship to the level at which it will give the most efficient service. Its capacity is about 3,000 tons of paper, 4,400 rolls, twice the capacity of any paper carrying vessel on the great lakes.

Gross Tonnage of 2,900.

The Thorold's gross tonnage is 2,900 and the net tonnage 2,330 tons. The overall length of the ship is 258 feet; the breadth moulded 43 feet 10 inches and the depth moulded 23 inches. It is the maximum size to pass through the Welland canal.

The ship contains four cargo holds, divided athwartships by bulkheads at their centers. The exhaust from the main engines is specially constructed and led through a separate boiler to provide low pressure steam for heating. The crew's quarters are equipped with hot and cold showers and the officers' and guests' quarters are complete and modern. A 100 watt wireless telegraph transmitter is part of the ship's equipment.

On Jan. 18, 1930, the Thorold was launched at Hull, England, and christened by Miss Eileen Battle, a resident of Thorold. Miss Battle was selected through a personality contest by the paper company open only to residents of Thorold and vicinity. It was a character contest and the final choice made by Miss Doris Blake, character editor of THE TRIBUNE. Miss Battle and her chaperon received a three week's trip to England.

Make 18 Trips a Season.

On its eastern trips from Chicago it is expected the Thorold will carry grain, coal, etc., to eastern ports on the great lakes. It is estimated the ship will make about 18 round trips a season, figuring 12 days per round trip.

Mr. H. L. Bovay, marine superintendent of the Quebec and Ontario Transportation Company, Ltd., made a special trip to Milwaukee to observe the new ship closely in its first port.

The Diesel type of engine was selected after the company's experts had made an intensive study of its particular requirements. The engines were built at Sulzer Brothers' plant at Winterthur, Switzerland. There are many features which mark the Thorold as in the latest class of marine building. Among these are the minimum of space occupied by her powerful engines, the auxiliary Diesels and all the deck machinery, which is electrically controlled. The contents of any tank in the ship, whether oil or water, may be measured immediately by an ingeniously constructed gauge. The Diesel engines will drive the ship at about 10 knots.

President See Launching of Finland's First Sub

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 1.—The first submarine of the Finnish navy, the "Vetehinen" was launched today in the presence of President Lauri Relander. The vessel was constructed with the aid of foreign experts at the Crichton Vulcan shipyards in order to support the country's own shipbuilding industry. The displacement tonnage is 450 tons. Two others of the same tonnage are also being constructed. What is believed will be the world's smallest submarine of 95 tons will be launched here later.

BROMLEIGH Linen

For only in this exquisitely-loomed linen—imported, of course, can I. Miller find a slipper fabric worthy of fashion's preference for white.

Fluffy organdies and batistes for afternoon. Piques in softly flowing lines for lunch. And linen suits galore down the Avenue. Is it any wonder that I. Miller searched the world for a linen for slippers that you would be proud to wear? Bromleigh Linen, Madame! It holds its shape so loyally. It cleans so easily. It keeps peace with fashion by presenting a dull surface—always!

And above all else, it inspires I. Miller designs in the creation of such lovely slippers as the Lupel above. Dainty. Low-cut shank for coolness. Low or high heel as you prefer. Intricate swirls to flatter a flattering ankle. And a needlessly modest price of $14.50

RECESSION.

Shortly after the death of Chief Justice Taft the Supreme court gave a decision in a malt case which was taken by prohibition enforcers in some parts of the country as authority for the seizure of property if it could be used in violation of the Volstead act. The decision apparently treated an instance in which the material was offered specifically for illegal use, but some of the enforcers were applying it to potential or inferred illegal use.

Such inferences had been attached to ginger ale and ice in padlock cases and the agents may have been justified in thinking that the constitution was being construed so as to afford no protection to property or personal rights if administration of the eighteenth amendment was in question.

Since then another case has been decided in the Supreme court. In it the purchase of liquor was held to be outside the reach of national prohibition. The buyer has not violated the law. The law prohibits and penalizes the manufacture, sale, and transportation of intoxicating liquor and not the purchase of it. The court has held that congress deliberately excluded purchase and that it has consistently refrained from making the purchaser equally guilty with the seller.

Former decisions of the court have almost uniformly contained the doctrine or the declaration that it was the purpose of congress and the people behind the legislature to do away with alcoholic beverages and that enactments must be construed in the light of this purpose. Under such wide interpretation it would not have been inconsistent with precedent if the decision in the purchase case had been that the law in prohibiting sale contemplated the transaction as of necessity including a buyer, reasoning that: an incompleted sale is not one; it is a mere offer; a person offering a case of liquor without a taker has not sold it and the person who completes the transaction by taking the case and paying for it has completed the illegal act and is guilty of it.

The court, instead of maintaining the ground that the intent of prohibition is to prohibit, construed the law literally and threw back at congress the dictum that law had to be made in the legislature and not in the courts. It was not for the court to say that a person was guilty of a crime which congress had not declared to be one. Violators of the Volstead act are felons, in the terms of the Jones act, and congress, not the court, is to say whether the citizen purchasing liquor is guilty of a felony.

Recently there was another decision of the court that the rights of a person having a lien on an automobile are not extinguished because the property has been used by others in the illegal transportation of liquor. The prohibition law has not destroyed the property interest of an innocent citizen.

In a dissenting opinion in another case, not concerned with prohibition, Mr. Holmes said, discussing the fourteenth and not the eighteenth amendment: "I have not yet adequately expressed the more than anxiety that I feel at the ever increasing scope given the fourteenth amendment in cutting down what I believe to be the constitutional rights of the states. As the decisions now stand, I see hardly any limit but the sky to the invalidating of those rights if they happen to strike a majority of this court as for any reason undesirable. I cannot believe that the amendment was intended to give us carte blanche to embody our economic or moral beliefs in its prohibitions."

That "more than anxiety" has prevalence over the country equally with respect to the eighteenth amendment and concerns its essence as well as its application, and it is revealing itself in public action. It would be contrary to all precedence in history if the excesses of prohibition could continue indefinitely without bringing first a passive and then an active resistance. The wave of fanaticism must reach its crest, break and recede. Five or six years ago it would have been incredible that a man of high standing in government, being a candidate for high office, would declare for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment as for the elimination of a cause of evil. Dwight Morrow has done so as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States senate in New Jersey.

Five or six years ago it would not have been thought possible that the lobbies of prohibitionists and political clerics in Washington would be subjected to any sort of inquisition in congress for an explanation of their acts, their expenditures, and their purposes, with a revelation of their evasion of law, their fanatic attacks upon character and their methods of control.

The conduct of Bishop James Cannon Jr. has been impeached by laymen in his own church organization and, although his ecclesiastical peers exculpated him, his lay and clerical accusers are not satisfied or stilled. The Washington state Republican convention has run away from Senator Wesley Jones and his dogma of vindictive penalties and has declared against the Volstead act.

The best qualities of citizenship in the United States are standing up against the iniquities which the experiment under the eighteenth amendment has brought in its wake. The recession from bigotry has begun.

THE SUPREME COURT ELECTION IN THE FOURTH DISTRICT.

The Fourth Illinois Supreme court district elects a Supreme court justice today to fill a vacancy. The term is that of former Judge Floyd E. Thompson, who resigned to make the campaign as Democratic nominee for governor. Cyrus E. Dietz, who was elected to the vacancy, died in office last year. Paul Samuell of Jacksonville was appointed by Gov. Emmerson until an election could be held in the district. He is now the Republican candidate nominated by the district convention.

The Democratic convention chose County Judge Warren Orr of Carthage, who was a candidate two years ago for the vacancy. Both candidates in this election are regarded as qualified in character and in knowledge of law, but Justice Samuell has the advantage of being at present in the court. He has had the opportunity to demonstrate his judicial fitness and the voters would be wise to continue him on the bench. As between qualified candidates, this consideration often can be decisive, and in this case it is sufficient reason for the election of Justice Samuell. His judicial capacity and temperament have been indicated in the discharge of judicial duties.

CONSCIENCE AND CITIZENSHIP.

Douglas Clyde MacIntosh, professor of theology at Yale, is one of several applicants for citizenship whose papers have not been granted because of certain qualifications they seek to attach to the obligations they would assume. Mme. Rosika Schwimmer is another. They have sought to avoid an unconditional pledge to bear arms in defense of the country. In fact, they would not be allowed to do so in any conceivable circumstances. The petitioners are asked to accept a principle. They ask the country to void one. The effort to get citizenship upon these terms is persistent. The case of Dr. MacIntosh recently was argued before the federal Court of Appeals in New York.

The arguments afford their amusements, if the sincerity of the pleas may be conceded. The theory of conscientious objection thus demanding respect assumes that it proceeds out of a qualified judgment upon the issues which have made the war. The objector withdraws from part in it because he cannot reconcile it to his conscience. It is different with the objectors whose theory of life and morality and whose religious creed impose nonresistance. No selective principle enters there. The objector asserts that he would rather be miserable in defeat than comfortable in victory. He prefers to be under the heel rather than to use it.

That is another question. The one in point is the right of private judgment to determine whether the defense of country, which is the execution of decisions by force, is moral or not moral in any given instance. The counter question is how that impressive and unerring private judgment is to be arrived at. A hundred years after a war it is next to impossible to pass on its morality. Its material consequences can be appraised. They may be judged beneficial or otherwise, but the moral right or wrong remains as illusive afterwards as it was in the turmoil. It is an interesting egotism which can find a clear morality against his country when it has staked its well-being to the decision of force.

If wars and their causes were that simple they wouldn't be fought except by primitive people who have no other amusement. A conscientious objector who assumes his ability to give his conscience anything to work with is a very silly person. The more scrupulous thing would be not to seek citizenship. That would be more of an exercise of conscience than the attempt to obtain exemptions which in their very nature cannot be universal. The really conscientious person would say that if he could not accept all the obligations which a country asks him to assume he would not apply for the benefits he thinks may come to him from this citizenship.

TREES DOWNTOWN.

Wherever trees will live along our boulevards they should be planted. A green rank of them standing along Michigan boulevard from Randolph street to Roosevelt road would be worth many a pretentious marble or bronze ugliness that now marks our public places in misdirected efforts to make them beautiful. A great tree, even at the cost of special care and treatment to maintain its life on city soil, is worth more than most other monuments. It is nature's monument.

The city has too much stone and steel for graceful living, and more stone and metal monuments only increase the disproportion. Some of them are beautiful. The St. Gauden's Lincoln, the Mestrovic horses, the Borglum Sheridan, the Taft Great Lakes fountain could not be spared, but many others would be better in the form of growing trees. More woods and waters in the great town, even in small units, will make the city worth living in.

Editorial of the Day

POWERFUL PUBLICITY.

[Baltimore Sun.]

Truth as well as expediency probably dictate the general conclusion that the anti-foreign speeches with which Mussolini electrifies his Black Shirts are to be taken as nothing more serious than what the experts call appetite copy in Il Duce's self-advertising campaign. Such shows as the frenzied demonstration at Milan buck him up no end. It would be silly, however, to dismiss this belligerency as of no consequence. Mussolini may have no intention more sinister than to express patriotism in imaginative language, but the hotheads who shrieked "Down with France!" have more concrete conceptions.

More interesting than its international possibilities are the domestic consequences of all this fustian. The tragedy of whole generations being taught and drilled to believe that Italy is surrounded by implacable enemies, that her only hope is to recapture the vicious virtues of the ancient empire, and that all other peoples are contemptible weaklings, lies less in the dangers to Italy's neighbors than to herself. The most melodramatic dreams have to end eventually, and when, after a decade of spying and persecution at home and brave words tossed across the borders, the young Fascist finds that he must still go on cultivating lemons and braiding straw hats just as if Julius Caesar had never conquered Gaul, how is he to be prepared for the shock?

CONTROLLING THE MOSQUITO.

Mosquito control along the Indian river in Florida has long been recognized as a difficult problem. The offending mosquitoes spread neither malaria nor yellow fever, but they are very annoying and they drive tourists away. The railroads find their track men cannot do a good day's work because of the mosquitoes, and industry and fruit growing are hampered. The residents are made uncomfortable in their homes.

It is the marsh mosquito which causes them trouble and this insect travels five to twenty miles from her hatching place before her life comes to an end. The problem of prevention is, therefore, far more difficult than is the case with the house breeding yellow fever mosquito or the short flighted malaria mosquito.

The city of Fort Pierce seems to have solved the greater part of the problem. The method consists in digging plenty of ditches. These are not so much to drain the land as they are to let minnows have access to the mosquito larvæ and to permit the tide waters to scour out the stagnant less salt waters as they rise and fall. The ditches are rather simple and inexpensive and they do not have much fall. They are so built that the incoming tide can flow freely in and the land can drain out well at low tide. What is more important still, they permit fish to come in as the water rises and to get about in those places which reek with mosquito eggs and wiggletails.

Fort Pierce has dug more than one hundred miles of such ditches at a cost of about five hundred and fifty dollars per mile. This per mile sum includes both the cost of digging the ditch in the first place and keeping it free from obstructions thereafter, at least for the few years the work has been under way.

Some of the ditching is done with dynamite, some with ditching machines, and some with spade and shovel. In consequence of what has been done it is reported that the trade in mosquito repellents has diminished greatly, nor do the stores now sell much soothing lotion. The trade in spray guns and in screens has fallen off. The people are satisfied. There are no reports as to whether men are doing a better day's work. Because of the long range of flight of this group of mosquitoes many miles of ditching will be required for perfect results.

BATHING A YOUNG BABY.

A. B. C. writes: I read recently the report of Mrs. C. S. relating to the bathing of her baby, and I venture to suggest that she give the baby a sponge bath instead of immersing her in the water, as being less of a shock to a little baby and is quite as cleansing, wetting, drying and covering a small portion of the body at a time and as fast as possible. This is the method I used with my own six children, being taught by an excellent nurse.

F. R. writes:

2. Are they fattening?
3. Are eggs beneficial?
4. Are they fattening?
5. Of what benefit is chicken?

REPLY.

1. Yes, as a rule.
2. One can eat only a few at a time.
3. Yes, as a rule.
4. Same as 2.
5. Chicken is a good protein food.

MAY HAVE HAY FEVER.

M. D. writes: I catch colds very often. In fact, I wake up every morning with a fresh one. It seems to affect my eyes, making them very itchy and inflamed and sometimes a small red lump, like a pimple, appears either on the upper or lower part of the eye. Do you think it serious or should I just use boric acid and forget about it?

REPLY.

My guess is that you have hay fever and that you should govern yourself accordingly.

B. A. writes:

2. Is there a pamphlet on goitre?

REPLY.

1. Write to the children's bureau, department of labor, Washington, D. C., for "Prenatal Care."
2. I don't know of any.

START OVER AGAIN.

Park Ridge, Ill., May 26.—[Friend of the People.]—I am of German birth and during the late war although I had only my first papers I did not claim exemption from military service. I served for six months and was then discharged for alienage. The discharge was a green one and I was not recommended for further military service for the U. S. Am I entitled to my second papers?
C. U.

A soldier of the world war who was discharged from military service because of alienage may not be naturalized by reason of his army service, but must apply under the general naturalization law; that is, file a declaration of intention and two years thereafter apply for naturalization.
FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,

TRANSFER OF OIL LEASE.

Western Springs, Ill., May 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A makes oil lease on 100 acres to B, retaining one-eighth royalty. A sells land together with his one-eighth royalty to C, subject to oil lease. Lease to B expires. What becomes of the seven-eighth oil interest in lapsed lease? Does it revert back to A, original owner, or follow the fee to C.?

Yes, it does, under the Illinois law. We strongly advise you to employ an attorney in the drafting and execution of so important a document.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

parents, friends, the moment draws nigh for us to quit these classic halls and go forth into the great wide, wide world in order to grab it by the ears and make the damn thing sit up and say, "Uncle, let us think things over for a moment and then hop to it." 'Tis June, the loveliest month in all the year, as far the seasons are concerned—the month of rustling leaves and soft, deep shade and sunshine, blue skies and rippling wavelets, to say nothing of the moon. It's a grand month, classmates, to say farewell to our teachers, kind and true (the poor fish did the best they knew how), but it's a rotten month and time in which to sell bonds.

Dear teachers, the class of 1930 bid you a last fond, lingering farewell. Which goes for everybody except the dean. We hope he sticks his snoopy nose into something good and hot sometime that will make him jump ten feet straight up. Farewell, dear teachers, we feel that we know much more than we did when we came to our beloved college four years ago. And some of us know a lot of things, dear teachers, that you don't know. Think of that. And we sincerely trust that you will not find 'em out until we have made our getaway from this place and hidden our diplomas in some good safe place. Then try and get 'em. You have taught us, dear teachers, all about geology, astronomy, psychology, and geometry. Just how those things are going to help us in persuading some poor simp to buy stock in the Indestructible Doughnut Company we do not know; but we'll probably find out.

Anyway, we've got our frat pins; that's what a lot of us came to college for; and we should worry. As we go out into the world we shall carry with us always the memory of your unselfish and untiring efforts in our behalf (sez you), but whether we kick in with contributions for the new stadium, as you so fondly hope, is something else again. Anyhow, old dears, cheerio, and good luck. And now, classmates, we will shed the traditional tears, unless you forgot to tuck a slice of onion in your hankies. All together! Tears! And now, look out, world—HERE WE COME!

BIKKURIM.

In temple days a line of pilgrims moved, dividing blue of heaven from russet sod.
Gravely, into the sunlit House of God each bare his burden, each his ardour proved.

"Accept, oh Lord, these first fruits of our toil, this willing testimony of our care.
With Him we love, with Him we gladly share rich grape and pomegranate, grain and oil!"

And so to You I bring like offering—
My love—a first fruit seasonable and sweet.
Unto the distant temple of Your heart safely I carry it. But hold apart, do not confuse this fragrant proffering with any other that is less complete.

DAVIDA.

THE BAN on rum in Canada has gone into effect. The export of liquor into the United States is now an illegal thing and no more hootch will come across the border. Oh, no, indeed; not a drop. Now you tell one.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD the Clarence club says they have stood all the slurs imaginable against their name without a murmur, but that Dr. Clarence True Wilson is too much; he's got to drop the Clarence part of his name in justice to the rest of the club. And Dr. Van Dyke refuses to permit Dr. Wilson the use of the word "True" in his name, and so after this it looks as though his name would be just Wilson, that's all!

If a Thing Is Worth Doing at All It Is Worth Doing Well. (Bromide 774.)

Every time we decide to buy a motor some new thing bobs up to discourage us. We came downtown t'other day in a taxi and a fat man weaving unsteadily behind the wheel of another car brushed our fenders. He stopped his car and staggered over to our taxi and cussed our driver something awful. "Do you mind if I tell that guy a few things?" asked our driver, politely. We told him to go right ahead, as far as we're concerned, and got out our notebook hurriedly to catch a few new choice words. But we grew so enthralled with the vivid imagery, the picturesqueness, the dash and verve of our taxi driver's language that we forgot to put any of it down. And if we should buy a motor and some intoxicated person should barge into us and then get out of his car and come over and slang us we couldn't begin to do justice to the occasion. So we just won't buy a car yet. We don't speak the language.

HEY! HEY! Doc Fanny Butcher says the public is getting "book minded." The populace has been madly struggling to get air minded, motor minded, prohibition minded, anti-prohibition minded, stock market minded, radio minded, squawkie minded, sport minded, and now book minded. And it's still got to get new tariff minded and naval treaty minded. Oh, well, we'll be through with all this "minded" thing after awhile, and then we can all go to sleep.

THE UNRUFFLED.

Sorrow never stilled a singer's voice,
Pain never stopped the feet of those who sought
Beyond the ramparts of the here and now
The beauty of a dream that can't be bought.

Derision never irked a poet's soul,
He knows that life is short and art is long,
And all the laughter of a callous world
Can take no jot of beauty from his song!

PROHIBITION

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 2, 1865.

NEW YORK.—The Washington Republican says: "We have reason to believe that the government is in possession of a letter written by Jeff Davis the day after the Sherman-Johnston armistice was signed, in which Davis declares that, while it does not grant all he would have liked, yet that it was conceding more than he had any reason to expect; that in his judgment it acknowledged the rebel government and gave them authority to continue that government in the late rebellious states, to which the rebel soldiers were severally allowed to return and deposit their arms. Out of this recognition he expressed the opinion the United States could be made to pay the rebel debt."

CHICAGO.—Baxter W. Ruby of De Kalb, Ill., and Miss Sarah M. Overton of Sandwich, Ill., were married at Sandwich on June 1 by the Rev. G. H. Robertson.

CINCINNATI.—The wife of Gen. John C. Breckinridge, the self-exiled traitor, arrived here from Washington by permission of President Johnson, to visit relatives in Kentucky.

WASHINGTON.—Public offices and all places of business were closed today in observance of the day of national humiliation and prayer as a result of President Lincoln's assassination. A Sabbath quiet prevailed and churches were well attended. The observance was general throughout the north. In Boston the public commemoration was one of the most imposing demonstrations that has ever taken place in the city. Charles Sumner delivered a eulogy of the deceased President and the services closed with the singing of a hymn written by O. W. Holmes.

CAIRO.—It develops that the surrender of Kirby Smith's army, the last formal surrender of the rebellion, was directed by Lieut. Gen. S. B. Buckner, C. S. A. He is the same man who made the first surrender of importance in the war, that of Fort Donelson to Gen. Grant in February, 1862. Thus Gen. Buckner has been the Alpha and Omega of the downfall of the confederacy.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 2, 1900.

CHICAGO.—Certain Chicago aldermen already have asked a price for the passage of the track elevation ordinance which comes before the council next Monday night. The price was $500,000. The proposition was made to an official of one of the railroads interested and he told the boodlers they wouldn't get even 5 cents. He opened the door and asked them to get out. They did. This statement is made on the authority of the Rev. Father Patrick M. Flannigan of St. Anne's parish. He declined to give names, but said he would tell them if such a step became necessary to save the ordinance from defeat.

SHANGHAI.—The detachment of more than 300 international bluejackets sent to Peking as a result of the "Boxer" troubles has arrived at that city. Twenty-three warships are now at Taku—nine Russian, three British, three German, three French, two American, two Japanese, and one Italian. In addition, Russia has on board her ships 11,000 troops from Port Arthur and 14,000 Russian troops are held in readiness at Port Arthur.

CHICAGO.—Miss Fredrica Shumway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Shumway, 4549 Ellis avenue, and Solomon Smith will be married this afternoon at the Kenwood Evangelical church by the Rev. Dr. J. G. K. McClure, president of Lake Forest college.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 2, 1920.

WASHINGTON.—Another hope of the "wet" antagonists of national prohibition went glimmering when the United States Supreme court decided that ratification of a constitutional amendment is not subject to submission to a popular referendum. Ratification by a legislature of the 18th amendment cannot be revoked by a vote of the people on submission of the legislature's action, the court ruled. The case went up from Ohio, which was the 36th state to ratify the amendment. Subsequently Ohio, in a referendum, voted against ratification of the amendment.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

THE PRICE OF BOOKS.

Chicago, May 29.—As a lover of books and as one of the many thousands who are unable to purchase many due to the exorbitant prices demanded for them I wish to correct some of the misleading statements made in a letter published in your column from Mr. Simons on May 28.

The writer states that books cannot be made up for 25 cents a copy unless the edition runs over 100,000 copies. May I not suggest that a nation of over one hundred and twenty-five million people should be well able to absorb this amount and would gladly do so were the price within the range of the average purse. Proof of the willingness of the public to pay a fair price for their reading material is found in the fact that rental libraries everywhere are finding a ready outlet for their books at rentals of from 25 to 75 cents per week. I might also mention the fact that in Europe, where books are sold at prices far lower than in this country, the public is far better read and very large editions are not at all uncommon.

Mr. Simons further states that "the greater portion of the 7,000 books published annually is pure trash; however, the public is well able to discern which of those books is worth while." If the public can do this, surely the publishers should be able to tell, and in this way confine their efforts to fewer books and far larger editions, thus bringing down their costs. I, also, should dislike to see America revert to the dime novel, but at the same time can readily see that many books now being sold at $2.50 are nothing but dime novels at a too high price.

In conclusion, may I not suggest that the publishing business has a public duty outside of being a purely commercial endeavor? Almost none of the world's great books has ever brought its author any great financial return. The great writer writes because he is inspired, not with his eye on the cash register, and the publishing concern owes it to the public to bring costs down to such an extent that every sincere reader can afford to own those books which he is now compelled to rent.
MARK B. PERLMUTTER.

COMPARATIVE COSTS.

Chicago, May 28.—William Ray Donald's letter of May 23 expresses a fear of a raise in transportation fares.

Let him pick up a telephone and drop a nickel and talk across the city for five minutes; then estimate how much current it took and the wear and tear on equipment, etc., used, the price of telephone common stock, dividends it pays, how rich the original investor became in this stock, the company's franchise, and the share paid to the city, and the competition the company must meet, as compared with the following:

A ride across the city costs but seven cents at present. Compare how much current it took to carry you across and how long, wear on equipment, delays, track and street repairs, and also the price of Chicago City Railways common stock on the Chicago exchange.

Twenty cents a day is only interest value on a medium priced automobile. If the fare were doubled you would be getting a bargain. Give the traction company a chance. It is vital to the welfare of the city.
HARRY L. ALBRECHT.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS.

Chicago, May 28.—There is a bill before the legislature providing for a charge of 1 per cent to be paid on all delinquent special assessments returned to the county, to cover cost of collection. As a matter of fact, when the assessment is levied a charge of 5 per cent of the cost of the improvement is added to pay for "the lawful expenses attending the making of the improvement, deficiency in interest, with the cost of making, levying and collecting the assessment, not to exceed 5 per cent."

This matter should be given wide publicity so that tax payers may have an opportunity to call on their representatives to defeat the measure.
A. T. P.

DARK STREETS.

Chicago, May 27.—Is there any reason the city of Chicago can offer as to why the district between Montrose and Central Park avenues to Central Park and Leland should be unlit? Is there any reason why a woman who lives in this unlit area should be obliged to walk at the hour of 9:30 p. m. or at any time of the night in complete darkness, an easy prey for morons, robbers, and murderers?

The much overdone expression "lack of funds" is used. Surely there is some other means of cutting expenses without jeopardizing the lives of men and women and giving the uncontrolled crime situation in Chicago more advantages to rob, rape, and kill.
ROSE LOUISE FLEISCHER.

RATIFICATION.

Mattoon, Ill., May 27.—In your editorial, "The Republican Party Under Prohibition," you say that three states "never consented to the 18th amendment—Connecticut, New Jersey, and Rhode Island. You are only two-thirds right on that, for New Jersey did ratify the 18th amendment. This left but two states against 46. No other amendment to the constitution had so many states to ratify it.
ARTHUR ANDERSON.

THE MORROW PLAN.

Chicago, May 27.—When the Morrow plan is in force an army will not be necessary for keeping bootleggers out of dry states, because poor markets for liquor will do this automatically. I suppose, of course, that these states shall be really and honestly dry. A state should not claim to be dry if her people drink.

Before prohibition Van Buren county, Michigan, was dry by local option and Ottawa county, about twenty miles north, was wet, but no friction was caused by Ottawa nor army necessary for Van Buren.
R. K.

GOLFING VANDALS.

Chicago, May 28.—This morning while crossing the Midway I saw some unsightly black patches where the grass had been torn away. Having seen would-be golfers practice here at times, I suppose these ugly black spots are caused by unskilled strokes with a golf club; that is, by novices who dig up a little more turf than is essential to a good shot in golf. The Midway may be an excellent place to practice. Surely, though, it would be more fitting for these amateurs to practice elsewhere than to mar the "ocean green of the Midway."

BENEFIT SEEN FOR REALTY IN NEW CAR PLAN

Iversen Predicts Great Increase in Values.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

S. Charles Iversen, former president of the Chicago Real Estate Board and present chairman of its local transportation committee, depicted yesterday the benefits which the new transit program to be voted upon July 1 will confer upon real estate, in his opinion.

"The dominant rôle that transportation has played in the traceable increases in real estate values and the development of cities are solid facts," said Mr. Iversen. "While any estimate must be the vaguest approximation, it was reckoned in a recent survey that one and a third billion dollars in values will be added to real estate by an adequate rapid transit system for Chicago. Undoubtedly the benefits would be enormous."

Tells History in New York.

"The growth of the city follows the transportation lines. In New York the subway stretched the shopping district, originally at Chambers street, to Grand street and then to 14th street, later to 34th street and on to 42d street and then to 57th street. Jobbing, wholesale and manufacturing districts followed the retail sections. Groups of small banks, shops, restaurants and theaters grew up about the subway stations.

"In that city, and undoubtedly the same would be true in Chicago, the impetus of land values came immediately upon the announcement that the increased transportation service was assured. It grew rapidly when construction was definitely begun. After a time values were stabilized, rising again when business development in a district had turned the speculative prices previously attained into real economic value.

Makes General Improvement.

"The building that will follow in the wake of these transportation improvements will itself be a factor in further increasing property values and, of course, the millions to be spent for actual construction of the transit lines, together with those for the buildings that will follow, will be the greatest step that could be taken to add to the city's prosperity. This prosperity will be reflected not only in an increasing real estate market but a general improvement of all business conditions."

Referring to Chicago directly, Mr. Iversen went on:

"Following the building of the first elevated line in Chicago, land for a quarter to a half mile on each side took a spectacular rise and was quickly sold for homes, apartments and business houses, values in the Wilson avenue district have been increased eight-fold in 24 years. In Rogers Park it has been eight-fold in 16 years, and in the Ravenswood area fourteen-fold in 16 years."

Building Counsel Backs Plan.

J. J. Conroy, secretary of the Building Trades council, said that his organization had voted unaminous for the ordinance.

"Delegates were instructed to do all in their power to obtain its approval at the referendum," he said. "We feel that not only will the approval of the ordinance furnish work directly through the large construction program of the elevated, surface and subway lines, but that it will mark the beginning of a general building boom which will not only benefit the building trades but every business and individual."

Labor Leader for Ordinance.

Miss Mary McInerney, vice president of the Illinois Federation of Labor and president of the Bindery Women's union of about 1,000 members, has written Ald. Joseph B. McDonough her indorsement of the ordinance. She wrote:

"The members of the union I represent, and I believe organized workers generally throughout the city, are solidly behind the ordinance, because it will give them the transportation service they have long wished for. The ordinance has a humane provision for a service annuity system to care for the aged and incapacitated employés."

The opponents of the ordinance have been campaigning for about a week, while the advocates have not yet completed the frame work of their organization.

LOBBY INQUIRY BEYOND RIGHTS, CANNON'S VIEW

Thus Defends Failure to Report Funds.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr. of Methodist Episcopal church, South, in a statement today, defended his failure to report 1928 campaign expenditures of the Virginia anti-Smith Democrats and questioned the propriety of the senate lobby committee's inquiry into those expenditures.

Quotes from Record.

Cannon quoted from the record of the committee hearings a statement by Chairman Caraway to Representative Tinkham [Rep., Mass.] that the lobby committee was "not empowered to inquire into political expenditures; it is only those expenditures and activities that have to do with the influencing of legislation or executive action that we are inquiring into, and not political."

"In view of this correct definition of the limitations of the lobbying committee," said Bishop Cannon, "by the chairman himself, I was surprised when I learned that Senator Caraway was making inquiries concerning the treasurer of the Virginia anti-Smith Democrats in the 'political' (not lobbying) campaign of 1928."

Examines Federal Act.

Bishop Cannon, who Tuesday is to appear before the committee for questioning, said he had, immediately upon returning to Washington from Dallas, made an examination of the federal corrupt practices act to verify the statement that a committee operating in only one state was not required to report.

"Not only is such a report not required," he said, "but upon a thorough examination of all the reports in the offices of the clerk of the house of representatives, I found that it has never been customary for state committees—Democratic, Republican or otherwise—to make such reports."

OWEN J. ROBERTS TO TAKE SEAT TODAY IN U. S. SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., June 1.—(AP)—Justice Owen J. Roberts will take his seat in the Supreme court tomorrow to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Sanford.

Confirmed without a roll call and after Judge John J. Parker had been rejected by the senate, the new justice is to take the constitutional oath in the robing room surrounded by his associates on the bench before falling in at the rear of the line in which the court enters the courtroom.

Justice Roberts, accompanied by Mrs. Roberts and their daughter is expected to come from Philadelphia by motor and places have been reserved in the court room for his immediate family and a large number of friends who will be present when he ascends the bench. Aside from informing himself on a large number of petitions for review which will be filed during the summer recess, Justice Roberts will not be called upon to sit in the argument and decision of cases until the court begins its next term in October.

CANDIDATES EYE PUBLIC REACTION TO PROHIBITION

Mont.], a candidate for reëlection, made a similar announcement. Senators Tasker Oddie [Rep., Nev.] and James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.] also have come out for a prohibitioan referendum.

Watch New York Convention.

Of national interest will be the attitude on prohibition adopted by both the Republican and Democratic parties in New York in the autumn. Gov. Franklin Roosevelt is to be a candidate for reëlection and it happens that he is looming as a potential Democratic presidential candidate.

Inasmuch as he is unopposed for renomination, Roosevelt and his supporters will control the convention and the platform will be shaped to conform to his wishes. It will be regarded by the politicians as the platform on which Roosevelt will make his bid for the presidency.

There will be a spectacular fight in the New York Republican convention on the prohibition plank. The demand for a declaration in favor of repeal of the eighteenth amendment is developing vast proportions.

Massachusetts will be the scene of a lively contest over prohibition. Former Senator William M. Butler is seeking the Republican nomination for the senate as a dry, opposed by Eben Draper, wet. The Democratic candidate will be wet. Massachusetts was carried by Al Smith.

Walford, Ia., April 1.—A dynamite blast on a new roadway near here yesterday hurled a rock weighing 50 pounds a quarter of a mile to the home of Wesley Womochil, where it crashed through the roof, passing through the pantry, where two children were playing. The children escaped injury.

PREDICT SHUFFLE OF MAC DONALD CABINET TODAY

Change Would Fall on the King's Birthday.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 1.—An article in tomorrow's Daily Herald, Labor party newspaper, intimates that the predicted shuffle of the Labor cabinet will take place immediately and will be announced tomorrow. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's announcement will thus fall on the same day as King George's birthday, always the occasion for a list of royal honors.

This was probably deemed a suitable time for the changes since the elevation to the house of lords of Maj. C. R. Attlee, a member of the Simon commission on India, is predicted. Maj. Attlee recently succeeded to Sir Oswald Mosley as chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster.

New Job for Thomas.

Most important among the proposed changes is the removal of J. H. Thomas from the ministry of unemployment, where his handling of the jobless crisis has caused wide dissatisfaction, especially among the rank and file of the trade union groups.

The Herald predicts that the post of secretary of dominions and colonies held by Lord Passfield, the former Sidney Webb, will be divided, with Mr. Thomas taking charge of the dominions. Mr. Thomas' position of lord privy seal will probably go to Vernon Hartshorn, a member of the Simon commission on India, and he is also slated to become minister of unemployment. Some of the thanklessness of this post may be removed if, as is generally considered, the whole problem is turned over to the care of a committee.

New Miners' Minister.

Emanuel Shinwell, financial secretary of the war office, according to the Herald, will succeed Ben Turner as minister of mines. Mr. Shinwell's post will be given to either Rhys John Davies or Harry Snell.

The urgent need for strengthening the present Labor cabinet is admitted by the Laborite organ. Mr. MacDonald is spending the week-end at Chequers, talking over the situation with Labor peers, including Lord Arnold, paymaster general.

U.S. YOUTHS DRIVE TO NICARAGUA IN LIGHT ROADSTER

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, June 1.—(AP)—Two young Americans today completed what is believed to be the first automobile trip from New York to Managua, using a light roadster to travel the 4,562 miles in 26 days of actual driving time.

The young men are Arthur and Joseph Lyons, brothers of Winnemucca, Nev., aged 21 and 25, respectively. They left New York March 22, camping out every night, traveling unarmed and experiencing no trouble on the road through Mexico, Salvador, Honduras, and Nicaragua.

The youths carried only the usual tourist papers and passports, and commended the hospitality of officials in the countries through which they passed. Their small roadster made the trip on the same set of five tires, with only two punctures. The car was in good condition when they arrived, but they sold it here and will return to the United States by steamer.

Four Railways Cut Time to Pacific Northwest by Hour

Crack trains of four railroads yesterday put into effect revised schedules which will result in cutting down by one hour the running time between Chicago and the Pacific northwest. The trains are the North Coast limited of the Northern Pacific; the Olympian of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific; the Empire Builder of the Great Northern, and the Portland limited of the Chicago and North Western-Union Pacific. The starting time of the trains from Chicago remains unchanged.

SAVED IN STORM

NANCY CARROLL.

Boston, Mass., June 1.—(AP)—A thriller in real life nearly ended the career of Nancy Carroll, screen star, today when the 38 foot motor yacht Katherine II., aboard which she was a guest, all but foundered in a stiff gale off Minots light.

The movie actress and her husband, Jack Kirkland, and thirteen companions were tossed about by heavy seas and a high wind for hours before aid finally came in the form of a fishing schooner, the Jackson Arthur.

Bedraggled and ill, Miss Carroll and the others were landed tonight, still shaky and frightened.

SLAYER TAKEN TO WAUPUN.

Phillips, Wis., June 1.—[Special.]—Paul Stempel, slayer of Albert Sewall, was taken to the state prison at Waupun today in an auto by Jailer Robert Pollard and Robert Jakoubek, who was deputized for this trip.

PREDICT VICTORY FOR SAMUELL IN ELECTION TODAY

A note of optimism by backers of Justice Paul Samuell of Jacksonville in the race for Illinois Supreme court justice in the Fourth district was evident in dispatches yesterday. The claim was made that Judge Samuell would score an easy victory over Judge Warren Orr of Carthage, Democratic candidate. The election will be held today.

The nominees are contestants for the Supreme court place occupied by Cyrus E. Dietz, who died last year after having been elected only the year before to fill the unexpired term of Floyd E. Thompson, who resigned to run for governor. Gov. Emmerson appointed Judge Samuell to the vacancy.

The largest counties in the district are Republican in normal times and the reports were that, with no other offices to be filled, the regular Republican vote will assure the election for Judge Samuell, the Republican candidate.

TWO POLICEMEN KILLED HUNTING HIT-RUN DRIVER

3 Booze Runner Suspects Open Fire from Auto.

Detroit, Mich., June 1.—[Special.]—Two Grosse Pointe Park policemen, searching for a hit and run driver, who had fractured a woman's skull a short time previously, were shot and killed early today. Their assailants were three men, said to have been rum runners. They fired from the car by which, police think, the woman had been knocked down.

The police theory is that the three assailants were awaiting the arrival of a load of liquor from Canada. The district where the shooting occurred is known as a rendezvous for bootleggers and their assistants, who convoy loads of liquor brought in from boats.

Both Shot to Death.

Given the license number of the hit and run car, the two officers—Edward Mayers, 28 years old, of Grosse Pointe, and Claude Lanstra, 24, St. Clair Shores, began a search. They saw a car similar to the coupe being hunted. Lanstra, driving the police car, stopped while Mayers jumped out and approached the coupe. Three revolvers were fired and Mayers was shot through the head. The men then turned their fire on Lanstra, at the wheel of the scout car. He was struck by four bullets, three in the head and one below the heart.

Three Are Arrested.

Detroit police were summoned to assist the Groose Pointe officers and within two hours three arrests were made. These were of Frank Mercurio, 24, and his father, Samuel, and Frank Salanone.

The arrest of the two Mercurios came when detectives of the Italian squad located a bullet riddled coupe in the garage at the men's home address.

HUNT LEADERS OF OKLAHOMA MOB THAT SLEW NEGRO

Chickasha, Okla., June 1.—(AP)—Directed by Gov. W. J. Holloway to prosecute leaders of a mob which Friday night stormed the Grady county jail here and fatally injured Henry Argo, Negro accused of attacking a white woman, Attorney General J. Berry King arrived here today and started an investigation.

G. W. Skinner, husband of the woman the Negro was alleged to have attacked, and several other members of the mob arrested yesterday were released without bond.

Possibility that the federal authorities may take a hand in the prosecutions was intimated tonight by Attorney General King, who said an army truck had been virtually destroyed by the mob.

ALL INDIA JOINS GANDHI'S REVOLT TO WIN FREEDOM

Natives Cast Racial and Religious Hates Aside.

caste girls between 15 and 20, all finely dressed. Their purpose is to carry out the campaign at the temples, where untouchables have been heretofore barred from worship. The high caste girls planned to call such outcasts as wish to worship into the temples.

A notable scene at the stations en route to Baroda were the welcome committees, which consisted of high caste men and women singing a revised new national anthem, which replaces words of "God Save the King" with "God Save Gandhi" and "God Save India." But the tune was not new.

100 HURT IN SALT RAID

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, June 1.—In a scorching heat, Gandhi followers today staged what was heralded as their final salt raid. Fifteen thousand raiders and spectators swarmed about the government plant at Wadala, near Bombay, broke through police lines, and seized salt. More than 100 were wounded, including police officers.

At 7 a. m. about 3,000 raiders were on hand. This number was swelled by 12,000 more by noon, and it was hard to tell raiders from spectators.

At the wire barricades 600 policemen, armed with bamboo sticks, vainly tried to beat back the yelling hordes. Military aid was called and a detachment of Sepoys was rushed to the scene in motor lorries.

Moslems Lead First Attack.

Moslems led the first attack and were driven off by wallops from police sticks, while spectators stoned police. Women under the leadership of Mrs. Munshi led the second march, while only men participated in the following attacks. By 3 p. m. troops and police had quelled the raiders, leaving only the stretcher bearers carrying off the wounded. It is estimated that 1,000 reached the salt piles. Yelling triumphantly, they carried off salt in handkerchiefs.

Troops Kill 7, Wound 9.

PESHAWAR, India, June 1.—(AP)—Seven persons were reported killed and nine wounded yesterday when police fired on a mob that had formed after the accidental shooting of a mother and her two children. Disorder ceased after the shooting, but business throughout the city suspended.

The shooting of the mother and children was caused by the accidental discharge of a rifle by a lance corporal on duty at Kabuli gate, an official statement said. The children were killed instantly, while the mother, wife of Sardar Ganga Singh, supervisor of the military farm, was taken to the hospital.

They confessed robbing and beating O'Hearn, the policemen said.

EXILE TO 'MARCH ON' BOLIVIA TO TAKE PRESIDENCY

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, June 1.—Abdon Saavedra, vice president of Bolivia, who has been living in exile in Buenos Aires since President Siles deported him two years ago, has announced his intention of returning to La Paz to assume the presidency, as provided by the Bolivian constitution in case of the death or resignation of the president or his abandonment of office. Señor Saavedra says he will complete Dr. Siles' term, which expires Aug. 6 and will call a presidential election. Immediately upon the news of Dr. Siles' resignation, Señor Saavedra telegraphed to the Bolivian cabinet declaring that ministerial exercise of executive power was unconstitutional. He demanded the presidency be turned over to the president of the senate or the president of the chamber of deputies as provided in the constitution, pending his arrival in La Paz to take over the office.

General Rebukes Saavedra.

Hans Kundt, retired German general, who trained and Prussianized the Bolivian army and was recalled from Germany by Dr. Siles to assume the duties of chief of staff during the Chaco war scare, telegraphed to Señor Saaverda that he had been instructed by the cabinet to inform the exiled vice president he was not of sufficient importance to occupy the cabinet's time or attention.

Señor Saavedra then telegraphed Gen. Kundt as follows:

"Siles having abandoned the office, I am president of Bolivia under the constitution. The ministerial attitude constitutes a coup d'état which I refuse to recognize. I order the army, through the intermediary of the chief of staff, to put itself under constitutional orders. Inform the army I am returning to reëstablish legal institutions and convoke presidential elections, for which purpose I order you to supply me with an escort and guarantee my safety."

"Please send orders through the legal channels of the ministry of war," Gen Kundt replied.

Depends on Army's Support.

Señor Saavedra this afternoon said he intended to return to La Paz despite the refusal of the cabinet and the chief of staff to recognize his claim to the presidency. He is depending on the support of 325 army officers, including many of high rank, who recently sent a manifesto to President Siles stating the army would not tolerate his efforts to remain in office after the expiration of his legal term on Aug. 6.

Señor Saavedra declined to say when, or by which route he would return to Bolivia, but he intimated he would have a sufficient following to carry out his purpose when he had entered Bolivia.

Señor Saavedra says the sole reason for his deportation was his refusal to support Dr. Siles' financial policy. Dr. Siles declared his opposition constituted a conspiracy against the national government.

JAPANESE FLEE BEDS IN WORST QUAKE IN YEARS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, June 1.—The severest earthquake in six years which rocked the Kwanto district at 3 o'clock this morning, sent frightened residents of the Tokio and Yokohama vicinity into the streets in night attire. Property damage was reported but no loss of life occurred. Damage was done mainly to gas and water lines, while a landslide occurred on the outskirts of Yokohama.

In towns close to the center of the disturbance, which it is estimated was near Nikko, famous beauty spot noted for its temples, window panes were broken and tiles fell from roofs.

Residents of the Imperial hotel in Tokio ran out in the corridors in nightclothes. Many Tokio residents rushed out into the streets and remained there throughout the night. Electricity and gas was turned off by the city to avoid the possibility of fires. Damage was reported at Mito, where roofs were denuded of tiles and part of the District court building collapsed. At Hodogaya, near Yokohama, about 600 square feet of land slid over an embankment. Tsuchiura, near the Kasumigaura airport, felt the quake severely and small crevices were opened in the ground.

46 YEARS GIVE PRINTER NO CLEW TO TAX PUZZLE

He Points to Climbing of Bills Since 1884.

Taxation like death is always certain, but its ways are far more mysterious. This aphorism was coined yesterday by J. J. Maitre, 68 years old, a linotype machinist, who has been paying taxes on his home at 738 Barry avenue for forty-six years.

Maitre purchased his home in 1884 for $5,000. It is a two story frame house on a 50 foot lot. During the period he has made only necessary repairs. He is a widower, living with his married daughter.

"I used to try to figure out my bills, but it's no use," he said. "We'll always have taxes and there'll be no explaining them. The only thing I do now is shut up and pay my bills. Of course now and then I wonder why they get that way.

His Taxes $23 in 1884.

"Take my first bill in 1884. It was for $22.86 on a valuation of $333. The house was then about six months old and the address was 1622 Dempster street. The bill ran along at that amount, dropping just a little each year. In 1897 the bill was $6.70 on a valuation of $76. The rate was $8.76 4-10 per $100. The only reason the bill was that low, as far as I can figure, is that the name of the street was changed to Barry avenue while the number remained the same."

In 1898 the bill was raised by $26. Mr. Maitre explained that the raise was due to the fact that he painted his house that year. The painting cost him less than his tax bill.

"Along in the beginning of the century we had a reform," Mr. Maitre continued. "The township officers were abolished and the boards of review and assessors were created to give justice in taxes. In 1903 my bill jumped to $62.73 on a valuation of $1,080. The next year the valuation rose to $1,224, and the bill to $76.42."

Little Change in Taxes.

From 1905 to 1907 the valuation remained constant, but the bill varied from $80.71 to $85.81. A drop to $1,060 in valuation in 1908 brought but little change in taxes, the bill being $81.75. The valuation remained about $1,060 until 1914, while bills varied between $84.53 to $90.24.

From 1915 to 1926 the valuation was $2,150, with the exception of a drop to $1,433 in 1918. Among tax bills for these years were $90.24 in 1915; $116.34 in 1919; $169.23 in 1921; $176.53 in 1922; $190.51 in 1924, and $207.29 in 1926.

"In 1927 the bill was $665," Mr. Maitre sighed. "I was getting used to almost anything by that time. I didn't even kick. Then came reform through the reassessment and my latest bill is $354.69. And now they talk of a new reform to abolish the boards of assessors and review.

"I'm not interested one way or the other. The old neighborhood ain't what it used to be. It toook 20 years to build a nice neighborhood. And now we have a lot of flats. People move in and are gone before you can get acquainted. I'm going out to a real neighborhood and wait for more tax bills."

RUSSIAN-GREEK CHURCH HEADS IN POLAND GATHER

WARSAW, June 1.—In the presence of the entire Russian clergy, including Metropolite Dyonius, head of the Russian Greek church in Poland, President Moscicki of Poland today convoked the all-Russian conference to settle existing problems between the church and state. The session is the first since 1791, when the independent Russian church ended its existence in Poland.

The conference was convoked in the presence of the entire Russian clergy of Poland.

Minister of Education Czerwinski delivered the gold engraved decree of convocation in Cathedral church with 1,000 Russians in attendance. Tomorrow a special delegation of high Russian priests will express their gratitude to President Moscicki for protecting the Russian faith and traditions.

HOG HERDS DECREASE.

Madison, Wis., June 1.—(AP)—Wisconsin's 1930 herd of hogs is the smallest since 1910, Walter Ebling, statistician for the department of agriculture and markets, announced. In 1923 there were 2,000,000 head on Wisconsin farms. This year there are 1,331,000. Significant to the farmers are the statistics, inasmuch as hogs yield 11 per cent of his gross yearly income.

SAILOR TRIES TO SWIM ASHORE TO SEE DAD; DROWNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, June 1.—Roy Kelso, 22, traveled 2,000 miles from Little Rock, Ark., to visit his father, William M. Kelso, wealthy coffee planter at David, Panama. He shipped aboard the steamer Dio from New Orleans as a sailor, saying he was tired of working in the oil fields and wanted to visit his father in the tropics. When he arrived he informed dock officials he wanted to get ashore to visit his father, but quarantine officials did not believe him and refused. While the ship was crossing Gatun Lake, young Kelso leaped overboard, intending to swim ashore, but was drowned.

FORD'S PROTEST AGAINST TARIFF DRAWS RETORT

Labor Leader Points to Factory in Ireland.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—Henry Ford's protest against passage of the pending tariff bill brought a caustic reply today from Matthew Woll, president of America's wage earners' protective conference. Ford and other automobile manufacturers have denounced the bill in recent interviews.

Mr. Woll, who is vice president of the American Federation of Labor, as well as head of the protective conference, sent letters to members of congress calling attention to the Ford tractor plant in Ireland and to the desire of the motor car manufacturers to expand their sales abroad. "Additional riches," he said, is Mr. Ford's motive, and "not the relief of his fellow countrymen."

"Ford's protest," Woll asserted, "is another sign of the desperate plight of American capitalists who, with millions of American dollars invested in foreign countries, in order to curry favor with those in control, find it convenient to embarrass their own countrymen in order to safeguard their foreign investments."

Fewer Jobs, He Says.

Woll declared that removal of the Ford tractor factory to Cork, Ireland, removed employment opportunities of from 6,000 to 10,000 workers in Dearborn.

He also stressed the fact that the Irish built tractors enter this country duty free under a treasury ruling that tractors are agricultural implements. Woll declared that this save Ford $150 duty on each tractor.

He said that "during the year 1929 almost 70 per cent of the entire production of Ford's European tractor plant was shipped into America free of any duty."

Discussing the automobile trade in connection with Mr. Ford's attack on the tariff bill, Woll declared that "with the saturation point having been reached in America for automobiles Ford seeks to add additional millions to his holdings by selling their product in foreign countries," adding:

Charges Use of Cheap Labor.

"After having carefully surveyed the foreign markets and realizing the cheapness of foreign labor, Ford either purchased or erected automobile plants for the purpose of supplying the foreign market in foreign countries and, to an increasing extent, the American market."

SURVEY SHOWS MANY EDITORS OPPOSE TARIFF

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—Sentiment among daily newspaper editors is overwhelmingly against the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, according to a poll taken by the North American Review, the results of which were announced today. Three out of every four newspapers replying to the questionnaire are opposed to the bill, the survey shows.

Virtually all of the opposing papers mentioned certain schedules considered burdensome and unfair to the American consumer. The sugar schedule has apparently aroused most opposition, the poll indicated, with wool, lumber, cement, hides, leather and shoes close behind.

The questionnaire was answered by 345 daily papers in all parts of the country, and representing a wide range of political opinion, according to the North American Review.

WANTS FOREIGN COUNTRIES TO PAY GERMAN DEBTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 1.—Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, newspaper magnate and leader of the Nationalist, today tendered the Germans a new solution of their reparations problems. Addressing a demonstration of his followers at Halle he explained his plan to place 50 per cent of the Young plan burden on the banks and foreigners.

"What is to be done about the remaining half we will talk about later," he said.

In addition to existing duties, Dr. Hugenberg proposes a special "reparations levy" on all foreign wares, including raw material, coming into Germany.

"This levy which the foreigner must pay will remain as long as the Young plan exists," he said. "The foreigners cannot cut off our raw material because they need our market. We will return the money coming from the levy to German exporters. The levy will bring the nonsense of the Young plan home to the foreigners."

ONE PRESCRIPTION MADE FAMILY DOCTOR FAMOUS

Seldom has any single act been of greater benefit to mankind than that of Dr. Caldwell in 1885, when he wrote the prescription which has carried his fame to the four corners of the earth.

Over and over, Dr. Caldwell wrote the prescription as he found men, women and children suffering from those common symptoms of constipation, such as coated tongue, bad breath, headaches, gas, nausea, biliousness, no energy, lack of appetite, and similar things.

Demand for this prescription grew so fast, because of the pleasant, quick way it relieved such symptoms of constipation, that by 1888 Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it put up ready for use. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is always ready at any drugstore.

RUSSIANS EVADE LAW; SLIP INTO U.S. BY HUNDREDS

Washington Eases Bars in Hunt for Trade.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, June 1.—Hundreds of communist agitators are slipping into the United States every year, according to the United States consulate here, because of lax control by the American consular authorities. These authorities blame the Hoover administration, which, they say, has withdrawn the bars which formerly prevented soviet citizens easy ingress to America.

Until two years ago, Russians wishing a visa for the United States were obliged to apply at Riga, where the American government maintains a consulate authorized under the immigration laws to handle the Russian quota and whose duty it is to control carefully the type of Russians who go to the United States.

Russians Apply to Berlin.

Recently communist travelers began to apply for visas at the Berlin consulate, which is neither supposed to handle Russian immigration nor equipped to do so. There are some cases on record where the Berlin consulate granted visas to Russians which were refused at Riga. After the exposure of such cases, the control tightened for a short period and Riga passed upon all applications.

At present when a Russian applies to the Berlin consulate, it telegraphs the name and the date of birth to Riga. According to local American officials, such a name as Ivan Smirnovoff, born 1890, is useless and additional information, such as the last place of residence and with what organization the man is connected, is required to investigate him.

Bolsheviks Shun Riga.

During the last year, less than a dozen bolshevik officials have applied at the Riga consulate for visas to enter the United States, according to the consulate here, while several thousand have pased through Berlin. At present between five and ten names, with the dates of birth, are telegraphed to the Riga consulate daily from Berlin, and the case is extremely rare where the local consular authorities dare to refuse a visa on this scanty data, they say.

The majority of these visas are being granted to groups of four or six "engineers or foremen," who exhibit a "commanderovkas"—an assignment—delegating them to study in some American industrial, agricultural or marketing enterprise. Half of these travelers are men between 40 and 50, whom the bolsheviks classify as specialists—survivors of the czarist times—and the remainder are youths of 20 and 21 who are sent to watch the actions of the specialists. A commandervokas, according to the Moscow press, is granted as a reward for faithful service, but is generally obtained through patronage.

Many Students Apply.

The remainder of the visas fall under several categories. Some are for students assigned to American universities by the communist internationale, which supplies funds to organize Lenin clubs and societies, promote friendship for Russia and open communist agitation among American youths.

Another group includes presentable looking communists who look well in a full dress suit, whose assignment is to attend public banquets arranged by pro-bolshevik organizations, giving the members of these societies a chance to view the "real revolutionist," who upon personal contact becomes a harmless, charming individual, whose commanderovkas specifies that he is studying bee keeping or the operation of American state fisheries.

Seek More Trade.

American officials here say Russians are obtaining American visas with less formality than the residents of any other country in northern Europe. This, they say, is due to the American anxiety to obtain more soviet trade.

One delegation of five Russians recently obtained visas at Berlin to study the American market with the idea of selling soviet food products. The urban population of Russia has been standing in line for bread and other necessities for the last twenty months.

American officials in Riga believe a more effective control could be established if the state department adhered to the regulations, which prescribe that the nationals of an unrecognized country, such as Russia, report to the nearest consulate for visas. Through years of study and handling of Russian immigration, the American consulate at Riga has acquired a large archive. Furthermore, American officials here speak Russian and have an intimate knowledge of Russia.

8 WOMEN JOIN RANKS OF LONDON DETECTIVE FORCE

LONDON, June 1.—(AP)—For the first time in the history of England, Scotland Yard today enrolled eight women detectives.

No hard faced women are these. Known as the "Mystery Eight," the women were chosen for their looks, education and knowledge of police work. They will work under Miss Dorothy Peto, who recently joined Scotland Yard as a staff officer for women police.

The women will be assigned to various stations to assist in the general work of crime detection, but at first will be detailed to investigate traffic in women and the peddling of narcotics.

DRINK UP! PARIS PLEADS AS WINE FLOOD STIRS ROW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 1.—France is suffering from a serious overproduction of wine and Premier Tardieu has announced he will submit to parliament a project for nation-wide propaganda to encourage wine consumption in order to settle a bitter conflict between wine growers of southern France and Algeria who, according to estimates, produce 300,000,000 gallons a year.

Great anxiety was felt in Algeria at the passing of a resolution by the chamber of deputies advocating restricting measures on the Algerian import into France and setting a limit of 18 per cent of the total French consumption.

The Algerians, after violent meetings of protest, sent an official delegation to Paris to defend their interests. Since 1830, when the French conquered Algeria, the wine production in that country has been rapidly increasing. Wine was so abundant and cheap in Algeria before the war that certain restaurants served it free with the meals.

PERSHING PLEADS WORLD PEACE IN FLANDERS FIELD

Dedicates First of U. S. Memorial Chapels.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

FLANDERS FIELD CEMETERY, Waereghen, Belgium, June 1.—In dedicating the first of a number of memorial chapels the United States is erecting in European cemeteries to her war dead, Gen. Pershing today invoked hopes for a permanent peace.

"Today the world longs for a definite understanding between peoples," he said. "And all of us who know the meaning of war sincerely hope the effort for peace will continue and that war will be banished from the earth."

In accordance with an annual custom in Flanders, where the people of Waereghen have adopted the habit of holding Memorial day services in the American burial ground as though for their own fallen, today's ceremony was deferred from Friday until today.

13 U. S. Mothers Attend.

Two hundred members of the Brussels American colony, including the American club of Brussels, members of the Brussels post of the American Legion and many Belgian official representatives, motored here for the services. Thirteen gold star mothers, as well as veterans of the 27th New York division, also attended the ceremony and were personally addressed by Gen. Pershing.

"Your presence here today," he said to the women, "casts a sacred and inspiring halo over our ceremony. It was fitting that these noble women should have been offered a trip to the graves of their dead and their pilgrimage here has touched the Belgian people and will have a lasting effect on the relations of the two countries.

"Our country can never repay, but this chapel will commemorate the valor of your sons and these marble headstones will proclaim the righteousness of the cause for which they fought."

The Memorial chapel is in the form of a tower in sandstone and stands in the middle of the cemetery, surrounded by crosses marking 365 graves of American soldiers. On either side of the tomb stand candelabra under which are inscribed the names of 43 soldiers whose resting places are unknown.

Ambassador Hugh Gibson and Belgian officials followed Gen. Pershing in the program and wreaths were laid by Legion members and by Belgian sympathizers.

257 Mothers at Battlefields.

PARIS, June 1.—(AP)—Gold star mothers of the third American group, numbering 257, traveled over the battlefields today, and tonight were in Verdun, Nancy, Chateau Thierry, St. Quentin and Soissons. Tomorrow the mothers will go to the five cemeteries for their first visit with their dead. Meanwhile, the second group has finished its pilgrimage and will sail home Wednesday.

Eat Stewed Grasshoppers, Whale Sausage at Banquet

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 1.—Stewed grasshoppers, whale sausage, and roast ostrich were among the dishes the Zoological Garden authorities spread before 250 gourmets at their annual banquet today. The pièce de résistance was a Japanese specialty—made from the adductor muscles of pearl bearing oysters and from the glands secreting the nacre, which makes pearls.

Jewesses Pray to Become Mothers at Ezra's Tomb

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASRA, Iraq, June 1.—River steamers are crowded with Jewesses flocking today to the reputed tomb of the Jewish prophet, Ezra, 90 miles up the Tigris river. Tomorrow all will pray that they will not be childless. The tomb is covered with a beautiful turquoise dome, with two huge palms leaning over it on each side.

Mr. Jose G. Comas,
121 West, Sangamon Ave.,
c/o Mrs. Cook. Rantoul, Illinois. USA.

Letter received by Jose G. Comas, 121 West Sangamon street, Rantoul, Illinois.

"This letter came from my wife, who is in Matanzas, Cuba," Mr. Comas writes. "Matanzas is a place little known to most people in the United States. The Spanish word from which the name of the city is taken signifies 'killing' or 'massacre.' It has been called that on account of a wholesale killing of the Siboneyes Indians by the Spaniards there about 400 years ago. The Indians were lured into an open place and killed at a given signal."

Matanzas is the capital of the province bearing its name, situated on a deep bay on the north coast about 60 miles east of Havana. Three rivers—the San Juan, Canimar, and Yumuri—empty into the bay, which is two miles wide at its mouth, but nevertheless affords good shelter from all winds except from the northeast.

The city itself is ideally situated at the head of the bay on a sloping plain against a background of wooded hills. The Pan de Matanzas, 1,277 feet high, affords an excellent landmark for seamen. A broad promenade known as the Paseo de Marti extends along the harbor shore. At one end of this is a statue of Ferdinand VII., and at the other one erected to the memory of 63 Xubans executed by the Spanish government as traitors for bearing arms in the fight for independence.

Two of the country's most famous natural health resorts—the valley of the Yumuri and the beautiful limestone caverns of Bellamar—are near Matanzas. The province produces sugar in large quantities, for which the city is the chief exporting center. Other exports include coffee, molasses, tobacco, wax, fruits, and honey. The commercial possibilities of the city were greatly enhanced by the construction of railroads connecting it with Havana, Cardenas and other large cities of the island.

But millions of families are unable to avail themselves of banking facilities. Where can they go for help when they need money?

The Household Plan was developed to enable families in every walk of life to get the money they need quickly, confidentially, and at the lowest possible cost. Under it a family keeping house can make a loan of $100 to $300 without the embarrassment of appealing to friends for money or endorsements. No outside signers are required and no inquiries are made among friends, relatives, or employer.

While all loans are made on the basis of repayment in twenty months, with the privilege of payment in full at any time before that, the terms and conditions of all Household loans are designed to fit the individual situations of the borrowers. The Household Manager in your community will be pleased to give you full details about our Plan and about our rate which saves you nearly one-third. YOUR USED CAR PROSPECTS READ THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

LINING up used cars in a show room is one way to sell them. Letting them stand in a vacant lot, with white figures on the windshields, is another. Either method will attract the attention of a few passers-by, but neither can be depended upon to speed sales greatly. The used car buyer is too busy to go searching along boulevards and side-streets.

But he has time enough to read his morning Tribune! He reads it daily—and when he's considering the purchase of a used car he turns to the Want Ads to find one.

Tribune Want Ads reach used car buyers. Three out of five families in Chicago buy the Tribune every day. Seven out of ten buy it on Sunday. And daily or Sunday, scores of thousands more of your prospects read the Tribune than read any other newspaper in Chicago! Sell your used car by placing it before the greatest number of people in Chicago! Use Tribune Want Ads!

YANKEE BUILDS WORLD'S BIGGEST MINT FOR CHINA

Money Factory to Stamp 50,000 Coins a Day.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 1.—The Chinese national government has just completed at Shanghai what is claimed to be the largest money factory, or government mint in the world. The mint was designed and its construction supervised by Clifford Hewitt of Philadelphia, formerly an employé of the U. S. treasury department, who was "loaned" to China by the Philadelphia mint.

A curious feature of the new Chinese government mint is that the central portion of the front of the main building is an exact architectural reproduction of the front of the treasury department at Washington.

War Delays Operation.

Work on the Shanghai mint was started ten years ago, but political complications in the intervening years prevented its completion. The machinery, all purchased in the United States and much of it of Mr. Hewitt's own design, was stored until last year, when the national government decided to complete the job and put the plant in operation.

It is now all ready to be placed in operation and only awaits the decision of the minister of finance, T. V. Soong, regarding the type of coins to be turned out. The capacity of the new mint is 500,000 silver dollars a day, and in addition a somewhat similar number of subsidiary coins.

The construction of the mint, which will be known as the Government Central mint, is part of China's long cherished plan of currency reform. According to report the country now has in operation eleven separate mints, operating in different sections of the country, and no two of them producing uniforms coins.

Will Stabilize Coinage.

It is the government's purpose to establish standards of fineness and uniformity at the Shanghai mint which, it is hoped, will bring the other mints into line or force their closure.

The new mint is entirely self-contained, with its own power, water and gas supplies, and is inclosed in a high wall that is supposed to provide protection against bandits or inquisitive soldiery. Inside there are vaults for the storage of silver and bullion which have walls four feet thick, constructed of steel and concrete, with modern steel bank-vault doors weighing twenty tons.

Important features of the plant are devices for preventing wastage of silver in the minting process. All crucibles used for the melting of bullion are, after a few weeks of usage, broken up and all silver reclaimed from the "pores" of the vessels. They are pased through a machine which pulverizes them to the consistency of powder, after which they are "refined" and the silver extracted. The smoke from the gas fires is also passed through a "settling" chamber, where minute particles of silver are collected and reclaimed. Even the clothing and shoes of the laborers, after being worn a few weeks, are consigned to the furnace and the particles of silver extracted.

Perhaps the most interesting mechanical devices in the mint are the weighing machines, one large balance type scale with a yardarm eight feet long being so delicately balanced that it will register the writing on a visiting card. The writer tested this scale by taking two visiting cards, on one of which he wrote "Chicago Tribune" in ink. The balances containing the card with the writing immediately dropped below the level of the one containing the plain card. Other smaller scales are even more delicate, one being so sensitive that it was said to register the weight of a pencil mark on a coin.

IMAGE OF CHRIST ON BEDSHEET OF DEAD MAN AWES CANADIANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WINNIPEG, Man., June 1.—People of the district of Walkerton, Ontario, are awed at the appearance of what seems to them to be an apparition. Already hundreds have visited the home of Joseph Edwards in Bentinck township, Grey county, to study the phenomenon.

There they found two sisters, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. William Torry, mourning the death of their brother, William Reay. The women exhibited a sheet from their brother's deathbed upon which is imprinted a figure of Christ, measuring 20 inches in length and five inches wide. The figure is holding a staff with arms folded and one can see the feet and tufts of grass.

Mrs. Torry claims the image was found after she had laundered the bedsheet and had left it hanging in the rain for 24 hours.

CHINESE TROOPS AID JAPANESE IN RAIDS BY COREANS

TOKIO, June 1.—(AP)—Japanese consular police and the Chinese military of the Chientao district of Kirin province, Manchuria, mobilized today in preparation for further expected outbreaks by bands of Corean communists.

Radicals were reported in dispatches from Suel, Corea, yesterday to have bombed and burned Japanese consulates, buildings, and schools of the Corean association.

The most serious casualty reported was that of a consular policeman, wounded in an exchange of rifle fire when police and Chinese military banded to drive out the invaders. The raids were directed against Japanese centers in Lung Ching-tsun, Yenki, and other towns of the district. The former town apparently bore the brunt of the raids.

Delivering the Goods

The railroads of the country go everywhere and carry everything, and thus they enter into every phase of modern life. The vast flow of goods that moves over their lines is proof of the diversity and immensity of needs and desires in a great nation where a high standard of living prevails. Truly the railroads serve everybody and in every conceivable way.

The railroads serve the individual by carrying food and clothing. They serve the home by transporting building materials and fuel. They serve agriculture by hauling seed, stock and implements and farm products. They serve industry by moving raw materials and manufactured goods. In fact, everything that contributes to our national economic productivity enters into the great stream of traffic that unceasingly pours through the nationwide channels provided by the railroads.

Altogether this traffic stream is made up of approximately 25,000 classifications of commodities, some of which in turn comprise hundreds of different items. The value at destination of a year's shipments by rail in the United States was recently estimated as being approximately sixty-eight billion dollars.

The railroads are mindful of the great responsibility resting upon them by reason of the essential nature of their work. They are proud of their record of service in the past, but at the same time they are steadily increasing their capacity and efficiency. With the continued good will of the public, they can be relied upon to advance constantly in usefulness to the nation.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

President, Illinois Central System.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., June 1.—Our White Sox, irritated at last by implications that they have been a weak kneed lot, devoid of baseball genius, this afternoon rose up with a great show of power and dexterity and gave the St. Louis Browns a thrashing, 8 to 5.

CARL REYNOLDS.

Most of the Sox victories this year have been accomplished on the days when Jolley and Reynolds were hitting, and today was no exception.

J. Smead obliged with a homer, a double and a single on which he scored three runs, and Carl's part in the performance was a homer, a triple and a single. Dave Harris and Bill Kamm also played a big part in the batting enterprise, Dave with a homer and a single, and Kamm with a triple with two on when runs were needed, and a single besides.

Sox Have Two Big Innings.

The Sox had two big innings, the third, when they drove Stewart to cover, and the seventh, when they chased Blaeholder, who had held them hitless for four innings. With one out in the third Jolley got his seventh homer of the last two weeks and Reynolds followed with a triple. Harris walked, then Shires dropped a Texas leaguer into left, scoring Reynolds. Kamm tripled to left, scoring Harris and Shires.

The Sox seventh was even more refreshing than the third. Jolley doubled with one out and then scored ahead of Reynolds when Carl drove a tremendous homer into the far distant bleacher in left center. Harris stepped up and slammed even a bigger homer into the same bleachers. Kimsey relieved Blaeholder, whereupon Shires filed out. Kamm singled but was forced by Riddle.

It was well the Sox discovered the use of their bats for long distance purposes, for the pitching was mediocre. Ed Walsh got credit for the victory, although, with the score 5 and 2, the Browns had him all softened up and ready to take. Manager Bush, familiar with Eddie's fadeout propensity, yanked him before the impending blowup. McKain had his weak moments but never was in danger. The Brownies outhit the Sox, 15 to 12.

Split Series with Browns.

The victory this afternoon enabled the Sox to split the four game series here. This is slight consolation, however, for the Chicagoans, with even a modicum of baseball intelligence and steadiness, should have swept the series.

The game today, however, was needed stimulation, for the Sox are going back to a busy stand at Comiskey park against eastern invaders, meeting the Yankees, the world champion A's, the fading Senators, and the miserable Red Sox in the order named.

Tomorrow will be an open date in the Sox schedule, but the day will be devoted to kindergarten lessons on the rudiments of baseball.

Lyons, fresh in the memory of a 2 to 1 victory over the Yankees this year, is ready for the opener Tuesday. The other three games probably will be started by Thomas, Faber and Caraway.

Badger Nine Wins 1st Title Since 1912

Wisconsin has clinched its first Big Ten baseball championship since 1912 and has at last beaten the Michigan jinx. The Badgers won the baseball title Saturday, defeating Michigan, 1 to 0. Jake Sommerfield, sophomore pitcher, held the Wolverines to six hits and won his own game by scoring the only run of the contest.

The championship was Wisconsin's first undisputed one, the 1912 title having been shared by Illinois.

Although two games remain on the Big Ten schedule, both of them between Minnesota and Chicago at Minneapolis Wednesday, the championship conference athletic season is finished.

Purdue had its greatest year, winning undisputed titles in football and basketball. The indoor track championship was won by Wisconsin, while Michigan took the outdoor track and field title.

Kansas City, Mo., June 1.—(AP)—The Kansas Aggies and Oklahoma, each with 9 victories and 3 defeats, have equal claims on what may be the last Big Six conference baseball championship.

Conference athletic directors, meeting in Lincoln recently, publicly lamented alleged "muckerism" which is said to have crept into middle western college baseball, and indicated final action on the future of the sport may be taken at the fall meeting.

COCHET DEFEATS BILL TILDEN FOR FRENCH NET TITLE

Helen Wills Moody Beats Helen Jacobs.

AUTEUIL, France, June 1.—(AP)—Henri Cochet of France, whose rise into the realm of tennis began at the lowest rung of the ladder, was crowned undisputed king of the court today while Mrs. Helen Wills Moody reëmphasized her right to rule women's tennis.

Big Bill Tilden, fighting a gallant but vain battle against the little Frenchman's racquet wizardry, was beaten by Cochet, 3-6, 8-6, 6-3, 6-1, in the men's singles finals of the French hard court championships.

A determined onslaught to snatch from Mrs. Moody the diadem she has worn for several years also ended disastrously. Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., lone remaining fighter out of a field of 44 insurgents who rebelled against the feminine dynasty of tennis last Sunday, suffered the same fate as her rebellious sisters, losing in straight sets to Mrs. Moody, 6-2, 6-1.

Crowd Fights to Hug Cochet.

By a strange irony of tennis destiny, among the many monocled clubmen and distinguished gentlemen who literally fought for a chance to wring Cochet's hand, hug and even kiss him in his dressing room after his victory, were some for whom Little Henri, a decade and a half ago, had chased balls battered by their expensive but uneducated racquets.

No such demonstration attended the victory of Mrs. Moody. The predominant emotion among the 10,000 spectators who witnessed the clash between the two stalwart girls from California seemed to be one of surprise that any one should have the sheer audacity to think of challenging her right to the crown.

Tilden Great in First Set.

Cochet started the first set with his usual nonchalance, but Tilden also appeared unimpressed by the importance of the match. The American lost his service and Cochet ran into a lead of 3-1. Here Tilden rallied to play such Tennis as he never had shown in France and ran out five games for the set.

In the second set Cochet began to show signs of worry as Tilden led him five games to three. Suddenly, however, he appeared to solve the problem of Tilden's diabolically bouncing strokes from a heavy top spin and ran three games to lead, 6-5. Then Tilden carried his service and games were 6 all. Then came the break in the match when a crowd of self-appointed linesmen in the stands howled, booed and whistled at what they judged bad decisions. Tilden halted momentarily waiting for the noise to abate. He was visibly nervous when he resumed play and Cochet broke

Trojans Aim to Round Out Perfect Track Year Here

BY WILFRID SMITH.

If the University of Southern California track team wins the national collegiate meet Saturday at Stagg field its comeback will be a complete success. The Trojans, who won the fifty-fourth intercollegiate games at Harvard last Saturday, are undefeated this year.

Southern California won the I. C. A. A. A. A. in 1925 and repeated the victory in the following year in addition to winning the Stagg meet. For three seasons the Trojans were out of the national spotlight, but last year they finished second to Stanford in the intercollegiate and fourth in the national collegiate. The squad is composed almost entirely of first and second year men. While it has few individual performers, it possesses team strength in the number of men capable of first class marks.

Trojans Trim Rivals.

Southern California defeated Stanford, its greatest rival on the coast, in a dual meet this spring, 84 1-12 to 46 11-12. The Trojans also won from California, 105 to 26, and twice defeated the Los Angeles Athletic club. The scores were 89 to 42 and 93 to 38. Southern California also won the west coast relays before starting its triumphant trip to Harvard.

The Trojans scored in 12 of the 15 intercollegiate championships, although they had only two first place winners. Frank Wykoff won the 100 yard dash in 9.7 seconds, tying the record, and William Carls skimmed the low hurdles for victory in 23.7 seconds. Four Trojans finished second, the remainder of their points being accumulated by thirds, fourths and fifths.

Fail in Distance Events.

Jesse Mortensen was second to the record breaking javelin throw of 212 feet 5 inches by Ken Churchill of California. Jimmy Stewart was second in the high jump, Ernest Payne followed Carls home in the low hurdles and Edward Welsh was second in the high hurdles. The Trojans failed to place in the mile run, the two mile and the hammer throw.

The intercollegiate is scored similar to the Big Ten meet—that is, five places count. Six places will count in Saturday's meet, which will be to the Trojans' advantage, although the competition will be more keen in several events and may force the Trojans' scorers farther down the list.

Brilliant Field in Century.

The hundred yard dash will bring together the finest field of the year. Frank Wykoff, Hubert Meier of Iowa State and George Simpson of Ohio State have run the century in 9.4 seconds. Simpson set the national collegiate record in this time last year. Wykoff was credited with this mark in the Southern Pacific A. A. U. meet May 10. Meier was timed in 9.4 seconds when he won in the Big Six track meet two weeks ago.

In addition to these stars, Eddie Tolan of Michigan, who holds the accepted world mark of 9.5 seconds; John Lewis, a 9.7 second sprinter from the College of the City of Detroit, and Toppino from Loyola university, New Orleans, have entered. Toppino's best time is 9.9 seconds.

Bracey, Leland Expected.

Claude Bracey of Rice institute and Cy Leland of Texas Christian university also are expected to compete. Each has run the hundred in 9.6 seconds. Bracey has not been at top form this spring, and his work is similar to Tolan's in this respect. Bracey made his reputation here in the national collegiate three years ago and this will be his last appearance as a college sprinter.

Most of these men will compete in the National A. A. U. meet in Pittsburgh Aug. 22 and 23 and the three best will represent the United States in the meet at Soldiers' field Aug. 27 against the British empire team.

INTRIGUE, COUPS WEAPONS IN NAVY ROW WITH ARMY

Big Ten's Changed Attitude Hints That.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, N. Y., June 1.—The football diplomats of the Army and Navy still attack one another through third parties, like hostile ambassadors in a neutral capital doing their best to have one another sent home.

MAJ. PHILIP FLEMING.

First, while the Navy still was merely contemplating the row with the military academy, a naval officer made an effort to break up the old Army-Notre Dame rivalry. As Army officers have explained this move to me, this naval officer convinced an official of the Notre Dame football organization that Notre Dame ought to open the controversy over the three year rule, whereupon Yale would present the same demand, to be followed by the Navy.

The Navy was trying to line up allies for the fight before repudiating a written treaty and declaring war. But when Notre Dame's letter arrived at West Point, the commanding general of the time considered the source and referred it back to the president of the university, who promptly disavowed it.

Both Play Diplomatic Game.

Yale never was drawn in and the Navy, finally, decided to start the fight alone, relying on diplomacy to win adherents. Since then both sides have been at the game of diplomacy in a manner reminiscent of the activities of the British and German ambassadors in Washington before 1917.

Two years ago, during a winter meeting of the Western conference in Chicago, a delegation of army officers happened along on no particular business and won an important diplomatic victory. The Western conference, whose prestige gives it the same position in this situation that the United States occupied between Great Britain and Germany, by gentle, social suasion, was induced to take a stand justifying the Army's position. The gist of the ruling was that the conference schools would not discriminate against the Navy if the Navy wished to use football players for three years regardless of any previous varsity experience they might have had.

Seemed Like Concession to Navy.

This had the outward appearance of a concession to the Navy, but of course the Navy had no wish to play men of more than three years' total experience. It was much as though Von Bernstorff had persuaded the Wilson administration to recognize Great Britain's right to torpedo German ships in the Irish sea in 1917.

Now the Western conference has repudiated this decision and voted to forbid games with any school that does not observe the three year rule, in the intercollegiate acceptance of the term. Here it might be explained that the Army does observe a three year rule, but only to the extent of barring plebes from varsity teams. The conference three year rule means three years total varsity experience, and this law, subject to the transfer rule against itinerant athletes, can reduce a player's varsity service to two years or one. Army's three year rule permits of a theoretical total of seven years' varsity play in the case of a player who comes from some nonconforming college with four years' service behind him.

I haven't read of the presence of any representatives of the Navy at the

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

There was power in the Cub bats yesterday. The Cubs may be crippled and all that, but they charged into the Pirates so ruthlessly that the Buccos surrendered early in the struggle and permitted the champs to pile up a 16 to 4 triumph before 35,000. It made the fifth win in a row for the Bruins and the outcome, balanced against the twin downfall of the Cardinals, lifted the titleholders to second place.

Fourteen blows were turned loose against a trio of Pirate pitchers, and as is usually the case on big days, Hack Wilson carried the burden. He helped to turn the fight into a rout by doubling in the third when five Cubs scored. He boomed forth with homer No. 15 while two mates were waiting in the fourth. He tore off a single which assisted in more scoring in the sixth. And he made his day complete by figuring in a four run seventh inning splurge by knocking No. 16 out of the premises. Hartnett also was the author of one of the lengthy smashes.

Bush Back in Form.

The battle revealed that Guy Bush, the bronzed Mississippian, has just about come back as a regular hurler. A homer put him under a temporary two run handicap in the second, but from then on he pitched. He set 'em down almost as fast as they appeared. From the end of the second to the end of the seventh only one more hit was chalked against his performance.

What buried the hopes of the Pirates was the emphatic fashion in which the Cubs blew Heinie Meine off the mound. Meine was given warning with one run in the second, and in the third five more runs were registered. Even that didn't stop Meine. He was back in the fourth, but when the champs started on a three run rally, he quit in favor of Spencer. The rescuer remained until the sixth when two more scored, and the titleholders then mopped up against Petty with four in the seventh when the Pirate defense collapsed, and one in the eighth.

Guy Escapes in First.

A double and a pass with one out in the first inning gave Bush something to think about. He emerged from this when Comorosky hit into a force play and Traynor fanned. Bush's luck was a bit different in the second, however. He opened impressively by slipping three strikes to Mosolf, but went to the other extreme by giving Suhr a pass. Then Hemsley hoisted the ball into the wind and it cleared the wall for a homer.

Bush burst forth in all the splendor of a hitter in the home half of the second, and this enabled the Cubs to grab back one of the two runs against them. Stephenson opened the inning with a single to right. Grimm

DOWNS SWITCHES TURF RETINUE TO WASHINGTON PK.

More Runners Will Join Homewood Competition.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The turf colony from Churchill Downs in Kentucky will move into Chicago bag and baggage this morning.

Horses, owners, trainers, jockeys and speculators are coming and most of them will be gathered at Washington Park this afternoon when the bugle calls the horses out for the beginning of the second week of the early summer meeting at the course in Homewood. The Churchill Downs season closed last Saturday.

The arrival of the reinforcements from Kentucky will be welcomed at Washington Park, for despite the liberal purses and the well endowed stakes offered there has been a shortage of horses durrng the first week of the meeting. But from now on limit fields probably will compete in most of the events. The Chicago race players may not find it quite so easy to put their wagers down on the winners.

American Derby Two Weeks Off.

While the American Derby still is almost two weeks away, much talk is heard about the $50,000 event. Will Whichone and Gallant Fox come west for the struggle after they hook up in the Belmont Stakes next Saturday afternoon?

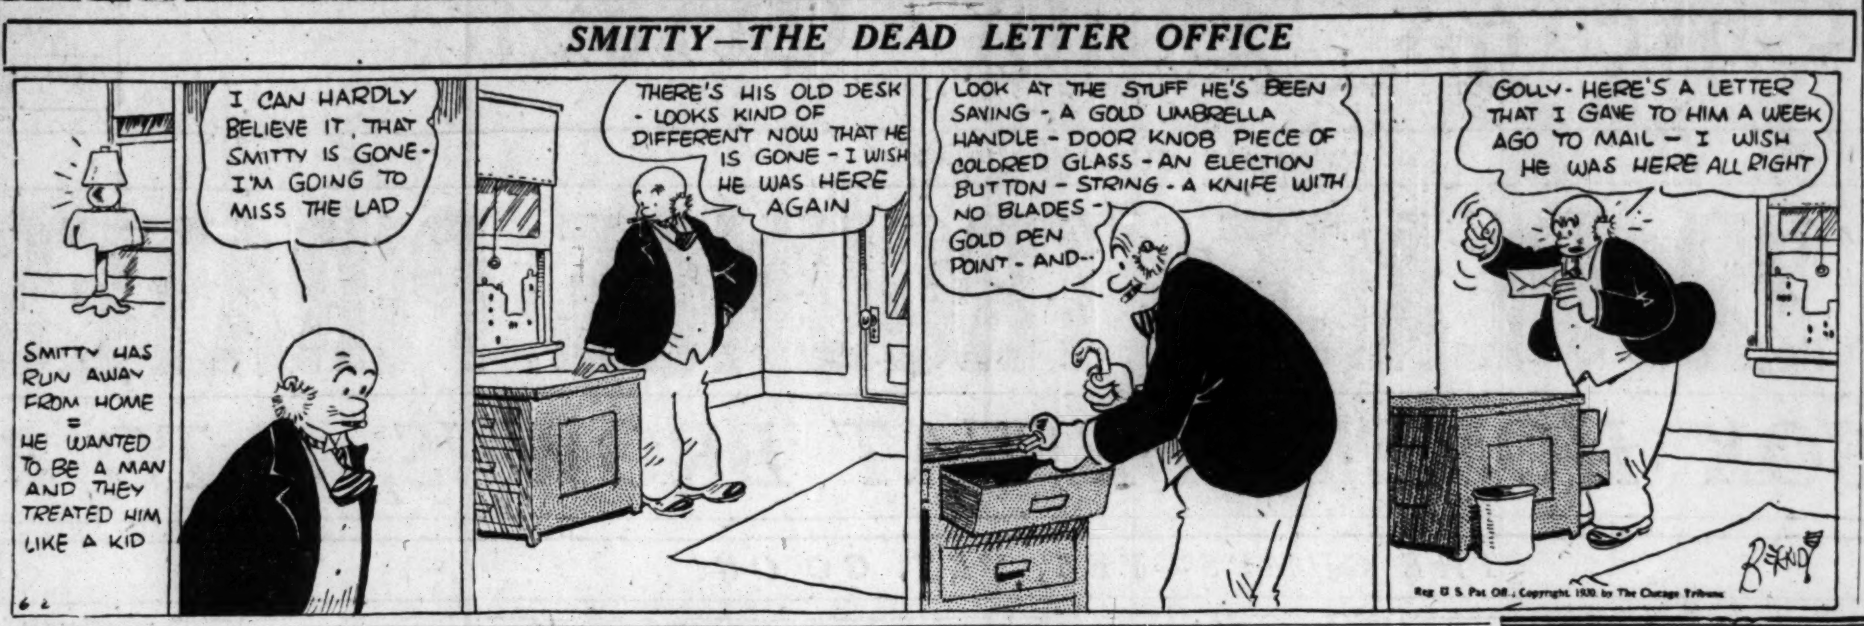
Washington Park officials would like to be able to answer the question. But Col. Matt Winn, president of the Washington Park Jockey club, is confident one of them will be here, and he is hopeful both will come west in quest of the American Derby prize.

"I feel certain Whichone will be here," the head of the Washington Park track said yesterday. "And Mr. Woodward, owner of Gallant Fox, has promised me that if Gallant Fox comes out of the Belmont in good condition he will also be on hand for our Derby in Chicago."

Many Good Possibilities."

Gallant Knight, Prince Atheling, Swinfield, Tannery, Dedicate, Woodcraft, Ned O., Gone Away, Plucky Play, Alcibiades, High Foot, and, of course, Dick O'Hara, are other American Derby possibilities. But the Fox or Whichone or both should be here to make it a genuine Derby party.

The Stadium purse, worth $1,400, at 6 furlongs, is to be this afternoon's feature. Such flyers as T. S. Jordan, Morsun, Zacaweista, War Time, Laddie, Big Star and Lublena are in the tussle. If in a running mood any in this group might crack the track record.



Macks Regain 1st Place; Beat Senators, 9 to 6

Washington, D. C., June 1.—(AP)—Philadelphia gained the American league leadership today by taking the fourth straight from Washington, 9 to 6, and breaking the first place tie. Grove, relieving Mahaffey, struck out Jack Hayes, pinch hitter, with the bases filled in the ninth to end a heavy hitting contest.

A home run by Williams, rookie outfielder, with two men on in the sixth inning, was the victory margin for the league champions, who were playing with a makeshift lineup. It was the first defeat of the season for Sam Jones who had accounted for six Washington wins. Score:

Cochet Beats Bill Tilden in French Finals

through his service, captured the set at 8-6 and squared the match.

Beginning the third set Tilden changed his entire style of play, starting a fierce driving campaign and playing especially to Cochet's backhand, but the Frenchman's anticipation seemed to be uncanny. He always seemed to be on top of the ball and he was returning Tilden's famous cannonball service, in use for the first time in the match, with extreme rapidity, taking the ball on the rise. He broke through Tilden twice to lead, 5-1.

Tilden's last stand occurred here and by a superhuman effort he managed to win two games to bring the score to 5-3. This spurt left him panting and unable to reach Cochet's slow tantalizing trapshots just over the net and he dropped the set, 6-3.

Tilden's Best Game.

Cochet reached the peak of his play in the fourth set, and several times Tilden shook his head despairingly as he watched Henri's lightning, sharp angled strokes sail just out of his reach. He managed to win only the third game on his own service, Henri running out the last four games with no apparent straining of mind or muscle.

After the match Cochet said: "Tilden played the best game he ever played against me in the last three years. But I am beginning to know his style."

"That was the best I know how to play," Tilden said.

The women's finals lacked the thrills of the Cochet-Tilden match. Mrs. Moody's superiority was too evident. There was only one department of the game in which Miss Jacobs held Mrs. Moody fairly even and that was in service.

Badger Bass Season Will Open June 20

BY BOB BECKER.

Wisconsin this year will open its black bass fishing season on June 20, several days earlier than Michigan. The latter state specifies June 25 as the opening date. There is quite a difference in the bag limits of these two states, a fact that bass anglers should keep in mind. Wisconsin says that you can catch 10 bass a day, each to be not less than 10 inches in length. Michigan puts a limit of five bass a day on all fishermen. The legal length is the same as that in Wisconsin, 10 inches.

Another item in the Michigan fishing regulations which all anglers should be familiar with is the law regarding the "small basses." The rock, strawberry, or calico, and white bass as well as crappies cannot be caught until June 25. That leaves just pickerel [or nothern pike], wall eyes and trout on the open list between now and the end of the month. Wisconsin is a little more generous in its regulations covering the catching of these species. It permitted the fishermen to take the crappies, calico bass, etc., beginning May 25 when the pike and muskie season opened up.

When you go into Michigan to fish you're going to have to wear a good looking emblem on your shirt or jacket because the state this year issues such a decoration when you buy your license and asks you to wear it where it can be seen. Behind the button [which bears a number corresponding to your license number], is a tiny compartment into which the license itself fits. This is a handy way to "brand" fishermen, also a neat method of carrying a license. Incidentally Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Michigan charge $3 for a nonresident fishing license.

[NUMBER ONE]
RUDY VALLÉE

Two years ago he stepped into the spotlight on a little cafe floor and crooned a song called "Deep Night." Today deep night on Broadway sees his name blazed in electric signs.

It wasn't the cut of his clothes . . . or the break of his luck. It was because this youngster just naturally delivered something that the public wants!

Just so OLD GOLD cigarettes have grown from a baby brand to a giant brand in record time—because they delivered a new enjoyment . . . with a cigarette that thrilled the taste and comforted the most sensitive throat.

Better tobaccos—free of all irritants. That's why OLD GOLD has sold more cigarettes than three leading brands combined, in a like period of their existence.

TWO YEARS AGO RUDY VALLÉE WAS A SINGER IN A SMALL CAFÉ - BUT THE BOY DIDN'T STAY THERE LONG.... (INCOME TODAY—OVER $10,000 A WEEK)

The Indians scored all three runs in the third inning. Morgan slammed his seventh home run of the season over the right field wall and after Averill walked and Porter singled, Hodapp and Seeds sent them across the plate on consecutive doubles.

Reds Win Double Header from Cards, 5 to 4 and 7 to 1

Cincinnati, O., June 1.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds won both games of a double header from the St. Louis Cardinals here today by scores of 5 to 4 and 7 to 1. Harry Heilman had a perfect day at bat, turning in six hits, two of them home runs. Joe Stripp also hit for the circuit in the second game.

The Reds pulled the first game out of the fire with a three run rally to tie the count in the eighth, but had no trouble in the second, which was cut to seven innings to allow the Cardinals to catch a train. Bennie Frey, who pitched the night cap for the Reds, was given excellent support with four double plays thrown in for good measure. It was the first time in a good many seasons the Reds have won two games from the Cardinals in one day. Scores:

GIANTS WIN PAIR.

Boston, Mass., June 1.—(AP)—The Giants took both ends of a double header from the Braves here today before 43,000 fans, one of the largest major league crowds on record here. The score in the first game was 9 to 4, and in the second, 16 to 3. The Giants collected 12 runs in their half of the third inning of the second contest.

Berger of the Braves hit his 13th home run of the season in the first game and his 14th in the second game.

The second game had to be called at the end of the seventh inning because of the state law prohibiting commercialized sport after 6 p. m. on Sunday. Scores:

Intrigue Crops Up in Army, Navy Grid Row

recent deliberations of the Western conference, but the effect of this latest decision is so detrimental to the Army's cause in the controversy that I strongly suspect the Navy of executing a counter coup. It is not always by rising up in meeting and making a speech that an ambassador persuades the government of a disinterested third nation to favor his country's position. Nor is it necessary for a football diplomat to show himself in a meeting of the Western conference to obtain an indirect, negative ruling against his diplomatic opponents.

This new decision of the Western conference places the Army in a defensive position again at a time when the Army's diplomats, while still as charming and interesting as ever, are losing some of their prestige. But they were asking for trouble. The fact is that the Army's representatives, Col. Whipple and Maj. Phil Fleming, have been holding out for nothing less than utter humiliation of the Navy when they might have made peace without loss by proposing an informal game to be played this fall on any available lot on some Wednesday afternoon.

Develop Professional Attitude.

These officers, however, have developed a professional attitude toward the game of football which, to them, is a matter for ballyhoo, contracts, Army prestige, propaganda and gate receipts.

Intrinsically, football is a game, and if the West Point athletes are as robust as the common run of college varsity men, it would be quite possible to play a game some midweek afternoon on the West Point plain without gate receipts nor any more formality than the appointment of the time and place.

The scrub and class teams of most big schools play scheduled or impromptu games as informally as this every week in the football season and survive the wear and tear without any unusual casualties.

"But," says Col. Whipple, "it couldn't be done."

"Why not?" one asks the colonel.

"Because," says he, "it couldn't. That would be absurd."

Navy Was in Receptive Mood.

I am not certain that the Naval academy would accept such an invitation now, but I do know that the Navy would have been in no mood nor position to reject such a proposition a few weeks ago.

The Navy broke a sporting agreement when relations were severed. So, like a government which tried a reprehensible course but failed to get away with it, Navy was receptive to any propostion that would have enabled the resumption of the game on the old terms without further discussion of the original faux pas.

N. W. Employes to Start Baseball Season Sunday

Employés of the Chicago and North Western railway system will start their fourth season of organized athletics with the first divisional baseball games of the season next Sunday. George B. Vilas, general manager of the North Western, is president of the railway's athletic association.

Baseball, leading up to the championship game in August between winners of the North Western series and of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad series, will occupy the center of the stage for the summer's activities. The annual track and field meet is tentatively scheduled for Aug. 18 in Evanston. Horseshoe pitching, tennis, swimming and trapshooting are expected to draw hundreds of entrants.

North Western baseball teams will be divided into four leagues covering the nine states served by the railroad. The season will open with the general office team meeting the Chicago shops team, the Wisconsin division meeting the Chicago freight terminal, and teams from Galena, northern Iowa, Madison, Southern Illinois, Ashland, Peninsula, Milwaukee, Lake Shore, Iowa, Eastern, Dakota and Black Hills divisions playing in other games. Games will be played each Sunday until Aug. 10, when the North Western championship will be decided.

was looking the wrong way when a third strike hooked past. Hartnett popped out and Beck walked. Bush poked a single into center, Stevie running home.

English Starts Assault.

The start of the five run sortie in the third was English's double which took a hop over Traynor's shoulder. Traynor's one handed stop of Cuyler's hopper robbed the latter of a hit. Wilson then plunked a long fly to the left field corner for two bases, English scoring. Stephenson walked and scored behind Wilson on Grimm's two base liner over Brickell's head. Then Hartnett leaned into Meine's first pitch and lifted it into the wind for a wallop over the bricks in left.

Meine departed just in time to avoid another real jolt in the fourth when three Cubs nicked the plate. After Blair had struck out, English coaxed Meine for a pass. Cuyler shoved him to third by singling to center. The Pirate manager accepted this as proof that Meine wasn't the pitcher to handle the job. Spencer was dragged in as a rescuer, and just to prove that the change made no difference to him, Wilson walloped homer No. 15 into the right field bleacher.

Two More Runs for Cubs in 6th.

For fear that Spencer might lose interest in his work, the Cubs added two more to their total in the sixth. The round started with a pass to Cuyler. Wilson slashed a single to right for his third hit, and Mosolf, playing in place of P. Waner, who owns a bum leg, kicked it around so long that Cuyler was able to score. Hack reached second. He rambled home on a single by Grimm.

The mirth provoking happenings against Petty in the seventh got under way when English walked with one out. Cuyler bounced to short. English should have been forced, but Engle made such a wild throw that it went to right field, English scoring. Meanwhile, Cuyler was racing around to third, and just as he reached there, Mosolf's throw to the plate eluded Bool, so Kiki kept going and counted with room to spare. Then Wilson turned loose homer No. 16, the ball vanishing behind the bleacher in left. The panic continued with Engle making a two base wild throw on Stephenson, who registered the fourth run of the inning on Hartnett's single.

Grantham presented the Pirates with a run in the eighth when he sent a homer among the right field patrons. The Cubs promptly countered with one in their half on Blair's triple.

AMBITIOUS A'S SET DIZZY PACE IN TRIP TO TOP

Detroit, Brooklyn Lead Leagues in Hitting.

New York, June 1.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics, climbing the upward road to another tie for the lead in the American league, was the outstanding club in the major league performances of last week, but the Mackmen had to share some of its honors with the hitherto humble Boston Braves.

The Athletics won seven successive games through the week but Boston, delayed for some time by rain, also had a perfect record, winning four straight. The second place teams in the two leagues had identical records. The Brooklyn Robins and Detroit Tigers each won five games and lost two. Chicago and Cincinnati followed Brooklyn in the National league, each winning four games but with three defeats for the Reds and two for the Cubs. Cleveland, with five games won and three lost and the New York Yankees with four and three, completed the American league's list of clubs which bettered a .500 average for the week. The Boston Red Sox, losing seven more games to extend their string to 14, was the only team that failed to win a game.

American Clouters Busy.

The American league displayed heavier hitting for the week. The Tigers made 88 hits for the highest total and the White Sox 81 while only three clubs were under the total of 70, which gave Brooklyn first place in the National league. The Athletics were high scorers, putting over 56 runs, and Detroit took second with 52. Cincinnati's 45 runs topped the National league. The Tigers also led in home runs with eight and the Athletics and White Sox hit seven apiece.

The Phillies were the weakest club offensively during the week and Pittsburgh on the defense. Philadelphia scored but 14 times on 34 hits while its opponents tallied 28 times. The Pirates had 49 runs scored against them and made it easier for their opponents by committing 15 errors.

The Braves, in topping the National league, scored 20 runs to 13 for their opponents and had but three errors charged against them. The Phillies and Cincinnati each made four errors while the Athletics were best in the American league in defense, making seven errors and holding their opponents to 34 runs.

ZIONISTS SEEK TO ENLIST FRANCE AGAINST BRITAIN

Claim Holy Land Policy Is to Placate Arabs.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 1—There is a secret move on the part of Zionist leaders to have the French bring pressure on the British to rescind the recently issued order against further Jewish immigration to Palestine, it was reported today.

Dr. Chaim Weitzman, president of the Zionist executive council, with headquarters in London, arrived here quietly a couple of days ago and yesterday had a long talk with Foreign Minister Aristide Briand which was kept secret from the French press. Dr. Weitzman has left for Geneva, where he will lay the Zionist case before the league of nations.

Also Discuss Syria

Although both Dr. Weitzman and the French foreign office refused to discuss his visit with M. Briand, it was learned from a good authority that the Zionist leader made a strong plea to the veteran diplomat to use his influence with the British. It is also reported that the Zionist question in Syria, as a possible influence on the Palestine situation, was discussed.

Dr. Weitzman told THE TRIBUNE that he could not make a statement at this time owing to the delicacy of the situation, but one of his aides let it be clearly understood that the Jews regard the attitude of the British government a death blow to Zionism. They are planning a world campaign of protest as a last resort, but for the time being are pinning their hopes on undercover diplomatic manipulations which they consider have a fair chance of success owing to the complicated and troublesome situation in the near east.

Enlist French Zionists.

Dr. Weitzman during his visit here consulted with a number of French Zionists, notably the famous Socialist leader, M. Blum, who should be able to exert considerable pressure on M. Briand. One of the results of these consultations was a meeting yesterday of prominent Jewish leaders at which the situation was thoroughly discussed.

Through Dr. Weitzman's spokesmen, the French Jews were informed that the British are determined to sacrifice Israelite interests in order to placate the Arabs and thus strengthen their position throughout the Moslem world—which is highly important at present, as it involves the support or the opposition of the wavering Mohammedan faction in India. According to the speakers the British have been temporizing over the Palestine situation for several months. At first they were unwilling to antagonize the Jews, but owing to the pressure of events in India finally decided that any gesture calculated to win the support of the Mohammedans was worth making at any cost.

Invoke Balfour Pledge.

The conference drew up a resolution bitterly attacking the British, whom they charge with open violation of the Balfour agreement, and calling on Jews the world over to denounce the treacherous manipulations of the Labor government. It was decided not to publish the resolution for the time being at least, and no publicity was given the meeting.

Germans Pleased as U. S. Vets Return Tags of Fallen

BERLIN, June 1.—(AP)—Return of German soldiers' identification tags by a number of American world war veterans has awakened warm appreciation in Germany, due to the fact that tens of thousands of Germans are still without word of their relatives' fate in the war. Arrival of a number of the tags has roused hope that the movement may become general.

DAMEN AVENUE BRIDGE TO BE OPENED AUG. 1

Ceremonies opening to traffic the new Damen avenue bridge across the south channel of the river will be held on Aug. 1 by residents of the 12th and 21st wards, according to Ald. D. A. Horan [21st], who is arranging for the dedication celebration.

Construction on the project which links the two wards was begun by the board of local improvements early in 1929.

The bridge is expected to be completed by July 1, but the celebration will not be held until one month later, when the paving of two sections of street leading to the structure will be finished. The sections to be paved are from Blue Island avenue to the bridge, which is between 33d and 34th streets, and south from the bridge to 39th street. The latter section also is to be widened from 30 to 48 feet.

"This improvement will be a wonderful thing for that district," said Ald. Horan. "It will help the entire manufacturing district by affording an outlet and will relieve traffic congestion on the Western avenue bridge."

The bridge consists of two spans, the one from the north bank, which will open for ships, stretching 140 feet across the water with a 26 foot clearance. The south span of 220 feet is fixed. The bridge is 66 feet wide, providing a 44 foot roadway with 11 foot walks on each side.

The completion of the bridge and the two paving projects will open Damen avenue from Bryn Mawr avenue on the north to 39th street on the south.

The young woman arrived in Chicago Friday from Dallas, Tex., spent the day with McShane and agreed to marry him Saturday morning. REVEAL FRENCH EXPRESS WRECK RESULT OF PLOT

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 1.—An investigation today of the derailment of a Paris-Riviera train in which seven were killed and eight seriously injured late last night at Montereau, near Fontainebleau, indicates the accident was the result of criminal sabotage.

Among the injured are three English women, and among the dead is one unidentified woman who may be an American.

In clearing the wreckage today it was discovered that the engine had been derailed by a small flatcar used for rail repair work which had been intentionally placed across the rails at an intersection. That this was not due to negligence was indicated by the fact that the Rome express, 40 minutes before, had passed safely over the same rails and there had been no repairmen on the line in the interval. Premier Tardieu was on the Rome express.

IDEAL Weight and Milk

"Selected" Milk is finding wide favor in offices, factories, etc., where milk is enjoyed with lunches. Ask us for information.

Milk should play a very essential part in your weight control. Several glasses of milk a day, in addition to the regular meals, is very effective for those who are underweight.

And milk is just as important a part of a balanced diet for the overweight. Milk satisfies the hunger induced by cutting down on the calories . . . helps one avoid that "all in" feeling.

"Very good," you say, "but suppose I don't care much for milk?" Our answer is that you will like "Selected."

It is a very different kind of milk . . . specially produced for drinking. You will enjoy drinking "Selected" and never tire of its "Sweet Natural Taste."

We pay a liberal premium for "Selected" to farmers who take most unusual precautions in its production on 105 dairy farms in the vicinity of Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

You pay only three cents a quart more for "Selected," and when you taste it, when you see your children and the other milk drinkers of your family smack their lips over it, you will agree that it is worth the extra cost and more.

It is very easy to make a trial of "Selected:" Just SPEAK to your Borden milkman . . . PHONE Franklin 3110 . . . or clip and MAIL the coupon.

DEATH NOTICES

CHART BUSINESS CONDITIONS IN VARIOUS LINES

Give High Rating to Seven Industries.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Everybody knows that trade and industry as a whole are not as active as a year ago. But there are industries that are doing well, others that are in a slump and still others that are in between.

An interesting analysis of the current situation of the principal lines and their prospects in the near future has been made by the Standard Statistics company. It classifies the various lines in five categories, namely, most promising, good, fair, uncertain, and poor. The tabulation follows:

MOST PROMISING.

Agricultural Machinery—While current quarter results will probably not equal those for the first three months, returns should be comparatively satisfactory.

Chain Stores, Chemicals—Earnings of the industry, as a whole, during the current quarter will fall considerably under those of the corresponding 1929 period.

Electrical Equipment—Earnings for the first half of 1930 should in most cases equal those for the similar 1929 period.

Motion Pictures—Recession in movie attendance is viewed as largely temporary.

Shipbuilding—Prospects of domestic shipping companies are clouded for the balance of the year by the current low level of both freight and passenger traffic. Construction activity continues to increase.

Tobacco—For the full year it is expected that sales of cigarets may approximate a grand total of 130 billions.

Utilities — No marked improvement in electric power sales is expected prior to next autumn. Gross revenues of many telephone companies have increased during the year, but net income has shown a decided diminution. Similar trends will probably continue during the next three or four months.

GOOD.

Machinery—Little fundamental improvement is in prospect during the early future.

Cement, Oil Producing—Second quarter returns will be much more favorable than those of the first three months of 1930.

Oil Refining and Marketing, Railroads—No sign of sustained recovery in traffic has yet appeared.

FAIR.

Automobiles—Current quarter profits should show considerable expansion.

Automobile Parts—Immediate prospect is for a moderate decline in operations and volume will not approach last year's levels until late in the year at the earliest.

Copper—No sustained advance in copper prices over the present level is probable during the near term.

Department Stores — Only moderate improvement in retail trade may be expected during the next few months.

Leather and Shoes — It is doubtful that any branch will attain results fully equal to those of a year ago.

Office Equipment — No material increase in volume of business is probable during the near future.

Paper — It is quite probable that sales of newsprint for 1930 will equal, if not exceed, those of last year.

Radio—Prospects for the second half of the current year, from an earnings standpoint, are distinctly more favorable.

Rayon—Earnings during the next few months will fall under those of the corresponding 1929 months.

Sugar Refining—The present situation in the raw sugar market will continue until the tariff bill is completed.

UNCERTAIN.

Fertilizers — Continuance of a fair demand is expected through June, at least.

Mail Order, Meat Packing—Important improvement cannot be expected until general business conditions show definite signs of recovery.

POOR.

Aircraft—Additional price reductions are likely during the near future.

Apparel — Full year earnings will probably be substantially below those of 1929.

Automobile Tires—Tire replacement sales will be larger this year than last, but growth of this business may not entirely offset similar original equipment needs.

Coal—Earnings of most producers for the first half of the current year will fall considerably under those for the similar 1929 period.

Lead—No purpose is seen in accumulating for future months.

Lumber, Silk Goods — Earnings of the majority of manufacturing companies for the first half of 1930 will be well under those of the corresponding period of 1929.

Woolen Goods — It is improbable that consumption will assume normal proportions until next fall at the earliest.

National Survey Shows U. S. Industry Is Forging Ahead

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—Julius H. Barnes, as chairman of the national business survey conference, made public today the results of a business conditions survey just completed. The reports obtained on important lines of business and industry, Mr. Barnes said, suggest the following "significant" phases:

"First, that large American industry continues to carry out the construction programs forecast last December.

"Second, continued large capital improvements supported by large scale financing evidence a confidence in enlarged future earning power and preparation for it.

Interest Rates Lower.

"Third, in America and Europe there are evidences of increasing reservoirs of accumulated credit with consequent decreases in interest rates, and resulting benefits for production and distribution."

In the field of finance the survey found the short time credit market showing "continued ease," while for the first time capital issues during a month of 1930 exceeded those for the corresponding month of last year, the April, 1930, flotations being 15 per cent greater than those for April, 1929. For the first four months the volume of new capital obtained by domestic producing and distributing corporations totaled $2,100,000,000.

Busy on Public Works.

Under the heading "construction industries" the survey summary reported that "for the period ending May 23 this year nonresidential building was nearly up to last year's volume; public works and public utilities exceeded last year, but residential building lagged behind."

"On highway construction contracts reports from the governors of 35 states to Secretary of Commerce Lamont covering almost 75 per cent of the country show contracts awarded during the first quarter of a value of $114,000,000, against $51,000,000 for the corresponding period of last year," according to the survey.

Reports on Key Industries.

Extracts from the reports on several key industries as summarized by the business survey conference follow:

Railroads—Class 1 railroads for the first quarter of 1930 showed capital expenditures of 224 million dollars, compared with 127 million dollars in the first quarter of 1929.

Shipping—Employment in shipyards continues to expand. Shipyards are receiving contracts for new ocean construction following recent ocean mail awards.

Electric power and gas—The latest advices indicate that the construction program contemplated last December will probably be exceeded in 1930.

Iron and steel—Pig iron production for the first four months of 1930 was about 14 per cent under 1929, and approximately the same as in 1928.

Many Automobiles Built.

Automobiles — April motor vehicle production of 467,000 units exceeds all previous Aprils except 1929. Dealers' stocks of both new and used cars are reported below normal for this time of year.

Publishing — Employment and payrolls in newspaper printing for April are substantially the same as for March and about 2 per cent over April, 1929.

Advertising — Magazine advertising for May indicates an increase of 6 per cent compared with May of last year. Newspaper advertising lineage for April was about 4 per cent under last April. Radio advertising in April was about 41 per cent over April, 1929.

Retail and wholesale trade—Retail conditions show substantial improvement. In spite of lower prices, many stores and groups of stores show gains over the same period last year.

Halsey-Stuart Market Canadian Rail Issue

Utah Radio Gets Patent Rights from Zenith Corp.

Henry C. Forster, executive vice president of the Utah Radio Products company, announced yesterday that his firm has secured from the Zenith Radio corporation the first license Zenith has ever issued under its automatic and remote control radio patents. Mr. Forster stated that Utah has been negotiating for over a year for rights under the patents and that their company during this year had been designing a new remote control unit which is now ready to be sold.

MONTGOMERY WARD SALES IN MAY 26% AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

The better conditions existing in the chain store business compared with other lines is reflected in the May sales figures of Montgomery Ward & Co., large chain store and mail order firm, which were released last night.

The company reported sales for May of $25,050,304, an increase of $5,170,500, 26 per cent over the corresponding month in 1929. Sales for the first five months of the year totaled $106,195,803, a gain of $5,341,902, or 5.30 per cent over the like months last year.

Economic Fallacies Live On, Despite Contrary Evidence

BY SCRUTATOR.

It is remarkable, after humankind has seen the laws of supply and demand function for centuries in a perfectly logical manner, that so many people still believe that interference with that law can be successful over long periods; and especially that they believe it of staple commodities like wheat and cotton.

There are persistent fallacies current about what is known as orderly marketing. One of them is that farmers suffer unduly because they sell their crops at harvest time and that they would benefit by spreading their marketing operations over the entire year. A more trenchant way of saying the same thing is: prices are depressed by speculators at harvest time and advanced later to make speculations profitable.

Some of the coldest figures in the world fail to support that claim. The federal trade commission in a report on the grain trade in 1924 took the monthly average prices of wheat in the Chicago market for a period of thirty years and found that the lowest priced month, August, saw wheat selling at 82.44 cents a bushel, and the highest month, May, at 92.11 cents. Only in May and April did the price average 6 cents over that of the harvest months.

Carrying Charges.

The farther away from harvest the greater the carrying charges, naturally. Warehousing, insurance, interest and risk must be taken from the difference before there is a profit for an average speculator. As a matter of fact, he must take his profits when his judgment is right and lose money when he is wrong. The last harvest saw prices higher than they were at any time later.

About a fourth of the American wheat crop ordinarily is exported. Any system that would involve holding the export supply until the spring would seem to be the opposite of orderly marketing. It should be sold before the supplies from below the equator, harvested in our winter, come in competition with it.

There is no disposition here to deny that savings are possible in grain storage, but the possibilities are limited to a few cents a bushel. So far as the present farm relief program is directed to this saving, it is right. But when it recognizes the necessity and the justice of making higher prices than people will pay on a competitive basis, it is wrong.

Foreign Restrictions.

Wheat markets are being restricted by European countries. France and Germany have heavier tariffs than the United States to keep foreign supplies out. The production of cotton is increasing in the outside world. With markets going, arbitrarily established prices can only have the effect of increasing supplies faster than the wants for them grow.

TRADE CYCLE THEORY HAUNTS EXPERTS AGAIN

Slump Brings Topic to Foreground.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 1.—The fact that trade reaction has now lasted continuously for nine months, with the receding trend in evidence probably two months longer and with no reversal of the movement yet in sight, was bound to bring to the foreground again the old question of the "business cycle."

Belief that the cycle of prosperity, the sure alternation of "boom," crisis, depression and recovery, had been definitely removed from the financial program, was so widely held and asserted during the last seven or eight years as to become a commonplace. The President's committee on recent economic changes approached the question rather cautiously. Writing early in 1929, it admitted that in the few preceding years the periods of contraction had been so brief " that

In no month since the nation-wide decline in industrial activity has Associated System electric or gas output been less than for the same period of last year. Increased demands have resulted in larger output each month over the preceding year.

Territorial diversity through service in 26 States, the Canadian Maritime Provinces and the Philippine Islands is a source of strength and stability. Its effects within the Associated System are amplified by a further diversity as to types of population, sizes of communities and kinds of service.

Advantages of geographical grouping, on the other hand, accrue to the Associated System by virtue of serving nearly one-half the area of New York State, one-third of Pennsylvania and one-fourth of New Jersey. In New England, the Associated System serves one in 20 electric customers and one in 10 gas customers.

TRADE CYCLE THEORY HAUNTS EXPERTS AGAIN

Depression Brings Topic to Fore Again.

the term 'depression' seems scarcely applicable," and it remarked that this immunity "has encouraged optimists to say that 'the business cycle' has been 'ironed out' in the United States," and that "we need not fear a serious reaction in the future."

Past Observations.

But it also pointed out that, insofar as this conclusion was based on absence of severe and prolonged reaction since 1921, the business cycle was also "ironed out in the United States before the war." In the four years from 1909 to 1913 "oscillations in general business activity were notably moderate." The committee might have added that there was no severe reaction of the "cyclical" character between 1896 and 1903, or between 1884 and 1890, and that in the later of those two periods the inference was as confidently drawn as it was in 1928 or 1929, that we were through with serious trade reactions.

In its concluding words (which most readers of its report overlooked) the committee itself expressed the sober judgment that absence of formidable crisis or depression in the seven or eight years after 1920 and 1921 "is no guarantee that we shall be equally fortunate in the years to come. The old theory, indeed, usually took the shape of allotting approximately a ten year period between a "major panic" and a "minor panic," with a similar interval between the mid-cycle reaction thus indicated and the next great panic.

The statistical tables of the President's committee make the full cycle very much shorter in duration, even before the war, but they do so only by reckoning as serious contraction the setback of such years as 1913, 1900, and 1897, which was certainly no more drastic readjustment than the "recessions" of 1924 and 1927.

Railroad Shares.

Do you think that "Railroad Shares Corp." will ever come back to $12.00 a share?—R. E.

Railroad Shares corporation is an investing company specializing in the railroad field. It is restricted by vote not to invest more than 10 per cent of its assets in the securities of any one company and not more than 30 per cent in securities of companies engaged in business incidental to the railroad business. It may not purchase control of any operating property and may make no investments in companies whose only property is under construction.

The corporation was formed in July, 1929. Its directorate includes men of wide experience in security dealings.

Net asset value of the company on Nov. 21, 1929, was said to be equal to $9.60 per share. Net earnings from July 3, 1929, to Jan. 11, 1930, after reserve for taxes and other expenses, amounted to $192,041. Income from dividends and interest was $152,788. Net income from Jan. 1, 1930, to March 22, 1930, was reported to be $113,761. On March 22, 1930, liquidating value, without giving effect to management contract, organization expense, etc., was $9.68 per share and on April 5, 1930, liquidating value was estimated to be $9.82 per share.

At the close of 1929 there were outstanding 1,500,000 shares of no par capital stock. Total assets, as of Jan. 25, 1930, were $10,540,371, of which $4,909,254 represented securities at cost, and $4,938,186 was in cash and call loans.

The published list of securities owned at the close of 1929 showed that most of the company's holdings were in dividend paying common stocks of leading railroads. Part of the funds was invested in preferred stocks and bonds.

Dividends have been at the annual rate of 50 cents per share since an initial quarterly dividend, paid March 15, 1930.

This company has not been in existence long enough to demonstrate its earning power and its stock is therefore conditionally regarded as somewhat speculative at present.

Southwest Utility Ice.

Would appreciate some information on the Southwest Utility Ice company. I am being offered one of their 6 per cent 1941 bonds. Is the company first class? Are the bonds A No. 1?—B. R. A.

Southwest Utility Ice company, controlled by Consolidated Public Service company, was formed in April, 1926, to consolidate a number of ice companies serving communities in Oklahoma and Kansas. The first sinking fund 6s, due May 1, 1941, are secured by first mortgage on all fixed assets and by the capital stock of El Reno Utility company.

These bonds are of fair grade, suitable for one familiar with security dealings.

REPORTS FAVOR WHEAT MARKET BULL ELEMENT

But Old Bear Operators Stay by Their Guns.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Crop reports and statistics are becoming more in favor of holders of wheat the world over, and traders are leaning to the constructive side of the market.

There are many old operators, however, who stick to the bear side, basing their belief on the assumption that crop damage reports are exaggerated, and that reductions in supplies have not been sufficient to warrant taking a firm position on the bull side at present.

Between the mixed crop reports, statistics and the government's position in the market there is enough uncertainty to make traders nervous and keep their commitments to a comparatively moderate volume when compared with last year.

Holders of wheat had the best of it last week, with the close on Saturday at the highest level on the present upturn, with May only ¾c higher, while the best gain on the deferred futures was 3⅛c. Weakness in May was at the close due to heavy selling which carried it down to 3c discount under the July, the greatest of the season, and providing a full carrying charge.

The close on May wheat was $1.05½, compared with $1.08⅝ to $1.08½ on July, $1.11½ to $1.11⅜ on September and $1.15⅞ to $1.15¾ on December.

Wide Range on May.

May wheat is now out of the way. It had a range for the season of $1.00 @1.64, the lowest being made within about the last 30 days, and the highest last July. In the previous season the range was 93¼c@$1.33⅝. Harvesting has started in Texas and new wheat will be moving northward inside of a few weeks, with no particular demand.

Traders who believe that North America will have shorter crops than last year and accept recent reports of crop losses in France, Italy, Spain, and Jugo-Slavia, and possibly other countries, are bullish and buy on every break. The general public, however, is not in the market; whether they will come in on confirmation of material crop damage is for the future to decide. In case they do take hold it would probably be around the extreme advance, as they have in the past.

Private Crop Reports Tomorrow.

Private crop reports are due tomorrow and are expected to show somewhat less than last month and last year. The J. E. Bennett report estimates the crop at 549,000,000 bu, against 545,000,000 bu by the private reports last month, and 578,000,000 bu last year. In June last year the government estimated the wheat crop at 628,000,000 bu.

Estimates on the government report are for a somewhat lowering from the May returns, but the advance in the par basis will offset a considerable reduction in condition.

Deliveries of cash wheat on May contracts on Saturday were 1,933,000 bu. For the month of May they were 13,864,000 bu, compared with 21,310,000 bu last year, a decrease of 7,446,000 bu.

ROAN ANTELOPE COPPER.

A special stockholders meeting of the Roan Antelope Copper Mines, Ltd., has been called in London June 10 to approve issuance of £1,500,000 sterling 7 per cent 15 year debenture stock together with options on 750,000 ordinary shares of £2 per share to June 30, 1935.

The company has acquired a 1,000 acre tract on Lake Michigan and on completion of reclamation work the plant site will cover 1,100 acres. No definite date has been set for the beginning of actual construction of the plant, however.

SOUTHERN ICE AND UTILITIES COMPANY:

Although deposits of Southern Ice and Utilities Company securities under the Plan formulated by this Committee under date of April 10, 1930, have been satisfactory, such deposits have not reached the 80% necessary to declare the Plan operative.

Many security holders having expressed their intention of making deposits and believing that within the next thirty days additional deposits will bring the amount up sufficiently to declare the Plan operative, this Committee has agreed to an extension in the time for deposit of Southern Ice and Utilities Company securities in exchange for $1.60 Allotment Certificates of the Associated Gas and Electric Company to the close of business June 14, 1930 There will be no further extensions after that date.

The Committee believes the consummation of the Plan which has been formulated is for the best interests of holders of securities of the Southern Ice and Utilities Company. Those who have not as yet deposited their securities are urged to do so promptly.

Holders of senior securities of the Southern Ice and Utilities Company who have not deposited same under the Plan are urged to communicate promptly with the Secretary of this Committee as he has information of importance to transmit to them.

Copies of the plan setting forth the details and terms of exchange and giving other information may be obtained from the Secretary of this Committee or from the Chase National Bank of the City of New York, depositary; or from the First National Bank in Dallas and the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Company, St. Louis, Mo., sub-depositaries.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received just before sailing a letter from Hermione Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey puts her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment, as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment. The door is locked, but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says he thought Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, where she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and the maid says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is lying and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid.

Geoffrey again takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He has already put an investigator on the case. When he takes her back to the Bender apartment he takes her in his arms as he says good night. Catherine responds to his kiss. He asks her to marry him, but she wants time to be certain of her feelings. On her way to her room she hears Germaine sobbing and goes to her. She retires hurriedly at Jeanne's return. Next morning Catherine is violently ill and the doctor is called in. On recovering Catherine goes to visit Geoffrey's sister at Fontainebleau.

INSTALLMENT LV.

A PAWN IN A GAME.

Geoffrey crossed the room to Catherine's side and looked down at her attentively without speaking.

Dinner was over, Elspeth was absent saying good-night to the two children, and Clement Baxter, her husband, was rummaging in the studio in search of some etchings he had promised to show. The maid, after clearing the table, had left the four candles in their silver candelabra, and the unshaded points of yellow light flickered on the waxed surfaces of the furniture and made wells of shadow in the corners. The curtains were not yet drawn, and through three, long, square paned windows with arched tops Catherine could see the inclosed garden, fresh and still in the fading twilight.

Catherine gave a deep sigh, and nestled further back into the pale cushioned bergere. It was with a little start that she discovered Geoffrey beside her, holding out his cigaret case.

"Not too tired, I hope?" he inquired in an undertone.

She shook her head, smiling.

"Only blissfully comatose. I don't want to move so much as a finger. It is heavenly just being here."

"You're not sorry you came, then?"

"I'm glad!" For a second there was gratitude in her eyes.

"Coffee, you two?"

"And the drive here wasn't too much for you? It has been a strenuous day for any one just out of bed."

"Never mind. I expect to have ten full hours' sleep tonight. That's what an idiot requires, isn't it?"

She was pale, and, he thought, still weaker than she knew after her attack, but her nerves were beginning to relax, and she looked better than when they had set out in his car that afternoon directly after lunch.

The maid set the coffee, foaming in a copper pot, upon a tripod close to the log fire. The tray, bearing majolica cups of blue, green, and orange, she placed on an oak stool, then she moved away to close the curtains. When her back was turned Geoffrey laid his brown hand lightly upon Catherine's white one where it rested listlessly on the arm of the chair. She let it remain for a second, feeling her own tingle with the warmth of his touch, then as Elspeth's step approached she drew it gently away.

"Coffee, you two?"

Elspeth bent over the hearth and lifted the copper pot. Her bronze head shone in the firelight, her blue frock made a pleasant splash of color. She had the fresh complexion of her brother as, well as his heavy brows, slightly modified, and her gray eyes, honest and candid, held a sparkle of humor.

"Not for me, thanks," replied Catherine. "I've been sleeping rather badly for the first time in my life, and I don't want anything to spoil the marvelous rest I mean to have."

It was delightful to lie here in the candle light, to listen to the conversation without taking an active part in it, and watch drowsily the three people in the glow of the fire—Elspeth cool and steady eyed, Clement Baxter, sandy and thin, sucking an old briar and recounting droll incidents of Paris life in a drawling voice, and Geoffrey at her elbow, his face shadowed but turned, she knew, towards her own with a steadiness which soothed her vanity and made her feel as a cat does when its fur is stroked by a firm hand. Catherine was wrapped in a sense of extraordinary peace.

In the morning she was roused by the twitter of children and the voice of their nurse trying vainly to keep them silent. It was not yet time for her breakfast to arrive, but she was rested and refreshed, all the faculties which last evening had lain dormant now vividly alert.

All at once she began to think over her recent illness and to wonder about it. Exactly a week tomorrow since it had come on. Strange that she had slept peacefully the night before, although it was true she had been wakeful at the beginning. No, nothing had happened till after she had got up. Did that mean the poison from the oysters took all that time to make itself felt, or was it that. . . . O, of course, it couldn't have been the coffee! And yet, there certainly had been a bitter tang about it, which curiously enough had some quality in common with the hot drink she had taken later on. Or was she imagining things?

Then her mind flew back to the questions the young doctor had asked her, his almost accusing manner. He had seemed to have a rooted idea which was hard to get rid of. Was it true that Jeanne had hinted something to him before he came in to her?

But why on earth should she do such a thing? Why should she want him to believe what was not true, that is, unless——

Suddenly it struck her that there was a possible reason. Jeanne might conceivably have taken this attitude if she herself was aware of the real cause of the attack, and was eager to put the doctor off the scent. It sounded wild, but was it altogether out of the range of possibility?

Arrested by this new view of the case, she set herself to recall in detail everything which had occurred on Monday morning from the time she waked. Berthe, she remembered, had been very late, had the look of having hurried into her clothes. At the time she had even wondered that the woman had been up in time to make the coffee. Perhaps, for that matter, Berthe had not made it. It might have been Jeanne.

A shiver ran through her. Yes, the pains had come on a little while after she had drunk the coffee, and had increased in violence following the hot drink Jeanne had given to her. Could all this mean that Jeanne had deliberately introduced something into the two cups of liquid with the purpose of making her ill? Medicine, a drug of some sort. . .

She pondered deeply, feeling her heart beat as it had done so many times since the attack whenever she became a little agitated. Slowly and uneasily a conviction stole upon her that she was a pawn in a game, moved about against her will and made to do things she had had no intention of doing. Was it possible that in coming away she had simply been following out a course of action designed by Jeanne? It was a fact that Girard had advised it, but how did she know that it was not Jeanne who first put it into the man's mind, at the very moment that Geoffrey in all innocence was urging the same thing?

She saw again how the way had been smoothed, her objections removed one by one. Jeanne's good nature and reasonableness, the armistice between her and Hermione—O, surely it was too good to be true! In fact, during the entire week the maid's attitude towards her had been altered, beginning with—when exactly did it begin?—yes, from the time when she had found the papers in Mme. Bender's room.

Catherine became so nervous that it was all she could do to keep from springing out of bed.

The idea came to her that she would feel more comfortable if she could telephone through to Paris and inquire after Mme. Bender, just to see that everything was as it should be. Foolish, perhaps, but there could be no harm in making sure.

She was lucky in not having to wait long for the connection. In only a few minutes the bell summoned her, and picking up the receiver she heard a faint, gentle voice.

"Allo, allo. . . qui est la?"

Catherine started so that she nearly dropped the receiver. The voice which addressed her was Germaine's.

Here Are Two Movies That Fail to Thrill

First of Them Awarded One Star.

"BORN RECKLESS."
[ALTALKER.]

Produced by Fox.
Directed by John Ford.
Presented at the State-Lake theater.

THE CAST:

Louis Beretti	Edmund Lowe
Rosa	Marguerite Churchill
Joan	Catherine Dale Owen
Bill O'Brien	Lee Tracy
"Big Shot"	Warren Hymer
Brophy	William Harrigan
Sheldon	Frank Albertson

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

KIND: Call it anything. There's everything in it.

QUALITY: It gets one star.

ACTING: That's pretty good. Lee Tracy as a reporter and William Harrigan as a policeman do the most convincing work offered by the principals. Several supporting players unmentioned in the cast are fine.

DIRECTION: It ought to be fine—John Ford's an able director—but this time isn't up to snuff.

STORY: Picture's an adaptation from a novel, "Louis Beretti," by Donald Henderson Clarke. Book may have been all right. Picture's a hodgepodge of world war, gangland war, kidnaping, mother love—and what have you. It's full of dramatics and automatics.

PHOTOGRAPHY: Excellent.

AUDIENCE APPEAL—For this audience—none.

"CHILDREN OF PLEASURE."
[ALTALKER.]

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
Directed by Harry Beaumont.
Presented at the Rialto theater.

THE CAST:

Danny Regan	Lawrence Gray
Emma Gray	Wynne Gibson
Pat Thayer	Helen Johnson
Rod Peck	Kenneth Thomson
Bernie	Lee Kohlmar
Fanny Kaye	May Boley
Andy Little	Benny Rubin

This one is about a successful song writer. He is loved by the music publisher's secretary, who is noble and self-sacrificing. She hides her passion beneath a mask of good fellowship, calls herself his "Aunt Emma," talks in a strident voice and overacts maddeningly. He falls for a blonde society girl who is always on the lookout for a new kind of thrill. She is about to marry him, BUT on the wedding eve, our hero overhears her make a few enlightening statements to a gentleman friend. He learns about women from them.

With breaking heart he is very, very dramatic over it all. Enter "Aunt Emma" being the same way.

Saved! [A bit uniquely at that.] This phase is the picture's best bet.]

The story of "Children of Pleasure" is trite. The songs are uninteresting. The comedy is not that and the acting is nothing to brag about. The best work is done by Helen Johnson who, as Pat Thayer, society girl, is charming to gaze upon and displays some talent.

See you tomorrow.

PARISIENNES WEAR TRAILING GOWNS TO LONGCHAMPS RACES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 1.—The first warm, sunshiny, dry Sunday this summer drew all Paris to the Longchamps race track and the Roland Garros stadium for the international tennis championships.

Mannequins and society women revealed indisputably that the long dress is being adopted by every one who can afford it, regardless of the campaign that is going on to perpetuate the short skirt.

Filmy, clinging dresses swirling down to the ground stirred up the dust as their wearers paraded the paddock or walked about between the tennis matches.

Black, as is usual in Paris, predominated, with many sleeveless gowns with which elbow length gloves were invariably worn.

The brimless hats are sliced away still further, baring the brows, while the hair is stretched back tightly to make the forehead as high as possible.

Racial Prejudices Attacked in Sermon Preached to Baptists

Cleveland, O., June 1.—(AP)—Abolition of race prejudice, greater unity among Christian faiths, the Christianization of industry and outlawing of war were urged today by Dr. A. Ray Petty, pastor of First Baptist church, Kansas City, Mo., in a sermon to the northern Baptist convention.

"The world still is penetrated with the age old hatreds of race," Dr. Petty said. "The fallacy of a chosen people still inheres in much of our modern nationalism. The protagonists of Nordic superiority raise their voices in behalf of a super-Nordic humanity. We still draw our color lines.

"We may continue to hold ourselves aloof, but we are holding ourselves away from our brothers, away from Christ."

The convention has gone on record as opposed to any closer coöperation with the Disciples of Christ church looking toward eventual union of the denominations.

Declaring that Jesus taught that personality "must never be used as a means to the furtherance of any ends," Dr. Petty said that evidences of unequal division of the results of industry make it obvious that "Jesus and his teachings are being overlooked or denied."

"Love must throb in our productive machinery," he said. "Then the wealth produced will be shared with more equality among all who have labored in its production."

Claude G. Bowers Talks to Notre Dame Class of 1930

South Bend, Ind., June 1.—Claude G. Bowers, delivering the commencement address for 439 seniors at the University of Notre Dame, decried today the breaking down of traditions, weakening of fixed principles, and decadence of social traditions. He blamed the present high speed civilization.

Frank E. Hering of South Bend was elected president of the alumni association. James E. Armstrong, also of South Bend, was reëlected secretary, and Walter Duncan of La Salle, Ill., treasurer. The directors named were M. Harry Miller of Cleveland, O., and George Maypole, Chicago.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Do you like to try out new recipes?

The Answers.

Mrs. J. S. McChesney, 1100 North Dearborn street, housewife — Certainly. I have been living in an apartment hotel, but we recently moved. I will now be able to cook, and expect to enjoy it, trying of new recipes.

Mrs. C. O. Stephenson, 202 East Indiana avenue, South Bend, Ind., housewife —I only like to cook when there are lots of nice things to cook with; not one article must be lacking. Then I like to experiement. There's real satisfaction in turning out something new, that's also good.

Miss Minerva Edmett, Glen Ellyn, Ill., stenographer — I get a kick out of trying new dishes when I have company. They enjoy novelties, and I usually have good luck. If my friends like the recipe I like to pass it on to them.

Miss Josephine Gillio, 8038 South Princeton avenue, telephone operator — It's lots of fun to work out new recipes. Mother is as interested in them as I am, but things that appeal to her seldom interest me, and vice versa. So we both turn out something different. I think our average of successes is about even.

Mrs. W. J. Blackburn, 1946 Estes avenue, nurse — I would like to do more experimenting with new recipes if I had more time. Women's interest in those things is proved by the number of magazines largely devoted to cookery.

Dr. Friscon has been acting head of the survey since the death last winter of Dr. Stephen Alfred Forbes.

Cardinal Mundelein Blesses Boy Scouts, Lauds Organization

The blessing of the Roman Catholic church was given to thousands of Boy Scouts yesterday afternoon at Holy Name cathedral, Superior and North State streets, by Cardinal Mundelein. The service that followed a long and colorful parade of the various scouting organizations constituted the formal inaugural of Catholic scouting in the archdiocese of Chicago.

High tribute was paid to Scouting by Cardinal Mundelein as he addressed the boys and their leaders in the cathedral service. He declared that the crowded city of Chicago needed Scout work to help lead the boys into a deeper sense of social values as well as greater regard for personal responsibility.

"Boy Scouting takes boys out of the dark corners of the city, out of the influence of the gangster and street loafer, and brings him into the sunshine, where he learns how to become a law abiding citizen," Cardinal Mundelein said. "Those who first learn to serve and obey are those who are bound to become the leaders of men—the kind of men the great crowded city of Chicago needs."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas P. Bona administered the pledge of allegiance to the nation's flag, and the Very Rev. Msgr. Daniel Byrnes led the Scouts in the rehearsal of the Scout's oath.

Art Institute Students to Give Dance Friday

Something of the Latin Quarter spirit will be rife in Chicago on Friday evening, for the Student council of the Art Institute will give the annual Mardi Gras ball at the Drake hotel. The hours will be 9 to 3. The usual pageant, which has required a great deal of student time for rehearsals, has been abandoned this year in favor of a costume dance, involving no rehearsals at all. Thus the students remind themselves that art is long and time is fleeting. Among those who are promoting the dance is Mary Anderson.

MARY ANDERSON.

Miss Anderson is one of the candidates for queen of the Mardi Gras. The costumes preferred at the dance will be modern Parisian modes. Among members of the student council are: J. E. Burk, Lila Ulrich, Donald Beck, and Marian Harding.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

MARRIAGE, DIVORCE TO BE DEBATED TODAY BY PRESBYTERIANS

Cincinnati, O., June 1.—(AP)—The 142d general assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., will have its first opportunity for debate tomorrow. Then the commission on marriage, divorce and remarriage submits its report. The Philadelphia Presbytery has protested against that report as being too frank a discussion of personal problems.

One of the report's suggestions is that the church has been too silent about conditions surrounding marriage, divorce, and the home.

"It is possible," the report said, "for the pastor first to furnish himself and then to form classes in which he may give young people of proper age the ideals and facts of marriage, talks on sex life, and present the Christian morality at every step as it may appear in the discussions."

One section of the report over which there promises to be protracted debate recommends that the Presbyterian confession of faith be amended so as to strike out the words which specifically denounce marriage with Catholics and unbelievers.

The Philadelphia Presbytery has filed a protest with the assembly against this recommendation, claiming that the proposed change would tend to increase such marriages.

If the commission's proposal is adopted, the confessions of faith in the section relating to marriage would read: "It is lawful for all sorts of people to marry who are able with judgment to give their consent; yet it is the duty of Christians to marry only in the Lord." The remainder of that chapter of the confession specifically names Catholics and unbelievers.

"The church faces a double function in marriage," the report said. "Through her ministry she acts for herself and the state. As an officer of the church the minister has the moral and religious values of men at heart; as an officer of the commonwealth he is a mere functionary without the privileges of these larger interests unless he deliberately creates them.

"The present status of the ministry is unsatisfactory. Perhaps at some future time recommendations may come in favoring two ceremonies—one a civil and the other a religious ceremony. The latter would be purely optional, but it will represent the positive conviction of the couple seeking marriage. This will save the church much embarrassment and prevent the inconsistency of the position felt very keenly at present by large groups of conscientious ministers."

Duchess of Atholl Lands to Get Columbia Degree

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—The duchess of Atholl, member of parliament and wife of one of the wealthiest and the most powerful of the Scottish chieftains, arrived today in the Cunarder Caronia.

She declared her belief that the only remedy for the serious unemployment situation in Great Britain is a high protective tariff.

She said the only object of her visit to America is to take an honorary degree of doctor of laws at Columbia university. She will return to England next Friday because of parliamentary business. The duchess will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler while here.

A recent picture caption designated Olin R. Holt, Kokomo attorney, recently convicted of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, as "an Indiana dry leader." The Kokomo Ministerial association, backed by a church massmeeting, protests that Holt "never has been a dry leader in this community." When Holt ran on the Democratic primary ticket for the United States senate in 1928, it was commonly reported and published that he had the endorsement of E. S. Baby Health Is Gaining Yearly in This State Improves 41% Since 1918, Report Declares.

Since 1918 babyhood has been becoming constantly and substantially safer in Illinois, according to statistics given out yesterday in a bulletin of the state department of health. These figures show that the number of deaths per thousand births among babies less than a year old has dropped from 105.7 in 1918 to 61.5 in 1929, a decline of 41 per cent in the state.

During the last year 7,907 babies less than one year of age died in Illinois, while in 1918 the number was 13,109. During the intervening period the lowest number of infant deaths reported in any year was 8,333, the number for 1928. The average for the period was 10,025. Last year the number of infant deaths fell 2,118 below the average for the years since 1918.

Better sanitary supervision over milk supplies and the extension of milk pasteurization have been important factors in the declining infant mortality rate, the bulletin states. Also the immunization of babies against diphtheria has saved many lives.

"More babies are born in hospitals than formerly, and improved facilities of medical practice are employed on a wider scale than ever before," the bulletin reads. "The practice of taking babies to welfare stations where weight records are observed regularly, and the practice of seeking medical advice before babies grow seriously ill, are important factors in the declining death rate.

"If the next ten years bring an equal degree of improvement in infant mortality in Illinois the matter of being born and surviving the first twelve months will have ceased to be the hazardous undertaking that it has been. Already the loss of infant life has dropped from more than 10 per cent in 1918 to a trifle over 6 per cent in 1929."

Tests performed at the three diagnostic laboratories of the state department are analyzed in the bulletin to show that environment is a great factor in health problems. The three laboratories are located at Chicago, Springfield, and Carbondale.

Typhoid fever, it was found, in the area served by the Carbondale laboratory is four times more prevalent than in the central section and eight times more prevalent than in the area served by the Chicago laboratory. Diphtheria prevalence, however, is three times greater in the Chicago laboratory district than in the Carbondale territory.

Son Lays Corner Stone of Byrne Memorial Library

Mobile, Ala., June 1.—[Special.]—The corner stone of Memorial library, named for the late Thomas Byrne, contractor of Chicago, was laid here today at Springhill college. The presentation of the library was made by Paul Byrne of Chicago in behalf of his mother, Mrs. Nora Byrne, who gave it in memory of her husband. Mr. Byrne asked that the library be a living memorial testifying to the love of his mother and himself for the alma mater. Rt. Rev. J. M. Walsh, S. J., president of the college, accepted the library. Mrs. Byrne and a number of Chicago friends attended the ceremony.

LONDON ACCLAIMS ORCHESTRA FROM NEW YORK CITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 1.—Sig. Arturo Toscanini and his New York Philharmonic-Symphony society scored another European triumph this afternoon. It was given an ovation by a brilliant audience which filled Royal Albert hall.

King George and Queen Mary, with the duke of Connaught, occupied the royal box. Leaders of London's society, diplomatic and political world were in the audience as were writers, musicians and artists.

The four day engagement in London completes a successful tour through Europe. Despite the fact that the house has been sold out for every concert, it is estimated that the orchestra's deficit will be in the neighborhood of $300,000.

Public School Art Society Stages Exhibit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

In the children's museum at the Art institute there is a most interesting and stimulating exhibition. A number of splendid color reproductions such as are hung in the public schools through the efforts of the Chicago Public School Art society have been installed and it is a liberal education in the best of modern art to look at them. There are several colorful and vigorous Van Goghs, four examples of Renoir, two of Monet, and two of Cezanne, a Gauguin and then, not belonging to the one classification, reproductions of great paintings by Whistler, Michelangelo, Holbein, Van Dyck, and Durer.

The few words that come directly from the Chicago Public School Art society carry their own weight. They run that the aim and ideal of the organization is to place in the public schools of Chicago fundamentally good pictures of all types to form a basis for esthetic appreciation and general education in the arts. The ideal is a fine one and the society approaches its fulfillment.

The society has been in existence for thirty-six years. It has placed pictures in many schools and has learned that children like good pictures better than poor ones, but will accept the poor ones with pleasure, if nothing else is offered. The society, therefore, is as much concerned with keeping the wrong pictures out of the schools as with putting the right pictures into them.

The exhibition is typical of the best reproductions which the society has been able to secure. A good reproduction is infinitely finer than a mediocre original. Infrequently we can combine the original painting with an excellent piece of work. The Municipal Art league contributes a number of worth while original paintings by Chicago artists to the public school. Through prize awards the Chicago artists' exhibition each spring in the Art institute yields one or more pictures whose final destination is the schools.

One can cover a broader field however through reproductions and one can supply more children with pictures of worth. The current exhibition is marvelous in its revelation of what can be given. Many of the pictures one craves for one's own children. All of them are excellent as stimulants to the imagination and as satisfactions to the eye. From kindergarten through high school the pictures vary in their appeal, but the society has been wise in its choice and their collection is superb.

Winners of five scholarships with a total value of $6,250 were announced yesterday by the Chicago Art institute. The prizes and their winners follow: Edward L. Ryerson traveling fellowship of $1,500, Wallace Purcell, sculptor; Anna Louise Raymond fellowship, $1,500, Merlin Pollock, painter; Bryan Lathrop scholarship, $1,500, Raymond Ostranga, painter; John Quincy Adams scholarship, $1,500, James McDonald Prendergast; American traveling scholarship, $250, Ralph Henricksen.

Rents Summer Home.

Mrs. Harry H. Shearson of the Ambassador has leased the Robert S. Hotz house on Vine avenue in Lake Forest for the summer season.

What Price a Pretty Face if the Mouth Looks Hard as Nails?

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You cannot do much about the color of your eyes, nor about the size of your bones, nor the shape of your nose. But what you can do about that mouth of yours is jes' nothing short of marvelous. Outside and inside you can make the mouth the proverbial thing of beauty and a joy for everybody.

It's the outside of it, however, we are concerned with today. Apropos, a face arrested my attention as I sat waiting in the lobby of a lunching place the other day. A young girl wore it. A great deal of money obviously was spent preparing the miss for public appearance. From good looking shoes to Agnés chapeau, she was a well turned out creature.

Seating herself in one of the deep upholstered chairs, she pulled out a diamond monogrammed vanity and went through the usual nose, chin, cheek and lip dabbing, which immediately precedes all good luncheon meetings.

She should have been a knockout. But that mouth! Grim and terrible. It suggested the handbag might be concealing a pearlhandled weapon that somebody was going to make an early acquaintance with.

If you observe mouths from bus seats or from any old seat, for that matter, you cannot help but be impressed with the unhappy trend of the American female's lips. For a land of plenty, they certainly do not look the part of sweet content. Nothing near it. The girl referred to seemed to have all woman's grievances melted on her lips in one resentful line.

Perhaps she did have a grievance. Maybe her Daddy wouldn't give her the Spiano town car her little heart desired. It was that kind of a mouth—one that had the hard set droop of some pleasure denial.

Now, why let a good mouth go that way? Suppose the girl did want a swelelegant motor, or a season on the Riviera or a Newport bungalow or whatever girls with diamond monogrammed vanities do want — that mouth would stand in the way of her getting it. Did she let it curl up a bit at the ends—with a figure like that and clothes like that I'd wager she could get anything her expensive little heart desired. "I-want-things-and-I'm-going-to-have-them" mouth expression, I calls it. An expression maybe we'd all better be on the lookout for.

Chicago Theological Seminary Celebrates Its 75th Anniversary

Seventy-fifth anniversary exercises lasting four days began last night at the Chicago Theological seminary when the Rev. Dr. Rhonnda Williams, former moderator of the Congregational Church of England, preached the baccalaureate sermon before the 1930 graduates. The baccalaureate services were held in the west garth of the seminary.

The sessions, continuing until Wednesday night, will be coincident with the 25th triennial convention of the midwest province of the Congregational church. Five hundred clergymen and leaders from many central west states have registered. On Wednesday night 2,000 persons will attend the ceremonies of installing Dr. Albert W. Palmer as president of the seminary to succeed Dr. Ozora Davis. Dr. Davis has been president of the seminary twenty years and will become president emeritus.

Food Talk.

There was never a job of more far reaching influence than that of feeding the family. Food, without doubt, is the most important factor in our lives. It controls the destiny of individuals and nations. A child supplied an adequate diet waxes strong. One that must subsist on a poor diet grows weak. The strong resist disease and [illegible], but the weak succumb to them. So it is with nations.

Gathering a healthy, hungry family around the table three times a day and maintaining this vigorous condition throughout life is an achievement. It is a business with great opportunities and it pays big dividends. [illegible] imagination, skill, and individuality must be used.

Why shouldn't any woman become enthusiastic about so vital a profession? A kitchen is a woman's workshop. Its output is for health and abundant, joyful living. The scientist in his laboratory is working toward the same end. So is the artist in his [illegible].

All the interesting chemical reactions and physical changes do not happen in test tubes and flasks. Just as fascinating and important ones take place in sauce pans and mixing bowls. The opportunity for the expression of one's artistic bent does not always lie in the field of music, sculpture, or designing. The making of an attractive salad or a tender, crisp pie crust requires talent and technique; so does the painting of a beautiful picture, or the rendition of a concerto. The only difference is in the effect produced.

One aim of this food page will be to help you plan your three meals and supply you with good recipes. In planning our menus we will be guided by variety, economy, and by the time necessary for the preparation of the particular foods. Then, too, we will give seasonable menus, and always consider the availability of ingredients. Above all, we will keep in mind the adequate diet, one that is good from the nutrition point of view.

We will publish recipes which give good results in our kitchen. Some of these recipes will be our own, others will be our readers'. One feature of these recipes especially useful to young housewives is that the yield will be given. The food value of one serving will be of interest to those who count their calories or to students of dietetics.

We have another aim. We want to interest you in food and its preparations so much that you can have a joyful time in your kitchen. Let our column be a daily guide to you in the preparation and the service of food.

Are you one of those women who keep a scrapbook or file of material that you can use to advantage some time later? If you are you should find a file of our food column a tremendous help in many situations. Do you have troubles in cooking? Perhaps I can help you. Here I am, starting on a brand new job. Every day I hope to see my desk piled high with inquiries about your food problems.

RECIPES.

PLAIN MUFFINS.

- 2 cups bread flour.
- 4 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
- 2 tablespoonfuls sugar.
- ½ teaspoonful salt.
- 1 egg.
- 1 cup milk.
- 2 tablespoonfuls fat.

Sift flour, then measure. Resift with other dry ingredients into mixing bowl. Beat egg until light and foamy and add milk and melted fat. Stir liquid quickly into dry ingredients in 18 to 20 seconds. If speed is used in this stirring, it will be possible to moisten all the flour and give 4 or 5 extra stirs in the 20 seconds and a fine textured muffin will result. Time and speed of stirring are most important.

Pour batter instantly into tins. Bake in a hot oven [425 F.]. Batters made with alum baking powders [look on the can] should stand a while before putting into oven. Depending on the size of muffins, baking requires from 15 to 25 minutes. Compact and ill shaped muffins result from too much stirring.

Yield: Twelve medium sized muffins. One muffin: Total, 113 calories: protein, 13 calories; fat, 31 calories; carbohydrates, 69 calories.

CHICKEN SALAD.

- 1 cup diced chicken.
- 1¼ cups sliced celery.
- 1-3 cup coarsely chopped nuts.
- ⅝ cup cooked or mayonnaise dressing.

Combine ingredients in order given, mixing lightly. This may be served as a sandwich filling or on a lettuce leaf as a salad.

Yield: Four servings. One serving: Total, 152 calories—protein, 46 calories; fat, 81 calories; carbohydrates, 25 calories.

PINEAPPLE CUP CAKES.

- 1½ cups pastry flour.
- 2 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
- ¼ teaspoonful salt.
- ¾ cup sugar.
- 1 egg.
- ¼ cup milk diluted with
- ¼ cup pineapple juice.
- ¼ cup soft butter.

Sift flour, then measure. Resift with the other dry ingredients twice. Beat egg. Add diluted milk and butter. Pour into a "well" that has been made in the middle of the dry ingredients. Fold dry ingredients into the liquid until partially mixed. Then beat one minute. Pour into oiled muffin tins and bake in a moderate oven [375 F.] 10 to 25 minutes. Frost with uncooked icing.

Yield: Six cup cakes. One serving: Total 306 calories—protein, 18 calories; fat, 87 calories; carbohydrates, 201 calories.

FRESH STRAWBERRY TARTS.

- 1 quart strawberries.
- ¾ cup sugar.
- 2 tablespoonfuls corn starch.
- 2 tablespoonfuls sugar.
- Pinch salt.
- 3 egg yolks.
- 2 cups milk.
- 1 tablespoonful vanilla.
- 6 baked tart shells.
- 1 teaspoonful gelatin.
- 2 tablespoonfuls cold water.

Select sound, well ripened berries. Wash, then hull. Add sugar and let stand one hour in the refrigerator. Mix corn starch, sugar, and salt thoroughly. Combine well with the beaten yolks. Add the milk, stirring vigorously to blend. Cook in the top of a double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened. About 15 minutes' cooking is necessary. Remove from the fire and add vanilla. This custard should be very smooth and delicate.

Cool, then pour into baked tart shells until about one-third full. Arrange berries over top of custard, about one-third the berries should be left. Crush remaining berries and add 1 tablespoonful lemon juice. Soften the gelatin in cold water, then melt over hot water, add to crushed berries. Put a tablespoonful of the berry-gelatin mixture over the top of each tart.

Yield: Six servings. One serving: Total, 381 calories—protein, 30 calories; fat, 125 calories; carbohydrates, 226 calories.

Threatening Little Children with Bogeys Is Inhumanly Cruel

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The following booklets by Mrs. Bevans will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope: "Books to Be Read to Children or by Them," "Sex Education Booklet," and "Play Booklet." A book on the care of babies by Carolyn Conant Van Blarcom can be had at The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 65 cents.

"Surely," writes one mother, "I thought to myself when your articles began to appear: 'She'll run out of ideas in six months.' I had no notion there was so much to be said on the subject of rearing children."

There is indeed so much to be said that I find myself making one serious mistake, which is to refrain from repeating a subject. The following letter—omitting the appreciation which is a source of constant inspiration to me—brought me up short:

"Please write again and yet again on the futility and actual harm of threatening tiny babies with dire punishments. I overheard my next door neighbor admonishing her adorable 2 year old boy to 'be good' or the 'Green Man' [whoever he may be—he was a new one to me] would get him. I wanted to weep."

Here is a subject I have written on once or perhaps twice, but which for the sake of new readers of the paper I should write on again and again. And there are many subjects that could bear constant repetition. A new leaf is forthwith turned over—swish!

It is enough to make one weep to hear the threats that small children have held over them. It may sound extreme to say it, but it seems when one overhears them and sees the hard, angry look that goes with the threats, as if mothers or fathers who do such things are unfit to have children. They know so little of the activity and intelligent curiosity of little children that they label it "bad," and when it annoys them they try to crush it by arousing fear.

I'd rather see a mother give her child a hard spanking than create for the unwitting little offender a world of sinister beings, of which he lives in unspoken terror.

Widows Who Rewed Can Give Valuable Advice on Marriage

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Learn about marriage from widows—real widows—who marry a second time.

We are indebted to Interested Reader for the suggestion. Of course, it is the woman who sticks to her marriage role with one man until death parts them, and makes a success of a second venture, from whom one can learn.

"Tell me," Interested Reader asks, "why is it that widows marrying a second time seldom get a divorce? They seem to make a success of that big job called marriage, all right. Is it, perhaps, because they have learned in their first marriage that it is hopeless to try to make a man over and so in the second marriage they just leave him as is and make the most of life and what they have?"

Interested Reader spent an evening recently with two young married people, their first adventure in each case. The wife corrected her husband and contradicted him a dozen times during the evening. She fussed because he smoked too much; because he drove the car too fast; because he wouldn't eat salad, and so forth. All through the evening it was fussing about something.

Then an evening was spent with a former widow and her second husband. And what a difference! She praised instead of censored. She didn't relate her husband's peculiarities for her guests' entertainment. And, more to the widow's credit in man handling, she took this most eligible man right out from under the noses of several unmarried women [Interested Reader included] and Interested Reader's tribute to her successful rival is: "I can jolly well see where she is going to keep him from now on."

Yes, it is from one who knows her marriage and men that the rest of womankind may learn. Comparisons between good husband handling and poor are not odious. They're valuable, extremely so. The trouble with marriage is that judgment is too often made after an evening with warring couples. Widows or other women who have learned the human art of letting a man be an individual, a slightly exalted individual, are the kind of press agents that marriage, at the moment, could use many more of. They prove what a truly agreeable state the maligned institution may be.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Gambling is no longer a proper term to apply as aptly as it might have been 10 years ago to the turkey raising in the United States. Increasing knowledge of parasitic diseases and their control has put the industry on a more stable basis and is continuing to strengthen the probable returns to growers from year to year without having flocks wiped out by blackhead and other diseases.

More than 3,500,000 turkeys can be found on farms in this country and they constitute about one and one-half per cent of all poultry, says A. R. Lee, poultry husbandman of the United States department of agriculture. He estimates the increase in market turkeys in 1929 was nine per cent over 1928.

The United States has established a foundation flock of the gobblers at a range experiment station near Miles City, Mont. In the first season last year 500 birds were raised and 300 of these now form the breeding flocks this spring. Artificial brooding, it also has been found, has reduced the loss in raising, especially from blackhead which exacts heavy toll through soil transmission and from lack of clean ground and range.

Printed Accessories Match Summer Frocks

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—In spite of pessimistic prophecies to the contrary, prints are going as strong as ever this summer. And it is a matter for feminine rejoicing, for there is nothing more becoming or more summery looking than a pretty print, whether it's in crêpe, satin, or one of the more diaphanous materials.

Paris, at the moment, is quite keen on accessory ensembles. Your dress and coat may contrast, but your accessories just simply have to go together. Patou made popular the vogue for bags in the same material as the costume, but when that is transparent printed chiffon it is not practical, so thoughtful textile creators have designed "fabric ensembles" printed with the identical pattern, but on different surfaces.

A charming printed ensemble for the summer afternoon is shown in our drawing. The frock of flower printed mousseline in bright red and white is from Lucile, Ltd. Its double tiered skirt, short sleeves, and double tiered jabot-plastron are all done in fine plaits, left unpressed at their edges so that they spray into cunning little ruffles. A peplum shaped hip yoke holds the skirt snug at the top. A red satin belt fastens under the jabot in front. M. Rossi makes a short kimono jacket in red and white satin printed to match the frock, with a draped collar and reduced bishop sleeves.

Moulin has created a smart bag and parasol of the red and white satin to complete the ensemble. He lacquers wood in red and white flowers to match the material for the handle and tip of the tiny parasol, which is trimmed around the edge with incrusted stripes of red and white silk, and for the beads which fasten the silk tassels finishing its braided silk bracelet. The bag is shaped like a flat envelope and has a braided silk cord which may be attached as a handle or wound around it.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscripts returned.

In His New Suit.

I had just purchased a light gray suit and, quite pleased with my appearance, I went to call on my sweetie one Sunday. Her father, a rich old farmer, worked as hard on Sunday as on a week day, so when I arrived he asked me to help him in the barnyard, where he was driving hogs into separate pens.

While I was trying to do my best and win his approval, an old sow ran towards me. I tried to stop her, but I slipped and sat down in that muddy pen. My suit was ruined, but worst of all, my girl saw me and they all laughed so much that I went home angry and never called again. J. K.

Generous with Applause.

I was watching an exciting game late in the baseball season. At a critical point in the game a player on the home team hit a home run. In the excitement of the moment, I picked up my straw hat and threw it out on the field amid hundreds of others. After the excitement had subsided I noticed the man sitting next to me looking at me queerly.

He said, "That was my hat you threw."

Then I realized that I had come to the ball park without a hat. Luckily, the man had a good sense of humor and laughed it off. I felt foolish through the rest of the game. R. N.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Rita Mae, aged 6, said to me: "Mother, how old will I be three years from now?"

I said: "You will be 9 years old." To which she replied: "My, how time flies!" L. S.

A few days ago 4 year old Julia Ann, who is developing a keen interest in baseball via the radio, begged to remain in the house when mother was entertaining at bridge. Finally mother said, "You may if you will sit quietly and ask no questions."

Everything went well until mother made a grand slam. In an instant Julia Ann was off the chair jumping up and down and exclaimed, "Hot ziggity! Mamma made a home run!" MRS. L. K.
